CITY FOUNDERY AND MACHINE WORKS, INDIANAPOLIS, INDIANA, FOR SALE.

BY the death of one partner, the firm of Tindall, Morrison, & Co., (proprietors of the City Foundery Works,) is dissolved. In consequence of which the undersigned owner of the whole, offers the establishment for sale. The buildings are large and well arranged for a heavy business. In the Machine Shop are eleven "Engine Lathes," from twenty-four feet down to ten feet in length, from eighteen up to forty-two inches diameter. Four iron "Planing Machines," one of which planes twenty feet long, one ten, one five, and one—a "Shaping Machine"—planes one foot. A large and very expensive "Boring Machine," which will bore and turn from one inch to ten feet diameter. Two upright "Drilling Machines," "A Gear Cutter," a "Screw Cutting Machine," with a large assortment of Benches, and small tools. This Machinery is said to be the best in the State.

The foundery is large and well supplied with "Flasks," "trams," &c. Also, "cubic" and other apparatus for casting Railroad Car Wheels. The stock of patterns is large, most of which is new. There are patterns for Flouring Mills, Saw, Shingle, and Circular Saw Mills. The Engine Patterns are of the latest and most approved pattern, and have all been made new within eighteen months. They were designed and made by the Superintendent, Mr. Greenleaf. The Blacksmith Shop is well supplied with Tools, frames, &c. The fires are blown by a fan. The Pattern Shop is furnished with all tools needed. All the Machinery is driven by a No. 1 Engine of ample power. The reputation of the establishment for the past year has caused a full share of business, and is known throughout the West. The location is good. Supplies of iron, coal, &c., are abundant, and can be had at reasonable rates. The year, at cheap rates, with no difficulty in procuring hands. The price of the establishment will be low, and the terms easy. Full particulars given by addressing as above, Louisville Daily Journal copy one month and send bill to Tindall, Greenleaf, & Co.

HEALTH AND LONG LIFE FOR ALL.

Dr. Roback's Scandanavian Remedies.

AT last the grand object of Medical Science is attained—Dr. Roback's Scandanavian Remedies actually perform what thousands have promised, but never performed. They purify from the blood the corrupt particles which generate and feed disease, and by this means the vital principle of the body is invigorated, and it that field is pure the whole organism must be healthy, vigorous, hardy, and healthful. Hence in the preparation and administering of the greatness of his famous Scandinavian Remedies, Dr. Roback's great object was to produce a medicine which should disinfect the blood in all cases. He succeeded, and the consequence is that the operation of his Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills, upon almost every description of disease, is like that of a water upon the devouring element. Hitherto the establishment of a reputation sufficiently durable to enable the proprietor to place his name in the hands of the public has been a matter of difficulty from obstacles which have prevented the medicines from reaching the public, and from the fact that the medicines have been compounded from eighteen up to forty-two fluids diameter. Four iron "Planing Machines," one which planes twenty feet long, one ten, one five, and one—a "Shaping Machine"—planes one foot. A large and very expensive "Boring Machine," which will bore and turn from one inch to ten feet diameter. Two upright "Drilling Machines," "A Gear Cutter," a "Screw Cutting Machine," with a large assortment of Benches, and small tools. This Machinery is said to be the best in the State.

The foundery is large and well supplied with "Flasks," "trams," &c. Also, "cubic" and other apparatus for casting Railroad Car Wheels. The stock of patterns is large, most of which is new. There are patterns for Flouring Mills, Saw, Shingle, and Circular Saw Mills. The Engine Patterns are of the latest and most approved pattern, and have all been made new within eighteen months. They were designed and made by the Superintendent, Mr. Greenleaf. The Blacksmith Shop is well supplied with Tools, frames, &c. The fires are blown by a fan. The Pattern Shop is furnished with all tools needed. All the Machinery is driven by a No. 1 Engine of ample power. The reputation of the establishment for the past year has caused a full share of business, and is known throughout the West. The location is good. Supplies of iron, coal, &c., are abundant, and can be had at reasonable rates. The year, at cheap rates, with no difficulty in procuring hands. The price of the establishment will be low, and the terms easy. Full particulars given by addressing as above, Louisville Daily Journal copy one month and send bill to Tindall, Greenleaf, & Co.

LOUISVILLE.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 13, 1857.

☞ The Daily Journal has much the largest circulation in the city and double the circulation in the country of any other daily paper printed in Louisville; and the Weekly Journal has much more than double the circulation of all the other papers in Louisville put together.

☞ The Richmond Enquirer, speaking of Mr. Buchanan's very extraordinary Pacific Railroad letter written just before the election, says:

"The Pacific Railroad letter, though in direct contradiction to the principles of the State Rights Democracy of the South, was treated with the utmost delicacy and reserve, especially by the Richmond Enquirer.

The Enquirer is always professing a determination to devote its whole energies and if necessary even life itself to the maintenance of the principles of the State Rights Democracy of the South, and yet we see that it actually makes a parade of having treated with especial delicacy and reserve a letter of Mr. Buchanan which is not only, according to the Enquirer, in direct contradiction to these principles, but was put forth under the most sneaking of all conceivable circumstances. If Mr. Buchanan had written his letter long enough before the election to let it meet the eyes of the whole people of the United States prior to their being called on to cast their votes, we might have supposed that he intended to practice fair dealing. For months before the election, he referred those who interrogated him in relation to his opinions to the Cincinnati platform, saying to them that it was the only answer he could have to make to any political question; but, when he knew that he could send a letter to California in favor of the construction of the Pacific Road as a National work just in time to be circulated throughout that State without there being any danger of its coming back to the other States before the 4th of November, he resorted to that most disreputable and dishonest expedient. Still the Richmond Enquirer, as we have seen, while declaring the California letter to be in direct contradiction to the principles of the State Rights Democracy of the South, is especially careful to boast of having treated it with the utmost delicacy and reserve; and perhaps from the people of the South will be likely to know hereafter how much the editor of the Richmond Enquirer means when he talks, according to his custom, about his undying devotion to the principles of the States Rights Democracy of the South.

By far the greater part, nine-tenths indeed, of all the Southern Democratic papers that always have arrayed themselves strongly against internal improvements by the General Government, were even more cowardly in their treatment of Mr. Buchanan's letter than the Richmond Enquirer was. Nine-tenths of them, in fact, have never to this day published the letter or even informed their readers that their President elect ever wrote such a one. Nine-tenths of all the Sag Nicht readers, who read nothing but Sag Nicht newspapers, are as ignorant of the letter in question as if its conception had forever remained imprisoned in the brain of its author. A very few of the Southern Democratic organs have, it is true, reiterated since the election their ceaseless opposition to internal improvements by the General Government and especially to the construction of the Pacific Railroad by the Government, and have stated their arguments upon the subject, but even they, the cowardly things, have not ventured to point their arguments directly against Mr. Buchanan's letter or even to inform their readers that they had that letter in mind. We cannot attempt to decide which exhibited the greater and paltrier cowardice, Mr. Buchanan in writing his letter at the time and under the circumstances he did, or the mass of his Southern organs in not daring to speak out upon the subject even after the election.

In all the South, there were two or three or four Democratic organs that did dare to speak out and to do it boldly. One of these was the Charleston Standard. As the electoral colleges had not met, that paper even raised the question whether Mr. Buchanan's disgraceful act of writing the letter would not justify the Presidential electors in turning away from him and electing some one else to the Presidency. Though that paper had supported him warmly throughout the canvass, it made such a suggestion and said:

We would hesitate to counsel a course so revolutionary as that of withholding from Mr. Buchanan the electoral votes, but it is a subject worthy of serious consideration, whether we should yet go on and inaugurate a President, one of the very first measures of whose administration will be that which of all others will be most to the hand of the Federalists, namely, consolidation is the end they aim at, and no measure, not even the admission of Kansas as a free State, will tend so directly to such a consummation.

No doubt the refusal of the electors, on account of Mr. Buchanan's letter, to cast the votes of the States for him would have been revolutionary and fearfully mischievous, but yet his conduct, whatever may be men's opinions as to the justness or unjustness of the views expressed in his letter, deserves the deepest and most indignant condemnation of all true men. This one act of his in departing from his uniform promises and protestations and pledges throughout the canvass in order to get a letter before the people of a single and a distant State at just such a period of time that the rest of the nation should not have a chance to see it till after the election is enough, a thousand times enough, to stamp him as a dishonest and corrupt politician capable of practicing any degree, however fraudulent, to subserve his purposes.

Mr. Buchanan said by of excuse, in his California letter, that the policy of constructing the Pacific railroad with Government means was a part of the Cincinnati Platform. It was not a part of that platform, and we do not believe that any of the Locofoco papers, fiercely as they may be bent upon the spoils, will pretend that it was. Mr. Buchanan's allegation that it was in the platform was a deliberate deception and fraud, and none of his admirers can make anything less of it. These things cannot be remedied now, but we may at least say that the people of the United States have a miserable prospect for an honest administration of the Government by the author of the Pacific railroad letter.

