

ISO 9000 CONSULTANTS DIRECTORY

Welcome to Quality Digest's 2003 ISO 9000 Consultants Directory, which includes nearly 300 consultants specializing in quality systems requirements and standards.

We've provided basic contact information for each company that replied to our requests for information. Also, many of the companies in this directory have supplied us with a list of the types of systems to which they consult, selected from a predetermined list of eight. These appear in red.

For additional information about each company and its consulting services, visit www.qualitydigest.com/directories. There you'll find a searchable (e.g., by standard, primary industries served or regions of operation) database plus a description of services offered.

We appreciate any feedback you might have on our directories. If you have a suggestion for how we can improve this directory next year, e-mail it to directories@qualitydigest.com.

LEAN OPERATIONS

Answers to Frequently Asked Questions

This booklet will clarify what "lean operations" is and what it can do for your company. It will be distributed to you via e-mail using PDF format unless you specify Microsoft Word.

When Common Cause solutions are mistakenly applied to Special Cause problems (or visa versa), the result can be costly errors for your company. To avoid this, you need to drill into data to accurately identify and better understand the root causes of those variations. Only one software tool helps you do this: HERTZLER'S GAINSEEKER[®] SUITE V7.3. For a free "Variations" White Paper plus more info on how turning data into knowledge improves business outcomes, call us today.

NCSL INTERNATIONALWORKSHOP &
SYMPOSIUMThe Spectrum of Metrology:From the State-of-the-Art to the Everyday*

August 17 - 21, 2003

The 2003 Conference is intended to provide a forum for those involved across the entire spectrum of metrology and will provide a unique opportunity to network with other measurement professionals.

Papers, Panels & Workshops: The Workshop & Symposium offers papers, panels, and workshops that explore this year's Conference theme, and are organized into the following five categories:

► Theoretical ► Applied ► Management ► International ► Quality

Exhibits: See the latest standards, measuring and test equipment, and services available from the top manufacturers and consultants from industry and government. In many cases, you can interact with technical experts from over 150 innovators from around the world. This is a must Conference for keeping up with the latest measurement equipment, technology, and services.

Networking: Meet with key executives, technical experts, and consultants in the field of Metrology in order to gain new information and insight that will assist in solving problems and learning about the latest metrology techniques and procedures. This is an unparalleled opportunity to obtain a fresh perspective, sharpen your skills, and develop new partnerships. In addition to the traditional electrical, mechanical, and physical metrology fields, expand your involvement in new areas such as automotive, chemical, pharmaceutical, and forensics, to name a few.

Tutorials: The 2003 Conference will again include a series of one-day and half-day tutorials on up-to-date topics that will provide new staff, as well as seasoned professionals, much needed training and networking opportunities. Check the web site for a current list of topics and instructors.

Please join us in Tampa, Florida prepared to learn, to teach and to develop new professional relationships with fellow "Metrologists".
