

YOU WROTE:

9) 2 manuals were provided that appear very similar. Please explain.

I REPLY:

I obtained two newer preliminary docs from Tech Pubs and have uploaded them. I noticed they have the same similarities as before. Our Tech Pubs dept explains this as follows:

The QIGs are minimized and multi-language, to be packed in the product. The II's look similar and have many of the same graphics, but are accompanied by more supporting text for those who might want/need more details.

Also, the II's will be provided as an online "Reference" document which will include all the RF6 devices, in a single language document. (Separate, French Canadian, L.A. Spanish and Brazilian Portuguese versions of the Reference document will also be available online.)

For development flexibility, and content review, it has been easier to work with separate device II's than the Reference document with all the devices in one manual.

The manuals have been uploaded as under filenames:

- "RF6FOB EXHIBIT 7-1A INSTALLATION INSTRUCTIONS.pdf"
- "RF6FOB EXHIBIT 7-2A QUICK INSTALL GUIDE.pdf"