A NEW WAY TO BUILD A RAILROAD—A GOOD PROPOSITION.—Kentucky is far behind her neighbors in regard to railroads. Her citizens have not yet learned to appreciate their great benefits, and whenever a company has been chartered for the construction of a railroad in our State, it has in too many instances been left to depend entirely upon corporate or county subscriptions, aided perhaps by subscriptions on the part of a few wealthy individuals who have surplus capital to invest. There are none who will be so much benefited by the construction of railroads as the farmers living adjacent to them. By the reduction of the cost of transportation for the produce of their farms, thousands of dollars will be added to the profits of the producers. One of the farmers in central Kentucky, living upon the line of the Danville and Lexington road, suggests a way in which these small farmers may aid in the construction of the roads by which they will ultimately be so greatly benefited. He proposes to subscribe a certain sum for each acre in the amount of the proceeds of one-fourth of his wheat crop every year until his subscription shall reach $500. When the road is finished his wheat will net to him fifteen or twenty cents per bushel more than it does at present, and thus perhaps the increased profits on a single crop after the completion of the road will repay to him the whole amount expended in stock, and his annual profit thereafter will be vastly increased.

If all the farmers living in the vicinity of the Louisville and Nashville railroad will act upon this suggestion, setting apart every year a portion of the proceeds of their crops of wheat or corn or tobacco, or whatever they raise particularly for a market, and investing it in stock of the railroad, or if they will cultivate a little larger crop than usual and devote the proceeds of the extra crop to this purpose, the assistance thus given to the enterprise will be very great and will contribute very largely to the speedy completion of the work. There are hundreds of farmers between Louisville and Bowling Green and along the line of the Memphis branch in Kentucky and Tennessee who can thus insure the speedy completion of these roads with but little inconvenience to themselves. We hope they will consider well the proposition and promptly act upon it. In Indiana and Ohio and other States where railroads are built with great facility, it is not unusual for land owners upon the lines of the projected roads to subscribe for stock to one-fourth or even one-half the value of their lands, confidently looking to the increased value accruing to the land and its products to remunerate them for the expenditure. We know that in Kentucky the homestead is a sacred thing, and our citizens are unwilling to encumber it with mortgages, but they can with perfect safety and little trouble pledge a portion of the crop or devote a special crop to this purpose and thus materially advance their own interests and help to build the roads which are so greatly needed by the whole community.

THE UNITED STATES SENATOR IN PENNSYLVANIA.—The post of United States Senator from Pennsylvania had been selected by Forney as his reward for his services in the late Presidential campaign, but, although there is a Democratic majority of two on joint ballot in the Pennsylvania Legislature, there seems to be some dissatisfaction with Forney, and a better prospect for the election of Simon Cameron as the opposition candidate. Forney is furious in consequence and berates Cameron and the disaffected Democrats in the Legislature most terribly. Cameron may be all that Forney says he is and still he has not reached so low a depth in the scale of infamy as Forney has long since attained. In point of morality or political honesty it would be difficult to find in Pennsylvania or out of it a worse character than Forney.

☞ A Marysville paper says there is a hemp merchant in Sutton street, in that place, who possesses the "singular and beautiful" faculty of whistling two parts of a tune at once.

If he can whistle the tune forward and backward at the same time, he would do remarkably well as a Sag-Nicht editor.

☞ Gov. Willard, in his late Democratic speeches in Mississippi, declared directly and strongly in favor of squatter sovereignty; and his declarations were loudly applauded by his Democratic audiences. He argued that Territorial Legislatures have just as full a right as State Legislatures to pass laws either for the establishment or the exclusion of slavery, and there seemed to be no voice or feeling of dissent among his Democratic hearers.

We cannot but regard this fact as most deeply humiliating and disgraceful to the Southern Democracy. In 1848, when the famous Nicholson letter of Gen. Cass was published, there was not one Southern Democratic editor or stump-speaker or member of Congress who could be driven to admit that any such odious doctrine as that of the right of a Territorial Legislature to exclude slavery from the Territories was contained in that letter. They all protested as with one voice that they would never support for the Presidency any candidate who avowed such a Freesoil doctrine as that, but at the same time they protested still more vehemently that no such doctrine was set forth in the Nicholson letter. We can defy any Democrat to show, that, until within the last year, there was in all the South a single Democratic politician who could be induced to speak of the squatter sovereignty principle in any other language than that of condemnation and abhorrence, or that more than two or three have spoken of it in any other language even within the year. There has never been a Southern Democratic meeting of any kind that would not have kicked instantly out of doors any resolution affirming squatter sovereignty. This is notoriously true.

And yet now, Mr. Buchanan having been elected to the Presidency, a Northern Democrat goes to the South as the invited guest of Southern Democrats and thunders abroad among them the most outright squatter sovereignty—the doctrine that the Kansas Legislature has full power to rule slavery out of the Territory to-day or to-morrow; and the manifesto is received with shouts of applause, and the utterer is honored as a true Northern champion of Southern principles! We can only say, in view of such things, that, if there are any high-minded and independent Democrats still left in the South, they may well weep and blush for the political degradation of the masses of their party who seem ready to be harnessed like mules or asses to the car of Northern freesoilism.

It is well and universally understood now that squatter sovereignty, as explained and avowed by Gov. Willard in the South for the edification of his Southern entertainers and admirers, is all that the Northern freesoilers want for preventing the extension of slavery. Mr. Banks, of Massachusetts, the freesoil Speaker of the U. S. House of Representatives and one of the most powerful and influential of all the leaders of the Northern freesoil party, boldly avowed in a public speech last summer in New York, that he and his party wanted no further Congressional legislation upon the subject of slavery, being perfectly willing to rely upon the squatter sovereignty clause of the Kansas-Nebraska bill. And well might they rely upon it, for the fact is said to be now fixed and established beyond all contingency that squatter sovereignty will not only bring Kansas into the Union as a free State but bring all other Territories into the Union as free States as fast as they shall be ready for admission. Pierce and Douglas and Richardson and Shields and Cass and all the rest of the prominent leaders of the Northern Democracy were right in their declarations that the Kansas-Nebraska bill, as construed by them, was the strongest freesoil measure ever adopted, and that, under the operation of its principles, not another foot of slave territory could ever be added to the Union. Let squatter sovereignty be established as the permanent policy of the nation, and slavery hereafter will shrink from all competition with anti-slavery in new Territories, for no man will be mad enough to take slaves into a Territory where it is understood that a squatter sovereignty Legislature, made up chiefly of Northerners and foreigners, may at any moment set them free.

DEMOCRATIC TROUBLES.—One of the Sag-Nicht editors of our city, who has been for some weeks at Washington, writes to his own paper a letter in which he speaks as follows:

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5, 1857.

Rumors and speculations relative to Mr. Buchanan's Cabinet are still rife in Washington, and politicians are waiting with much anxiety for something definite upon the subject. Iron what I have been able to learn, the rumored Cabinet, composed of Cobb, Floyd, Bright, Benjamin, Clifford, and other men of that stripe, will be received with a storm of disaffection and indignation by the "old Democrats proper." They say that these men do not represent the Democracy of the Union, nor of their own State—that they are simply the leaders of political trickery politicians, who have proven untrue to their principles and their party whenever their interests were to be promoted in advocacy of treason. This and even worse than this, is the language which is used by the great mass of the democratic members of Congress and visitors at the Capitol relative to this rumored Cabinet. When Mr. Buchanan reaches the Capital, he will be expostulated with in very plain terms by State Rights men on the subject; and if expostulations do not prove effective, the Administration will find itself in a minority in the House of Congress, and will sink into imbecility before the close of the first year of its existence.

But I do not believe that Mr. Buchanan has determined upon his Cabinet. Rumor says that Gen. Cass is to be his premier, while the General denies emphatically that he has received the least intimation from Mr. Buchanan upon the subject. Should Gen. Cass be at the head of the Cabinet, he would have been consulted by Mr. Buchanan about going to be associated with him. Nor do I believe that Mr. Buchanan will take a Cabinet composed solely of the distinguished Senators from Illinois and Virginia, as Douglas and Mr. Hunter, who are the acknowledged leaders of the States Rights Democracy of the Union. To fail to do so, would be an unjustifiable neglect of his party, which is faithful.

