Federal Communications Commission (FCC) Statement

NOTE:

This equipment has been tested and found to comply with the limits for a Class B digital device, pursuant to Part 15 of the FCC rules. These limits are designed to provide reasonable protection against harmful interference to a residential installation. This equipment generates, uses, and can radiate radio frequency energy, and if not installed and used in accordance with the instructions, may cause harmful interference to radio communications. However, there is no guarantee that interference will not occur in a particular installation. If this equipment does cause harmful interference to you or to other users, you may wish to take the following steps to correct the interference. You may have to take one or more of the following measures:

- Reorient or relocate the receiving antenna.
- Increase the separation between the equipment and receiver.
- Connect the equipment into an outlet on a circuit different from that to which the receiver is connected.
- Consult the dealer or an experienced radio/TV technician for help.

WARNING:

A shielded type power cord is required in order to meet FCC emission limits and to prevent interference to the nearby radio and television reception. It is essential that only the shielded power cord be used to connect shielded cables to any I/O devices to this equipment.

You are cautioned that claims or modifications not expressly approved by the party responsible for compliance could void your authority to operate this equipment.

Canadian EMI compliance statement
