- If you will not use Sero 7 LE frequently, then we recommend that you fully charge and discharge the battery every three months in order to maximize the battery lifespan.
- If you will not use Sero 7 LE frequently, then we recommend that you keep the battery level at around 50 percent in order to maximize the battery life span.

- If Sero 7 LE has not been used for a long period of time, then the battery might be in an over-discharge protection mode and take longer to charge.
- Never remove or insert microSD card while the Sero 7 LE is powered on.
- The manufacturer is not responsible for any radio or TV interference caused by unauthorized modifications to this equipment. Such modifications could void the user's authority to operate the equipment.
- Sero 7 LE North America edition is limited using channel 1-11. This limited operation can be only set by software and was done before the product down from the product line. All the products for North America marketing were embedded this limited before shipping. Customers have no way to choose the channel 12 & 13.

Certification and Compliance

Exposure to Radio Frequency Energy

Sero 7 LE contains radio transmitters and receivers. When on, Sero 7 LE sends and receives radio frequency (RF) energy through its antenna. The Wireless antenna is located on the back of the device, see Understanding Your Sero 7 LE Tablet on page 5 for more details. Sero 7 LE has been tested and meets the SAR (Specific Absorption Rate) exposure requirements for WLAN operation.

Sero 7 LE is designed and manufactured to comply with the limits for exposure to RF energy set by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) of the United State. The exposure standard employs a unit of measurement known as the specific absorption rate, or SAR. The SAR limit applicable to Sero 7 LE set by the FCC is 1.6 watts per kilogram (W/kg). Tests for SAR are conducted using standard operating positions specified by these agencies, with Sero 7 LE transmitting at its highest certified power level in all tested frequency bands. Although SAR is determined at the highest certified power level in each frequency band, the actual SAR level of Sero 7 LE while in operation can be well below the maximum value because Sero 7 LE adjusts its WLAN transmitting power based in part on orientation and proximity to the wireless network. In general, the closer you are to a WLAN Router, the lower the WLAN transmitting power level.

Sero 7 LE has been tested, and meets the FCC and European Union RF exposure guidelines for WLAN operation. When tested at direct body contact, Sero 7 LE's maximum SAR value for each frequency band is outlined below:

FCC SAR

Frequency Band (MHz)	FCC 1g SAR Limit (W/kg)	Highest Value (W/kg)
Model: E2371
2412-2462	1.6

EN SAR

Band	EN 10g SAR Limit (W/kg)	Highest Value (W/kg)
Model: E2371
Wi-Fi 2.4 GHz	2.0

FCC Compliance Statement

This device complies with part 15 of the FCC rules. Operation is subject to the following two conditions: (1) this device may not cause harmful interference, and (2) this device must accept any interference received, including interference that may cause undesired operation.

Information to Users

According to the FCC Part 15.19, 15.21, and 15.105 rules, for this EUT, the instructions or operation manual furnished the user shall include the following or similar statement, placed in a prominent location in the text of the manual:

FCC RF Exposure Information and Statement

The SAR limit of USA (FCC) is 1.6 W/kg averaged over one gram of tissue. Device types Sero 7 LE/E2371 (FCC ID: W9HPADP0005) has also been tested against this SAR limit. The highest SAR value reported under this standard during product certification for use at the properly worn on the body is 0.6186W/kg. This device was tested for typical body-worn operations with the back of the handset kept 0cm from the body. To maintain compliance with FCC RF exposure requirements, use accessories that maintain a 0cm separation distance between the user's body and the back of the handset. The use of belt clips, holsters and similar accessories should not contain metallic components in its assembly. The use of accessories that do not satisfy these requirements may not comply with FCC RF exposure requirements, and should be avoided.

FCC Warning

This device complies with Part 15 of the FCC Rules. Operation is subject to the following two conditions:

(1) This device may not cause harmful interference, and (2) this device must accept any interference received, including interference that may cause undesired operation.

NOTE 1: This equipment has been tested and found to comply with the limits for a Class B digital device, pursuant to part 15 of the FCC Rules. These limits are designed to provide reasonable protection against harmful interference in a residential installation. This equipment generates, uses and can radiate radio frequency energy and, if not installed and used in accordance with the instructions, may cause harmful interference to radio communications. However, there is no guarantee that interference will not occur in a particular installation. If this equipment does cause harmful interference to radio or television reception, which can be determined by turning the equipment off and on, the user is encouraged to try to correct the interference by one or more of the following measures:

- Reorient or relocate the receiving antenna.
- Increase the separation between the equipment and receiver.
- Connect the equipment into an outlet on a circuit different from that to which the receiver is connected.
- Consult the dealer or an experienced radio/TV technician for help.

NOTE 2: Any changes or modifications to this unit not expressly approved by the party responsible for compliance could void the user's authority to operate the equipment.