"The rumored Cabinet," spoken of in the first of the paragraphs above, is the one which very many of the democratic papers seem to think the President elect will create. So far as we can judge from indications, it meets the views of a large proportion of the Democratic party; yet here we have a Sag-Nicht editor who proclaims that the gentlemen included in it, such as Cobb, Floyd, and Bright, are mere trading politicians ready upon all occasions for spoils and treason, and that their appointment, if made, will cause among the old Democratic guard a resistless storm of indignation and sink the Administration into a minority in its first Congress and into imbecility before the close of its first year. This is plain talk and strong talk, and we do not pretend to know whether it is just and true or not. It is however one of the numerous things that must convince the public that the President elect, on going into office, will have a dreadfully hard time. He can make no possible Cabinet without giving offense to at least one-half of his own party and probably a much larger portion of it; and such are the differences of opinion between his Northern supporters and his Southern supporters as to squatter sovereignty, internal improvements, &c., that he can never satisfy both, either in the making of a Cabinet or in shaping the subsequent course of his administration. The most atrocious frauds were practiced in the election; and retribution, righteous and fearful retribution, is not far off.

The same Democratic letter-writer says that "office-seekers are looking to the next administration and are preparing themselves for a tremendous rush upon old Buck," and that "the places of some of our Kentucky office-holders have fascinated the eyes of some of the sovereigns," and that "the rotating principle will be put to work" in this State. So we are to have a fierce and bitter struggle between thousands of Sag-Nicht ins and all their friends and relatives on the one part and a good many more thousands of Sag-Nicht outs and their friends and relatives on the other part. The present office-holders all claim that they have a right to retain their offices, for they supported Buchanan; and hundreds of thousands of non-office-holding Sag-Nichts claim that they have a right to take their turn at office-holding, for they supported Buchanan. A mortal Sag-Nicht strife is but a short way ahead, and it will immensely weaken a party that is already greatly in the minority throughout the nation. There is "a good time coming." Let the Americans stand to the flag which they have hitherto uptorne so proudly.

☞ Our charming young friend Lizzie writes very beautifully, but indeed the men are not such horrid things as she seems to think them. In matters of love they are generally as much sinned against as sinning:

LEGELINE.

Ah why does woman love The but to pour
Heart-jewels on a shrine that craves still more—
To bring rich gifts, tha spirit's purest wine,
Bright tribute from the soul's unfathomed mine—
To offer all, yet "more" the idol cries,
Till youth is spent, and life's the sacrifice.

'Twas night, and all the burning stars were set,
Like flaming gems, in Nature's coronet;
There was a wild wail in the wind low sigh
Like the last tone of human agony;
Odors from myriad flowers came
And wild and sweet across the night-bird's song;
'Twas midnight, when the awe-struck spirit feels
That Nature her most awful power reveals.
Pale rose the moon over that scene sad and fair—
What doth a young girl's pleading form do there?
Through a deep forest her quick footsteps dashed
Toward where a broad stream in the moonlight flashed;
Iron her white lace streaming in tresses dark as night,
Her large eyes glittered with unnatural light.
Her lip was curled in scorn, her brow—oh there
Were written love and suffering and despair.
Jewels and pearls she had in the moonlight ray
Midst the black locks that to her waist fell away,
And round her neck a velvet mantle hung
As if had there in frenzied pain been flung.
Her foot, like Arab courser's, spurned the ground,
Scarcelythe dry grass bending with their bound;
With agony too deep to be subdued
She had rushed out in night and solitude.
Years had she knelt to love's—wild, maddening away,
Her idol in cold scorn had turned—
Oh woman's heart is fraught with grief and care,
Hope smiles on love's birth, on its end despair.

Here was the common tale. She had believed
A flatterer's artful words and been deceived.
'Tis a wild grief to know an idol changed,
The bright cheek fallen, the form bent and cold,
He was cold, gifted, proud; he knew it well,
And round her soul he threw a magic spell.
With gentle eyes he looked deep love on her,
Till at his feet she knelt a worshipper.
He loved her as the bright dream of a day,
Then cast her, like a faded flower, away;
He loved her much till she was his alone,
But man soon wearies of what he can own.
While slept her soul in innocence and truth,
He waked her from the quiet dreams of youth;
In her young heart sprang love with its wild pain,
That heart could never, never be whole again!
Her love was held in mockery and scorn,
And that, even that, perhaps she might have borne,
But to behold him at another's shrine,
This crushed the soul of haughty Leoline.

One night in festal halls he stood apart
With one he called the idol of his heart.
They seemed the happiest in those halls that night;
Her eyeblood love, he gleamed with starry light;
And Leoline turned off with mad-crazed heart,
Crazed, almost crazed, struggled, but the tear would start.
Why seemed the stream so peaceful to its flow?
Could there be quiet in its depths below?
And the stars mocked her; glittering on that stream,
They shone as cold as love's dear dream.
Hope's star had set forever; life was abysm,
And that lone river seemed love's fitting tomb,
Made o'er her heart no strain of chilling doubt's prayer?
Could she then plunge in its cold, cold, stream?
One murmur of his name, one look to heaven—
Her parting thoughts were to her idol given;
A wild shriek echoed far along the shore,
A white arm gleamed—some flashed—and all was o'er!
Another martyr to love's alarming crown,
And life the sacrifice by her laid down.
Man goes through life, from dreams of love apart,
But oh the strength and depth of woman's heart!

It was not plucked by mun from the wing, but was the free gift of our national bird.

Russia has adopted the new style in calendar time. Heretofore the dates of all Russian officialism have been fifteen days behind the almanac of the rest of the world. The Georgian calendar is at last proclaimed by the autocrat.

Heed This, Young Men.—That the "excesses of our youth are drafts upon our old age, payable at sight," is well exemplified in that Scriptural description of that species of the "cereal grains," known as "wild oats." A crop that is generally sown between eighteen and twenty-five; the harvest generally sets in about ten years after, and is commonly found to consist of a broken constitution, two weak legs, a bad cough, and a trunk—filled with small vials and medical prescriptions."

Kissing at a Certain Age.—A celebrated dandy was once escorting his company miss a young lady, and, observing her kiss her favorite poodle, he advanced and hugged the like favor, remarking that she ought to have as much charity for him as she had shown to the dog. "Sir," said the belle, "I never kissed my dog when he was a puppy." The fellow took the hint, and was off instanter.

A pert lawyer in the South lately insulted the Judge, who fined him $50. He repeated the insult, and the Judge doubled the fine; he tried it again, and he trebled it. Finally, he asked permission to go home. "What for?" asked the Judge. "To buy your honor's paper at ten per cent to pay my fine."

An article on education in France, published in the Constitutionnel, states that in the year 1855 more than 400,000 young boys and 456,000 young girls—850,000 children—from six to thirteen years of age received no kind of instruction whatever.

GOV. WRIGHT ON AGRICULTURE.—Governor Joseph Wright, of Indiana, has recently set up almost as many pretensions to the character of a learned agriculturist as to that of an astute politician. He has been the President of the Indiana State Agricultural Association, and has been making grandiloquent speeches in various places upon agriculture, in some of which he introduced most erudite dissertations upon "roots and tops." The following cruel stories of the Governor's practical knowledge on agricultural subjects are published by the Wabash Express. We are inclined to think that the Governor is a humbug in agriculture, and that he knows still less as a politician:

Joe Wright—we beg his pardon the Hon. Joseph A. Wright, our present worthy Executive and Senatorial aspirant, is par excellence the agricultural Governor of Indiana. He is wonderfully familiar with the subject, second Poor Richard in the economy of husbandry. He can discourse with eloquence and fluency on all seeds, soils, rotation, draining, crossing, seedings, "roots and tops," and every other possible topic connected with plain and practical farming.

He knows at sight whether a new pattern of a plow is practical, and is altogether au fait in the matter of harrows, reapers, planters, rollers, and agricultural implements generally. In fact, when the Governor does "Norris in column ordered, dropped into interest paragraphs," it is a question what niche in the modern Pantheon he shall occupy—whether his statue shall be placed upon the "Democratic Platform" or in the "Agricultural Department."

With a view to the elucidation of this subject we wish to present the following authentic anecdote:

Not many months ago, His Excellency, in company with a scholarly distinguished citizen of Indiana, was fishing in the country. In passing a beautiful field of grain just beginning to head, the Governor reined up his horse and turned his rapturous admiration of the scene thus:

Quoth Ned—"Governor, how much will that wheat yield to the acre?"

"Oh, from seventeen to twenty bushels."

"What kind of seed is that from, Governor?"

"Genesee white. That is the kind I sow."

"You are the President of the Indiana Agricultural Society, are you not, Governor?"

"I am, sir."

"I believed the address before the Agricultural Society of New York, last year?"

"Yes, sir."

"You are the author of an eloquent passage about the cultivation of roots and tops?"

"I am, sir."

"Well, you are the only man I ever saw who could not tell oats from wheat!"

A certain farmer, one of the Governor's constituents, who had a profound admiration for his talents and practical knowledge, wrote to him for advice as to the method of improving his stock of sheep. The Governor's answer was instant, brief, sententious, sincere: "Get a Hydraulic Ram—better than the southdown for mutton, equal to the merino for wool."

