

Wireless Computer Interface

Model CM17A
FCC Approved

- Controls up to 256 lights and appliances instantly from your PC, by remote control.
- Connects to your PC's serial port and has a pass-through port so you don't use up a port.
- Works with any X-10 Transceiver (RR501/TM751) or any X-10 Security System, and X-10 Modules.
- Requires X-10 Home Automation software (included).
- Up to 100 ft. range.

The CM17A Computer Interface sends Wireless Radio Frequency (RF) signals from your PC to an X-10 Transceiver (RR501 or TM751) or any X-10 security system base receiver. The receiver then passes the signals onto your house wiring to control lights or appliances around your home. You plug lights and appliances into X-10 Modules (sold separately).

1. Plug the CM17A into your computer's serial port
2. If something was already plugged into this port, plug it into the CM17A.
3. Insert the X-10 disk into drive A and run the Setup program to install the software.
4. Run the X-10 application.
5. A picture of an X-10 remote control appears on your computer monitor, as shown below.

Use the on-screen remote control just like a regular remote control:

6. Click on the Housecode dial to select the same letter as you set on your Transceiver and Modules.
7. Click on the slide switch to select control of modules set to 1 thru 8, or 9 thru 16.
8. Click the corresponding ON or OFF button to turn the appropriate X-10 Module on and off.