The Express adds: "If this doesn't settle the question, we have a pumpkin story in reserve that may cast some light upon it."

☞ We have seen it stated in several of our exchanges that the Hon. W. H. Hilliard of Alabama had returned to the ministry. The Tuskegee (Ala.) True Union, in noticing the closing scenes of the late conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church in that town, makes the following allusion to one which must have been impressive and thrilling:

Mr. Hilliard date M. C. has been alluded to in connection with a proposition which was before the conference, to establish a Methodist newspaper in the city of Montgomery, with a preacher editor, and the prospect of acquiring him as a member of the conference was urged as a reason for the establishment of the paper. The argument was responded to by Rev. T. O. Summers, in a seeming spirit of levity. Mr. Hilliard was called upon, and with the Bishop of the conference, and the whole audience, a life-long purpose to return to the work of the ministry, and, turning to Bishop Pierce, said, with deep emotion, seeming, in the pathetic emphasis—

"I give you my hand, my brother, in this great work! Henceforward our paths of life shall not diverge! I come, in the maturity of my manhood, deliberately to lay my heart, intellect, and whatever of trophies I may have won in other walks of life, professionally or politically, humbly at the feet of the Church, with the unanimous call of her service of my Master.

"Let it be distinctly understood that no vote which this conference may take upon the pending proposition can affect my resolution to give myself to this work. At home and abroad, in my military journeyings, in the midnight palaces of kings, I have never forgotten my early vows. I have seen the beginning and the end of earthly greatness.

"Intimately associated with some of the first living statesmen of this age and country, I have seen them pass away from this earth. Sir, I know the vanity of earthly things. I know how humble, but I know how exalted, I am, without which I should not be meet for the Master's service.

"I ask nothing from this conference on my personal account. Let the vote have no reference to me. No, no, sir! I have never leaved my cross when farthest from Calvary in the day of battle. I preserve my self-respect, but I desire to achieve something that shall enable me, when this world burns up, to be recognized by the redeemed of the Church as a friend of Christ, and to take my place, however humble, among the martyrs and saints who loved and served Him on earth."

This, says the Union, is the substance of his remarks delivered to the spell-bound audience. It was a scene of intense moral sublimity. May he find grace equal to his noble resolution. Long may he live to edify the church, and finally win and wear the crown of endless joy and glory.

☞ The inhabitants of Pitcairn's Island, descended from the mutineers of the ship Bounty, have been removed to Norfolk Island, on account of their numbers having outgrown the capacity of their old home. They numbered 199 yesterday, of whom 97 are males and 102 females. Some 2,000 sheep, 450 head of cattle, and 20 horses, and provisions for twelve months were left at Norfolk Island for their use.

INDIAN RECORD OF TIME.—There is no word in the Indian language for the word "year." The Indians reckon time by the return of snow, or the springing of flowers, and the flight of the birds announces the progress of the seasons. The motion of the sun marks the hour of the day; and these distinctions of time are not noted in numbers, but in language and illustrations of a highly poetical character.

A MORMON FEAST IN NEW YORK.—There was a grand feast and festival at Brook's Assembly Rooms, Broome street, New Year's night, which was attended by about 400 Mormons, who are at present residing in New York. Among those present was Geo. A. Smith, the delegate from Utah in the House of Representatives; Perley E. Pratt, one of the "twelve;" Rev. John Taylor, and others. Judge Appleby of Salt Lake presided.

COLD WEATHER IN CUBA.—Accounts from Havana state that a severe "cold term" has been experienced on the north side of Cuba, the thermometer, on the 24th and 25th ult. having fallen to 43 degrees Fahrenheit. This is colder than has been known there for twenty years before.

A DELICATE CASE.—A very delicate case occurred in Petersburg, Va., in the latter part of last week, which points forcibly the maxim "judge not from appearances:"

A servant girl found an infant on the steps of her master's premises, with a piece of paper attached to its "envelope," on which was written "scare an alarm." She took it up to her mistress and upon a piece of linen was discovered in indelible ink the name of highly respectable lady, and the inscription, "Take care of this child." The child was properly cared for during night, and in the morning, the lady, advised by her husband, called on the person whose name appeared on the linen, finding her in bed, complaining of a severe pain. Upon this, suspicion assumed the form of conviction, and the possession of the child was finally confirmed, and being very lapsidyea, broached the subject in a somewhat alarming manner to the husband. The sick lady appeared surprised, and asked her friend for an explanation, when the marked linen was produced. Instead of fainting, as the lady friend had expected, the sick lady assumed a smile, seeing the basis of the error, and informed her that several weeks ago she had employed a young seamstress, and, in dismissing her, had presented her with several pieces of her old linen. The young seamstress was found, and acknowledged all, with but a brief and ingenuous relation. Her child was returned, and he, it is the good name of those of the husband of the lady, was furnished a bib $100, with which she left the city for Alexandria.

THE BLUE RIDGE TUNNEL.—The editor of the Charlottesville Jeffersonian, who was present when the first hole was made through the Blue Ridge Mountain, says:

The entire length of the tunnel is 4,273½ feet, as heretofore ascertained by measurement over the mountain; and, now that the blasting has been so far completed as to get pretty accurate measurement inside, it is ascertained to be 4,400 feet. The distance both outside and inside, is almost varied but half an inch; the drift from the western end is precisely in the centre of the tunnel. About eleven feet are to be blasted before the entire headway will be through. On the eastern side, the rock, for 90 feet in length and 16 feet in width, and in the western end, 250 in length and 16 in width (making 330 feet), is to be blasted and cut out before the tunnel will be finished to the level of the track.

If the present force can be kept at work, the whole might be completed by the last of May next, but by the 1st of July, in all probability, the cars of the Central Railroad will pass under, instead of over, the Blue Ridge Mountain.

THE THIEF.—The following is the amendment which Mr. Boyce, of South Carolina, on Tuesday last, in the U. S. House of Representatives, announced his intention to move as an amendment to the bill reducing the duties on imports and for other purposes:

That from and after the first day of January, 1857, all goods, wares, merchandise, and other products subject, under the existing tariff, to pay duties of over twenty per cent., be admitted into the United States upon paying a duty of twenty per cent.; and that coffee and tea be subject to the same rate of twenty per cent. duty.

A LUCKY ACTOR.—We clip the following from the N. O Delta:

The managers of the Maryland lottery, however, are more ritualist paymasters than Mr. Crisp, and we are glad to say that our friend Davidge has every reason to regard them as perfect in their line. Forty-four thousand dollars were drawn even in that lottery by New Orleans at the last drawing, a large part of which fell to the share of Davidge! In all his comic experience did he ever encounter or realize a better joke? We think not; and we have no doubt that the Maryland lottery for being so kind to a good fellow, and, in actors' phrase, say encore.

☞ The following is an extract of a letter from Ohio:

REPLES.—There was a minor recorder that a rebel spy had been seized in the city, and that when the mandarin threatened to take off his head he coolly replied, "You may take off my head, if you please, but yours will pay the forfeit, and will roll in the dust within six months." Occasionally beneath the calm surface of things gives us the apprehension that the volcanic energies of civil in-surgency only wait occasion to break forth here with the same devastating effects with which they have visited other provinces.

☞ A Boston correspondent of the New York Tribune gives currency to the following piece of scandal:

A church in Washington street had a festival on Friday evening. After supper the pastor—a bachelor, by the way—oh! horrors! David danced, it is true; but did David and his friends keep it up till after two o'clock in the morning? The Boston saints did. Spirit of Cotton Mather, how do you feel? "Raythe rilled!" I pass for a reply.

THE U. S. AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

MESSRS. EDITORS: The meeting, by which committees were appointed to procure the subscription of a guarantee in order to induce the holding of the next annual exhibition of the U. S. Agricultural Society at our fair grounds, appointed a committee for the city and one for the county. A number of the citizens of Louisville have subscribed very liberally, believing that a similar subscription would be made in this county. We have heard of the progress of the city committee and should like to know what Jefferson county has done in the premises. It is expected that the county subscription will at least be equal to one-half of that procured in Louisville.

A GUARANTOR.

SUPERIOR COURT—Hon. Judge Seymour presiding.—Jeannette Waters vs. Wm. H. Bridgeman.—This was an action for breach of promise to marry. The plaintiff resides in Huntington and the defendant in Derby we believe. The questions involved were those of fact and almost exclusively as to the engagement having been made. The plaintiff claiming that there was a mutual engagement between the parties and that all her subsequent acts were such as to corroborate her testimony in this particular. On the other hand it was claimed that there never was any engagement made, or, if any had been entered into, it was a conditional one and entirely void. The damages claimed in the writ is $10,000. Verdict for plaintiff $2,000.

The case has excited much interest, and a large number of ladies have taken the opportunity to visit the court room during the trial.

An Old Ship.—Under our marine head of this morning will be found the arrival of the British brig Marys, Captain Thompson, from Lancaster, England, in ballast, to order of Messrs. Lowe, Low & Co. This brig, we learn, is fifty-three years old, and is as strong as when she was first launched into her native element. Her hull is built of solid oak, and fastened in the most substantial manner, as may be inferred from the number of years she has been in service, and the many tempests she has encountered on old ocean during that period. She now looks as bright and new as in her youthful days, and is as staunch as ever to withstand the storm. Another remarkable fact in connection with this vessel may be stated—that she has belonged to the same family since she was first built.—Savannah Journal.

A MARRIAGE IN THE CARS.—In the cars, between Bangor and Portland, an incident occurred a short time since, a little out of the usual course. Soon after the train left Bangor, the conductor, Mr. Pittman, who had provided himself with a clergyman, stood up in the cars, and, in the presence of the passengers, and while the train was at its usual speed, was duly married to a lady by the name Dodge. Our Eastern friends are evidently a "fast" people.

WOOD FOR THE POOR.—A number of the farmers of Jefferson county have made liberal donations of fuel to the poor of our city during this season of great want. Among others who have thus been moved to benevolence, Mr. L. M. Paine, who resides at the saw-mill eight or nine miles from the city on the Salt River turnpike, informs us that he has a large quantity of timber which he will give to any poor persons, who need it for their own use, and who will cut it up and bring it to town for themselves. Drays can be hired to haul this wood at two dollars per cord, and there are numbers of poor persons who will gladly avail themselves of this opportunity to provide themselves with a load of wood. Mr. Paine has on hand a large quantity of cord wood already cut which he is selling to dealers at the market price, and the wood which he proposes to give to the needy is intended only for those who are too poor to buy wood for their own use at the price at which it is selling. Mr. Paine is also ready to give employment to thirty wood-choppers. There are doubtless numbers of able-bodied men who are out of employment here that could easily procure it in cutting wood for the farmers in the vicinity of the city.

DISCOVERY OF A COAL MINE.—A NEW MINERAL.—There was quite an excitement occasioned at the foot of Twelfth street on Saturday, by the reputed discovery of a coal mine. During the excavations on the canal last fall, a large quantity of stone and slate was thrown out upon the bank. A gentleman picked up a lump the other day and taking it home found that it ignited very freely. This fact being bruited about a number of cartmen loaded their carts, and sold some fifty loads at a half dollar per load.

Mr. Pope, the city auditor, informs us that he was one of the purchasers, and on Sunday he laboured very assiduously to test the mineral as an article of fuel. By breaking it in small pieces it burned very readily and with an intense heat for a few moments, the the blaze was extinguished, and the pieces became as hard as iron, though retaining a red heat for hours. He was satisfied from his experiment that the mineral though producing a better fire than nothing was not exactly the kind of fuel desirable in these freezing times. But who knows but this slaty substance is the upper strata of an immense coal field. Stranger things have happened and the all necessary burning material may under lie our city, and be but for the digging.

THE RAILROAD MEETING TO-NIGHT.—We trust that our citizens will not neglect the meeting at the Merchants' Exchange to-night. It is called not for the members of the Chamber of Commerce, but for the public generally—for all those who feel any interest in the completion of the Nashville railroad. An enterprise of such an important character, and the necessity of which our business men have felt so sensibly for several months past, should enlist the attention and energies of all our people. We understand that an unusual degree of feeling is prevading the community concerning its welfare, and that there is a general disposition to do all that is possible toward pushing it to an early completion.

The meeting to-night will consider the various plans likely to further the interests of this important road, and should be attended very generally.

HARPER'S WEEKLY.—We have received from Messrs. Kirk & Clarke and Cramp & Welsh the second number of this beautiful and interesting weekly paper. It is a decided improvement on their first issue.

☞ Frauds amounting to $65,000 have been discovered in making the contracts for public works in Ohio. These frauds were perpetrated by a Democratic board of commissioners.

FALSE ALARMS.—Our citizens have been greatly annoyed for several days by a constant succession of false alarms of fire. The ringing of bells, the noise and clatter as the engines rush through the streets, the loud shouts of men and boys, are annoying at any time, but particularly so on the Sabbath, when these disturbances frequently occur. There might be a remedy obtained for these nuisances if the warden of the engine houses and the police would use more alacrity.

THE THEATER.—The Florences commenced the second week of their engagement here last night. Mr. Florence's Pandeen O'Rafferty in "Born to Good Luck," and his Paddy Murphy in "The Happy Man" were received with rounds of applause. Mrs. Florence appeared in the Young Actress in which her admirable dancing and charming manner delighted the audience.

To-night Mr. Florence will appear in three capital pieces—"The Irish Emigrant," "The Young Actress," and "Good For Nothing." Mrs. Florence will sustain five characters in the Young Actress, and will appear as Nan, the Good for Nothing, in the last piece.

A LUNATIC.—In the Circuit Court yesterday George Shropshire was tried upon a writ of lunacy and ordered by a jury to be sent to one of the State Lunatic Asylums. It was proven that he had been insane for a long time, having received severe injuries by falling from a building eleven years ago. He is a native of Bourbon county and has wealthy parents.

Last summer Shropshire was arrested and committed to jail on a charge of forgery on one of our Banks. Since then he has not even been out of his cell, and his existence had actually been forgotten by the prisoner, so quiet and so much of a recluse was the prisoner. In Court he expressed himself very much contented with his quarters, and had no desire to be removed. His address in defence was characterized by a peculiar description of insane sprightliness.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—Yesterday morning George Harper, an employee of the Nashville Railroad Company, while engaged in cutting wood almost seven miles from the city, met with a very serious accident. A tree that had been cut by another man fell upon him, taking his scalp off entirely. He was rendered insensible for the time being, and suffered intensely during his removal home. It is hoped that the prompt surgical aid rendered will prevent fatal consequences resulting to the unfortunate man.

A SORROWFUL SIGHT.—Yesterday a poor German, entirely unacquainted with our language, was brought to jail charged with having stolen a few gunny bags. His small children, whose sole protector he was, followed him to the very door of the prison, clinging to him frantically and sobbing as if their young hearts would burst. Their efforts however, were unavailing, and the man was committed to answer, while the children had to return to their desolate and unprovided home.

TEACHING OF THE GUITAR.—We have no doubt that Mr. Hernandez is the most skillful teacher of guitar music that has ever taught in our city. His own playing is exquisite beyond description, and his pupils attain to a very high degree of excellence in an incredibly short space of time.

Mr. Hernandez is now about forming a new class, and those who desire to avail themselves of the rare advantages of his teaching can make application at the music store of Mr. D. P. Faulds on Main street.

THE BEST PLANING MACHINES IN THE WORLD.—Attention is called to the advertisement of Mr. James A. Woodbury, Boston, in to-day's paper, whose machine possesses all the good qualities of the celebrated Woodworth Machine, with certain improvements patented by him, which combined enables him to present to the public the most perfect machine ever organized for planing, tonguing, and grooving lumber.

NOTICE.—We call attention to the advertisement in another column of Messrs. Austin, Thorp, & Co., of New York, importers of Laces, Embroideries, &c. They are young men deserving a liberal patronage, and we would recommend them to our merchants and Southern friends, and hope they may meet with unbounded success. Give them a call, gentlemen.

SWAN & CO.'S LOTTERIES.—Several new schemes in these lotteries will be found in our advertising columns. They are authorised by the States in which they are drawn. The drawings are public, and in the presence of sworn commissioners, authorised to superintend them.

ATTENTION, SEVENTH WARD AMERICANS.—There will be a called meeting of Boone Council No. 35, at the Relief Engine House, this evening, at 7 o'clock. It is important that every friend of the American party shall attend. Turn out and bring your friends.

☞ We have received from a benevolent gentleman ten dollars, with a request that it be used for the benefit of some little shivering family during this winter weather. The officers of the Relief Association will gladly receive it.

FINE CIGARS.—We are indebted to Elliot Brothers, importers of cigars, tobacco, &c., 497 Main street, for a quantity of cigars of the finest flavor. The very best article may always be found at their establishment, and they may be relied on as fair dealers.

☞ See advertisement in another column of "Rare Inducements to Agents."

☞ See advertisement of boarding.

THE RUSH FOR WOOD.—The depot of the Frankfort Railroad Company has been besieged by purchasers of wood to so great an extent during the past week that it has been found necessary to establish office hours, which are from 9 to 11 A. M. and 2 to 4 P. M. The seller of wood, who receives the funds and issues the tickets—our young friend John Nantz—is endeavored in a comfortable room, where the applicants for wood make their calls. At the door a special policeman is stationed, who admits only three persons at a time. These having made their purchases are dismissed and three others admitted. We found yesterday an anxious crowd waiting admission.

The time has been in this city when persons selling fuel were eager for the calls of buyers. Now the state of the case is exactly reversed. Any one is thankful for the condescension of the man who will sell him coal or wood.

☞ The chief items of import by the Nashville railroad last week were thirteen tons of pig iron, a large number of corn-skins, and four thousand hoop-poles.

RIVER AND STEAMBOAT MATTERS

We have no change to notice about matters at the river. The weather still continues cold. Our thermometer, which is hanging on the north side of our office, was below freezing point all day.

The report that the steamer Rainbow was damaged by ice is doubtless incorrect. She is said to be in a safe harbor.

Perilous Situation of the Steamer Bonita.—This steamer, which left Portland on the 4th for New Orleans, is said to be in a dangerous condition. A letter has been received from her captain, who states that she is in a gorge, and that the ice is constantly accumulating around and under her and her hull was considerably damaged. Her freight had been taken ashore and a protest entered. She is insured in this city and New Albany.

The telegraphic submarine cable for crossing the river at Cairo, on the Memphis, Hickman, and Cairo line, was lost overboard from the steamer Golden Gate last week.

The St. Louis Evening News, of Saturday, says that the Mississippi, between that city and Alton—distance eighteen miles—is open, and the packets are making regular trips.

The H. D. Newcomb.—We are indebted to Mr. Landram, clerk of this fine steamer, for a copy of the manifest and memorandum. The Newcomb discharged her load at Paducah, and then returned to New Orleans.

The splendid steamer Niagara passed Memphis on Sunday and will return to New Orleans from Cairo to-morrow evening.

Sunk.—On the night of the 26th ult. the steamer Lizzie Lee, from Jefferson, for Shreveport, La., with 659 bales of cotton on board, struck a snag when in twelve mile bayou, and sunk. The boat will be a total loss. Most, if not all the cargo has been saved. The Lizzie Lee was owned by Capt. Barnes and was uninsured.

MEMORANDUM.—The H. D. Newcomb arrived at Cairo on the 7th, having left New Orleans at the 4th instant, at 1 o'clock, P. M., with a slim cargo of passengers, no baggage, freight, and trade landings on the coast for 564 pkgs molasses. Import for Louisville—David White, to leave on the 5th. Met Niagara, Indiana, and T. E. Tutt 30 miles above the city. 4th—passed Delta and Hiawatha below Natchez, met Florida and Crescent City at Natchez. 6th—passed James Irwin in Tompkins bend, met Empress at head of same. Woodford above Providence. Chancellor at Point Worthington. 8th—met Eastport at President's bend. 9th—met Alex. Scott at Island 26, James Johnson at Madrid, Rapides at Hickman. THE BRECKINRIDGE OIL.—These celebrated oils, made from Cannel coal in the county of Breckinridge, have just been introduced into our market. They have been subject to the very severest tests, and proven to be all that is desirable for purposes of lubrication and illumination. They afford a clean, beautiful, steady, and pleasant light; while for machinery they are not to be equalled. Competent chemists have analyzed them and pronounced satisfactory judgements upon their superiority.

The company engaged in the manufacture of these oils possesses large capitol, has erected extensive works and is already manufacturing great quantities which find ready sale all over the Union. In this city Messrs. Allen, Brown & Co., on the corner of Main and Seventh streets, have received the agency and are prepared to fill all orders.

THE LAST BUSHEL OF COAL.—We have frequently seen the last rose of summer fade, but we never anticipated that it would ever be our duty to chronicle the disappearance of the last bushel of coal from our market. But such is the fact. The last bushel of coal in the hands of the dealers was sold yesterday. The market is now entirely bare, and when the supplies in the cellars and coal houses of our citizens are exhausted, whence will come the necessary fuel?

☞ The schoolmaster has not been about in a certain quarter on Main street. We saw yesterday a large placard in front of an "artist's" establishment, on which the following choice specimens of orthography occurred: Persons was transferred into "personce," pictures into "pictuars," and concern into "consurn."

☞ C. B. Sandford has resigned the Cashership of the branch of the Farmers' Bank of Kentucky. Thos. B. Page is his successor.

NECK BROKE.—A few nights since Edward Martin, while walking along one of the streets beyond Bourgeois, fell into a cellar and was very severely injured, his neck being very nearly dislocated.

CRIMINAL COURT.—The Jefferson Circuit Court convened its regular session yesterday for the trial of criminal causes. The following proceedings were had:

Thomas C. Coleman, Andrew Low, Isaac P. Miller, John T. Bate, Wm. C. Miller, Jno. Churchill, Richard Cox, E. N. Talbott, J. M. Alexander, Wm. K. Colton, J. Browder, James Thornbury, A. J. Morrison, W. S. Kuatt, Wm. Duerson, W. J. Cornell, were sworn in as a Grand Jury.

The following cases were continued to the next term:

Commonwealth vs.	F. Sonne,	for misdemeanor;
do	" J. Cornelins,	"
do	" B. Kemp,	"
do	" H. Camden,	"
do	" A. Straup,	"
do	" A. W. Johnson,	"
do	" Curtis Paris,	scire facias.
do	" A. J. Rovalky,	"
do	" Jno. Knight,	"
do	" Garrett and Reeves,	"

The Commonwealth Attorney ordered that nolle prosequis be entered in the following cases:

George Haskins, Michael Haskins, McCallister and Smith, Burns and Cavina, and James Ford.

Commonwealth vs. James Harkney, on a scire facias, was discontinued.

Commonwealth vs. Benjamin S. Adams, on an indictment for felony, was continued to next term.

Writs of scire facias were issued against J. C. Long and surety for non appearance to answer a charge of felony.

Sams writs against A. W. Kelsey, James Sherman, and James Sutton.

Same order against Jacob Kimmel, Dennis Younger, and James McMullen.

Elizabeth Kempe confessed Judgment for a scire facias in the amount of $800.

R. H. Elston, in the sum of $400, and F. McHarry, in $600, were adjudged to be indebted to the Commonwealth on writs of scire facias.

NEW SCHOOL BOOKS.—We have received from the publishers, Mason Brothers, New York, the following new books, designed for the use of schools:

Lossing's Pictorial History of the United States.—This is a very complete and succinct history of our country and peculiarly adapted to the use of schools. It is written in a clear stylo and printed most beautifully. The engravings are admirably executed and the general appearance of the book highly creditable to both author and publisher.

Spiess's Pronouncing French Dictionary, edited by J. L. Jewett. We have never seen a more admirable and comprehensive dictionary of the language of La Belle France. It is complete in all particulars and is a genuine contribution to the science of philology.

The agent for these works, Mr. J. A. Sloan, is now in our city. He has met with success in introducing them into schools in other cities, and we recommend them to the consideration of our teachers.

☞ A difficulty occurred last evening between the members of two of our fire companies, in which several members received considerable damage about their respective heads. The disturbance happened at the corner of Second and Jefferson streets.

☞ Hon. Garrett Davis, the distinguished American statesman and orator, was in the city yesterday on business connected with the Criminal Court.

ADVANCE IN STAR CANDLES.—We understand that a commercial house in this city received a telegraphic dispatch yesterday from a large manufacturer in Cincinnati quoting an advance of two cents per pound on star candles. The manufacturers here have advanced their rates to correspond. They are now selling at twenty-six cents for full weights.

☞ In glancing over our advertising columns we perceive that our young friend Milton McKnight, a son of one of our most esteemed fellow-citizens, has opened a commission house in Memphis, Tenn.

Although young in years, we think we can safely endorse his habits as sufficiently old and steady—

"His head unmelloned, but his judgment ripe."

We take no ordinary pleasure in recommending him to our Southern friends as entirely worthy of their patronage.

☞ We are requested by Mr. McPherson to state that, in our paragraph in yesterday's paper concerning the Scientific American prize, we gave him more credit than he thinks himself entitled to. Several gentlemen, he informs us, assisted in making up the list, but the credit is principally due to that energetic gentleman and staunch friend of the Institute Mr. R. Skene.

A CURE FOR INTEMPERANCE.—The best way to stop the sale of ardent spirits is to destroy—not the liquors but the taste for them by the use of Dr. Urban's Inebriate's Hope. It is sent by mail for $1 50 a package, by Raymond & Patten, 74 Fourth street.

☞ We are requested by our friends S. G. Henry & Co. to state, that, in addition to their sale already advertised for to-day, they will sell an invoice of gentlemen's fine silk hats and fine black and brown soft hats well worthy the attention of country and city dealers.

ARRIVAL OF THE ASIA.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.

The steamship Asia, from Liverpool, arrived this morning, bringing dates to Saturday, the 27th of December.

Liverpool, Dec. 26.—The cotton market continued firm. Sales on Wednesday of 25,000 bales, of which speculators and exporters took 8,000 bales. Since then there has been no market. The advance of the week to the 24th was ⅛d. Fair Orleans 7¾d, middling do. 7 5-16d; fair Mobiles 7¾d, middling do. 7¼d; fair uplands 7 7-16d, middling do. 7¼d. The market closed firm.

Accounts from Manchester report a steady market. At Havre, New Orleans tres ordinaire was quoted at 108f.

The market for breadstuffs steady. Wheat and corn slightly dearer.

Various circulars quoted wheat firmer at an advance of 3d on the week. Flour was quiet and generally unchanged—western canal 31s@32s; Baltimore and Philadelphia 33s@34s; Ohio 34s 6d@35s. Corn improved and in demand at an advance of 60d 1—yellow and mixed 33s 6d@34s; white 34s@35s. The provision market is generally very dull—Beef dull and holders all pressing their stocks on the market. Pork dull. Bacon dull and 2d lower. Lard dull at a decline of 4s@6s. Tallow quiet. Rosin dull and 1s lower. Common rosin steady—sales at 4s 3d. Spirits of Turpentine steady at 42s.

London, Dec. 26.—Money market unchanged. Consols for account closed at 94¼@94⅝. The bullion in the Bank of England has decreased £106,000. The Bank of France has resumed the discount of seventy-five day bills.

The Asia left Liverpool on Saturday morning at 9 o'clock.

The Arago arrived at Southampton on the 26th.

The approaching conference at Paris, the difficulties pending between Greece and Turkey, and the war between Persia and Great Britain continue to be the main items of interest.

No day has yet been fixed for the reassembling of Congress at Paris. Some preliminary business has yet to be got through with, but it is anticipated that the day of meeting is not far distant. A preliminary meeting will probably be held within a few days.

A statement has been made in the London Times that England and France are now agreed on the points of discussion with Russia. No topics are to be introduced but those relating to Belgrade and the Isle of Serpents. All the plenipotentiaries, including the Turkish minister, have received their instructions.

Prussia continues her preparations for the invasion of Switzerland, and the latter for defence, but there exists a belief that the Powers will prevent actual hostilities. It is rumored that England has agreed to mediate between Prussia and Switzerland, but the report is doubtful.

It is stated that the negotiations between the British minister at Constantinople and the Persian envoy have been broken off. The latter is proceeding to Paris, and in the mean time has requested further instructions from his government.

Great Britain demands the evacuation of Herat, the payment of the expenses of the dismissal of the Prime Minister, and the establishment of British consuls in various places.

Persia is reported to have assented to the return of Mr. Murray, the English Minister, to restore Herat, and to compensate its citizens for damages, but the other points are in suspense.

Nothing later has been received in relation to the progress of hostilities.

The ship Lillian, for Savannah, was struck by lightning on the 24th while lying in dock ready to sail. Her cabin was burned.

Advices from Constantinople to the 18th ult. reached Paris on Thursday.

Feral Kahn, the Persian Envoy, was to leave Constantinople for Paris the next day.

Negotiations with Lord Stratford de Redcliffe having failed, Redschid Pacha has recommended Persia to yield to England.

We have contradictory rumors respecting the position of England on the Neufchatel question. One has it that England has always supported the claims of Prussia, another says that that support has been offered only lately, and that the Swiss authorities could not sufficiently express their astonishment at the change in the language of the English Representatives at Berne; a third report announces the proposal of the United States for a collective tribunal, a fourth rumor says England has simply offered a mediation and that Switzerland, which has refused that of France, has accepted it.

It states that a commission, composed of several officers, had been sent from the Russian headquarters to visit Mazanderan, a province of Persia adjoining the Caspian Sea, in order to reconnoitre various passages for troops and military stores. It appears that, in the event of serious hostilities taking place between England and Persia, Mazanderan will be a very important strategic point. Troops will be concentrated at this point, and the defiles of the Caspian gates and that of Komis will be strongly guarded.

The substance of the instructions received by the peace congress are views that Boledigad and the Isle of Serpents be relinquished to Russia; that the free and complete fulfilment of the treaty of Paris for the organization of the Danubian Principalities be required; and also the earliest possible settlement of the Turco-Russian frontiers of Asia.

The ship Canvasback, from Baltimore, has arrived at Queenstown.

London, Saturday, Dec. 27.—The Berlin Journals hold an uncompromising, bellicose tone, and contradict rumors of mediation. At present there is no hope of a peaceful termination of the affair.

Berlin, Friday, Dec. 26.—A note bearing the signatures of a protocol of London, excepting Prussia, has been addressed to the Federal Council of Switzerland, demanding the liberation of the royalist insurrectionists.

Prussia hopes that this general expression of the powers will terminate the conflict.

Paris, Friday, Dec. 26.—The Swiss police on guard in various directions on the frontier cantons report that Prussian officers have entered Swiss territory with a view to take plaus of the country and survey the banks of the Rhine.

London, Friday, Dec. 26.—The funds opened steady and subsequently further advanced ⅝.

The Paris Bourse closing price to-day of 3 per cents. is 66 76-100 being a decline of ⅝.

THIRTY-FOURTH CONGRESS—SECOND SESSION

Monday's Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.

Senate.—The Senate resumed the consideration of the lowa election case.

House.—Mr. Stanton, under a suspension of the rules, offered a resolution instructing the Committee on the Judiciary to inquire into the expediency of reorganizing the circuits and districts of the United States in such a manner as to equalize the population and business of the several circuits and districts, and give to all sections of the Confederacy their equal and just representation in the U. S. Supreme Court.

Mr. Stanton showed the inequality now existing and urged the importance of such a reform on the ground that all sections should have a just and fair judicial representation in the Supreme Court.

Mr. Keitt inquired whether, if the Supreme Court should pronounce the fugitive slave law constitutional, the gentleman would carry it out.

Mr. Stanton replied that if the Court should decide that Dred Scott is a slave, he would acquiesce in its decision, but he would not, in obedience to the Court, renounce his opinion as to the fugitive slave law.

The resolution passed.

Mr. Benson reported back the Senate bill amendatory of an act to promote the efficiency of the Navy, which provides for the retirement of the stopper furloughed, or retired officers as may be favorably reported on through the Court of Inquiry, provided the finding be approved by the President.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.

In addition to the information communicated in Friday's dispatch relative to the contemplated illegal acquisition of certain Shawnee Indian lands by large bands of organized whites, it is believed that before now the Executive of Kansas has, in consequence of his suggestive representations to the Administration, been invested with full authority in the premises, even to the employment of military, should a fair warning to the intruders prove unavailing. The reservation is easy of access from Missouri, and gentlemen from Kansas, now here, say the rendezvous of the insurgents will be at Westport in that State.

The disbursements at the office of the sergeant-at-arms of the House of Representatives for the pay and mileage of members amounted, up to yesterday morning, to $1,401,314.

The proceedings in the House on Friday caused intense excitement both among Congressmen and outsiders.

To-day has been a very busy one. Cliques of members and others have been collected about the hotels, engaged in earnest conversation about the matter, and canvassing in relation to their action hereafter.

A strong feeling of patriotism prevails among the Swiss residents of Washington, who are desirous of rendering all the aid in their power for their native country in case of war with Prussia.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.

The select committee of the House to examine the alleged corruptions, adopted at a meeting this morning a stringent rule with a view to the prevention of a premature exposure of their proceedings and of the inuitimtory steps for subpoenaing witnesses. They likewise instructed their Chairman to offer a resolution asking the House to enlarge their powers.

CAMDEN, Jan. 12.

The Gregory House, on Lake Mahasec, was destroyed by fire, yesterday, with all the furniture. Loss $20,000—partially insured.

SOUTH GLENS'S FALLS, Jan. 12.

Rice's Sash and Blind Factory is burned. Loss $50,000. Uninsured.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11.

The Circuit Court, at its session yesterday, granted the injunction restraining the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad from consummating its proposed dividend of 30 per cent. of scrip.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 12.

The Republican and American members of the two houses hold a caucus to-night with reference to the election of United States Senator. The excitement is intense.

WHEELING, Jan. 12.

The thermometer this morning indicated 12 degrees below zero.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 12, M.

River unchanged. Weather intensely cold and clear. The thermometer this morning at sunrise stood 6 degrees below zero.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 12, M.

River unchanged. Weather clear and cold.

Reported for the Louisville Journal.

THIRTY-FOURTH CONGRESS—SECOND SESSION.

Monday's Proceedings Concluded.

Senate.—Messrs. Slidell, Adams, Trumbull, Fessenden, Toombs, and Houston advocated Harlan's right to a seat. Messrs. Mallory, Butler, and Benjamin opposed it.

The Senate adopted the resolution reported by the Committee on the Judiciary, declaring Harlan not entitled to a seat as Senator.

Yeas—Allen, Bayard, Benjamin, Biggs, Bigler, Butler, Cass, Clay, Comegys, Crittenden, Dodge, Evans, Fitzpatrick, Geyer, Hunter, Everson, Jones of Iowa, Mallory, Mason, Pearce, Pratt, Reed, Rusk, Sebastian, Stuart, Toucey, Miller, Wright—28.

Nays—Bell of New Hampshire, Bell of Tenn., Brown, Collamer, Durkee, Fessenden, Fish, Foote, Foster, Hale, Houston, Pugh, Seward, Slidell, Toombs, Trumbull, Wade, and Wilson—18.

The Senate adjourned.

House.—The navy reform bill passed without amendment—159 against 50.

Mr. Orr, from the select committee to examine the alleged combination among members, reported a resolution enlarging the field of their inquiry from the commencement of the present Congress, instead of confining them to measures now pending, and asking that they be empowered to employ a clerk.

Which resolution was adopted.

Mr. Savage moved a suspension of the rules in order to enable him to introduce a resolution making the bill pensioning soldiers of the war of 1812 the special order for the first Tuesday of February.

Which was not agreed to—133 against 85—not two-thirds.

When the House adjourned.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.

The Committee on Territories have prepared a report adverse to the petition of the citizens of Carson Valley, asking for the annexation of that portion of Utah Territory. One of the reasons for the refusal is that California is too large already, and would be made more unwieldy by such an extension of its boundaries. The Committee believe that some measure of wider scope is necessary to cure the evils of which the citizens of Carson Valley complain, namely, Mormon oppressions; and accordingly recommend the passage of a bill now on the calendar for the prevention and punishment of polygamy. This, they add, would remove the moral and political pestilence which makes Utah the scandal of the American people.

The Committee on Territories have also prepared an unfavorable report on the petition for organization of the Territorial Government of Arizona in the Gasden purchase. From statements made to the Committee, it appears that there are from eight to ten thousand inhabitants therein, and the lowest estimate make two or three thousand. Taking the medium there are from five to seven thousand white inhabitants, and this number is deemed too small for a separate Government and will not warrant the large expenditures necessary for that purpose, especially as their interests may be advanced in a more economical way. In lieu thereof, the Committee intend reporting a bill establishing a judicial district south of the Gila, creating the office of Surveyor General, providing for the adjudication of certain land claims, granting donations of land to actual settlers, and prohibiting the introduction of slaves. Legislature of New Mexico. This is all the redress the case requires in the opinion of the Committee.

The House Committee on elections will report in favor of Hall, of Iowa, whose seat is contested by Curtis, Republican.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.

The steamer Cahawba sailed this afternoon for Havana and New Orleans, taking about $100,000 in specie.

The St. Louis Democrat has advices from Kansas of the 7th. The Free State Legislature met at Topeka on the 6th, and, after a short session, adjourned. The next day Gov. Robinson resigned. Lieut. Governor Roberts was the last Territorial Governor to attend. Much dissatisfaction prevailed. The U. S. Deputy Marshal arrested seven of the members under a writ issued by Judge Cato. Over thirty names were enrolled at the Free State Legislature. They will be taken to Tecumseh for trial. The President of the Senate, as acting Governor, would deliver a message, and a determination exists to push work through the Legislature if possible.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 9.

The Democrats in caucus, to-day, nominated Mr. Forney for United States Senator on the first ballot. Sixty members were present and nine absent. Mr. Forney received 35 votes, Mr. Robbins 21, and 4 scattering.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.

The Herald's Washington correspondence of the 9th says: "In the Senate, to-day, Adams, of Mass., presented a petition, numerously signed, praying for a State government in Minnesota. Mr. Douglas will in a few days report, fixing the boundary as provided for in Mr. Rice's bill.

"The member, who Mr. Payne charges as attempting to bribe him, is from New York. He alleges as an excuse, I understand, that Mr. Payne misunderstood him in the matter of the Minnesota land bill."

ALBANY, Jan. 10.

The Harlem train, from New York at 4 P. M. yesterday, ran off the track, near Chatham Four Corners, at 9 o'clock. The accident is supposed to have been occasioned by the displacement of a rail by a heavy freight train, which had just passed. Two rear cars were thrown off, but were fortunately detached from the train; quite a track was made. The stove upset, setting fire to the cars. Mrs. Nichols and Mrs. Schreiver, residing in New York, were injured by being crushed under broken seats. The brakeman was much bruised. Two men, name unknown, and one boy named Dougherty, were burned and bruised. D. D. Wayland, of Albany, was slightly injured.

DETROIT, Jan. 10.

Zachary Chandler, of Detroit, was nominated for United States Senator by a caucus of the Republican members of the Michigan Legislature.

BALDNESS CURED.—For real worth, Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative is undoubtedly unexcelled, both as a restorative of the hair and a cosmetic for the skin. Bald and gray both require its aid, and both speak in its praise, and those who have pimples on the face and know the value of Wood's preparation will not hesitate to use it. To be had of Raymond & Patten, 74 Fourth st. jd dedd6w

COLD WEATHER AND FROST BITES.—Tens of thousands of persons suffer annually with frosted limbs, when they could easily be cured by using Porter's Original Life Liniment.

Eight hundred bottles of this Liniment were sold at the principal depot in this city on Monday, the 5th of January, nearly every bottle of which was bought especially for the cure of frost-bites. This great demand for the Oriental Life Liniment is in consequence of the universal success which has attended its use in the cure of frost-bites. It is a well-known fact that hundreds of old cases, of from ten to fifteen years' standing, have been permanently cured by the use of this valuable remedy.

Sold wholesale and retail at 96 Third street. Also by all druggists and country merchants throughout the Union. jan 7 d&w3d

DISSOLUTION.—The copartnership heretofore existing between the undersigned, under the style of Miller & Tabb, has been dissolved by mutual consent.

The business will hereafter be continued by G. B. Tabb, at their old place of business, corner of Fourth and Market streets. JNO. A. MILLER, G. B. TABB.

To the Editors of the Louisville Journal:

GENTLEMEN: I desire to reply to the card published three days of this week in the Journal and signed by the President and Secretary of the Masonic Hall Company. I desire to do so calmly and kindly, but I do not choose to pass silently over such an attempt to injure me before this community. In the first place, I have not given any contract to finish the plastering of the Masonic Temple by a given date; nor have I given any such date for contract to be made, because of numberless delays or disappointments to other parties, which would have rendered such a measure by the want of materials upon the completion of how work mine dependent. I did propose to take a certain amount to do, and for the execution of the proposition, but they did so after deducting from that excess one-fourth of the amount of the contract. In forbearance in favor on their part, they have also allowed some of their notes, given to me under my proposition, to go to protest. Reports have been circulated among my friends, to my injury, so that I had great difficulty in obtaining the number of men required to enable me to do the work according to my proposition. Its whom these reports were circulated, or for what purpose, I am not at liberty to say. Among the delays to which I am subjected, I was compelled to lose five or six weeks in obtaining such screws to cure my ceiling, and finally to put in big-chains before I could proceed with my work in the main concert-room. The store-rooms have been placed over my head since last September, and I have no fault that they are not ready now. But I must be content for them too. All the plastering has been done, with the exception of the concert-room, since the middle of November. If every one interested there had used the same energy that I did the building would have been done before this. These are the facts of the case so far, for I have more of them; and the public can judge whether or not I deserve the censure so freely bestowed upon me by their card. There is a multitude of sin behind it I don't stop to enumerate, because public will believe I am no better than they are.

LUTHER WILSON.

MEDICAL.

PILES! PILES! PILES!

WE beg to call the attention of the public to the following testimonials, which we know to be true. Our most respectable citizens, Mr. Vaile, the father-in-law of the proprietor of the Courier-des-State Unis and formerly proprietor of the Louisville Journal.

DR. DUPIN—Dear Sir: I hereby certify that I have used your Pile Ointment for near six years; that I have used eighteen bottles of Barnes' Pile Lotion, and everything else I could hear of, but all to no effect; for then did me little or no good. About six months since I commenced using your valuable preparations for Piles, and have the happiness to state that they have had the desired effect, as they have CURED me of this most distressing complaint. I consider this a most valuable, and, for my new eighty years of age, I sincerely recommend them to all afflicted with the above complaint.

Signed P. VAILE, 75 Franklin street.

New York, August 26, 1856.

STATE OF NEW YORK,
City and County of New York, ss:

I, Joseph C. Lawrence, a Commissioner of Deeds in and for the city and county, and a Notary Public in and for the State of New York, do hereby certify that on the day of the date hereof, before me personally came P. Vaile, to me well known, who, being duly sworn to me, did depose and say that the contents of the foregoing certificate, signed by him, are true.

In witness whereof I have subscribed my name as Commissioner of Deeds and Notary Public of the State of New York, and have affixed my Notarial seal at my office, this 26th day of August, 1856.

JOSEPH C. LAWRENCE,
Commissioner of Deeds and Notary Public,
67 Wall street, New York.
