14 Warnings and Precautions

n Electronic Device

- l Power off your phone near high-precision electronic devices. The phone may affect the performance of these devices.
- l Pacemaker manufacturers recommend that a minimum separation of 7 inches (20 cm) be maintained between a mobile phone and a pace-maker to avoid potential interference with the pace-maker. To maintain this distance, it is recommended that you use the phone on the opposite ear from your pacemaker and do not carry it in a breast pocket. If you have reason to believe interference is occurring, power off your phone immediately and consult with your physician.
- l Some wireless phones may interfere with some hearing aids. In the event of such interference, consult your service provider or consult with your physician.

n Health Care Facilities

Note the following concerning use of your phone in health care facilities:

- l Do not take your phone into the operating room (OR), intensive care unit (ICU), or coronary care unit (CCU).
- l Do not use your phone in any area of a health care facility where mobile phone use is prohibited.

n Area with Inflammables and Explosives

In any area with flammables and explosives, power off your phone and do not take out, install or charge the battery, to prevent explosion and fire. Areas with inflammables and explosives may include, but are not limited to:

- l Gas stations
- l Areas for storing fuels (such as below deck on a ship)

- l Devices/Vehicles transporting and storing fuels or chemical products
- l Areas containing chemical substances or particles (such as sand, dust, or metal powder) in the air
- l Areas with posted signs warning of "Explosives"
- l Areas advising to "Power off bi-direction wireless equipment"
- l Any Area where it is recommended to turn off the engine of a vehicle.

n Traffic Safety

- l Please observe federal, state, and local laws and regulations concerning phone use while driving.
- l Secure the phone in its holder. Do not place the phone on the seat or other places where it could become loose in a sudden stop or collision.
- l Do not place the phone over the air bag or in the air bag deployment area. The phone may cause injury due to the strong force created by the inflating air bag.
- l Observe all rules and regulations during air travel. When boarding an airplane, power off the phone and take out the battery. In areas where phone use is prohibited, power-off the phone. The radio signal of the phone may interfere with the airplane's navigation or instrumentation systems.

n Storage Environment

- l Do not place magnetic storage media such as magnetic cards and floppy disks near the phone. Electromagnetic radiation from the phone may erase the information stored on them.
- l Do not put your phone, battery, or other accessories in containers with a strong magnetic field, such as an induction oven or a microwave oven. Otherwise, circuit failure, fire, or explosion may occur.

- | Do not leave your phone, battery, or charger in a very hot or cold place. Otherwise, malfunction, fire, or explosion may occur.
- | Do not place sharp metal objects such as pins near the earpiece. The earpiece emits a magnetic field that may attract objects, causing injury.

n Operating Environment

- | The phone, battery, and charger are not water-resistant. Keep them dry. Protect the phone, battery and charge from water or steam. Do not touch the phone with a wet skin. Otherwise, short-circuit and malfunction of the product or electric shock may occur.
- | Do not use the phone in dusty, damp and dirty places or areas with excessive magnetic fields. Otherwise, malfunction of the circuitry may occur.
- | The phone meets applicable radio frequency exposure guidelines when used in the normal when positioned at least 1.5 cm away from the body. When a carry pouch or belt clip is used, it should not contain metallic objects, and the phone should be positioned at the above-stated distance from your body.
- | Do not subject your phone, battery, and charger to serious collision or shock. Otherwise, battery leakage, phone malfunction, overheating, fire, or explosion may occur.
- | If you experience discomfort (such as becoming nauseous or dizzy) after playing games on your phone for long periods of time, consult a physician immediately.
- | During electrical storms, do not use your phone outdoors or while it is charging.
- | Do not touch the antenna when during a call. Touching the antenna may affect call quality and may cause the phone to expend additional power. As a result, the talk time and standby time may be shortened.

- l Use only phone accessories authorized by the manufacturer. Use of unauthorized accessories will void warranty.
- l While using the mobile phone, observe all federal, state, and local laws and regulations, and respect others' privacy and legal rights.

n Child Safety

- l Keep your phone, battery, and charger beyond the reach of children. Do not allow children to use the phone, battery, or charger without adult supervision.
- l Do not allow children to place batteries in their mouths. The electrolyte in the battery is poisonous.
- l Your phone contains small parts with small edges that may cause choking.

n Clearing and Maintenance

- l Before you clean or maintain the phone, power off the phone and disconnect it from the charger. Otherwise, electric shock or short-circuit of the battery or charger may occur.
- l Do not use any chemical detergent, powder, or other chemical agent (such as alcohol or benzene) to clean the phone and the charger. Otherwise, damage or fire could occur. Clean the phone and the charger with a piece of soft damp antistatic cloth.
- l Keep the plug dry during cleaning to prevent fire.
- l If the phone or any of its fittings does not work, return to a local authorized service center for repair.
- l Do not dismantle the mobile phone or accessories. Only an authorized service center is allowed to disassemble the mobile phone. Any disassembly of the mobile phone beyond what is necessary for routine maintenance (such as changing the battery) will void the warranty.

n Environmental Protection

- 1 Please observe all federal, state, and local regulations regarding the disposal of your packaging materials, dead battery and used phone. Do not dispose of dead battery or used phone in municipal waste or by incineration. Otherwise, explosion may occur. Please recycle.
- 1 This HUAWEI device complies with Directive 2002/95/EC on the restriction of the use of certain hazardous substances in electrical and electronic equipment.

n Emergency Call

Your phone can be used to place emergency calls. However, connections in all conditions cannot be guaranteed. Never rely solely on the phone for essential communications.

n Battery

- 1 Use batteries approved by the manufacturer only. Otherwise, malfunction, fire, or explosion may occur.
- 1 Do not dispose of the battery by incineration. Otherwise, the battery might ignite or explode.
- 1 Do not connect the two poles of the battery with conductors such as cables, jewelry, or any other metal. Otherwise, the battery may short-circuit, causing injury.
- 1 Keep mobile phone at a temperature between 0°C and 45°C while the battery is being charged. Store the battery at a temperature between -20°C and 60°C. Storage at temperatures that are too low (especially below 0°C) or too high, will reduce the capacity and life of the battery. More importantly, improper storage may destabilize the battery, rendering it unsafe.
- 1 Do not disassemble the battery or solder the battery poles. Otherwise fluid leakage, overheating, fire, or explosion may occur.

- | If battery leakage, smoke, or strange smells occur, remove battery from phone and keep it away from open flame to avoid fire or explosion. Then take to local authorized service center for repair.
- | If battery fluid contacts your skin or clothing, wash with clean water immediately to avoid skin irritation.
- | If battery fluid gets into eyes, do not rub them. This could cause injury. Wash with clean water and consult a doctor immediately.
- | If battery deformation, color change or abnormal heating occurs during storage or charging, remove battery immediately and properly dispose. Otherwise, battery leakage, overheating, explosion, or fire may occur.
- | Do not force battery into place during installation.
- | Do not remove the battery while the phone is turned on.

n Charger

- | Use only manufacturer-approved chargers. Use of a non-approved charger may cause malfunction, and will also void warranty.
- | Do not short-circuit the charger. Short-circuiting the charger may cause fire or malfunction of the charger.
- | If the power cord is damaged (for example, if the wire is exposed or broken), or the plug becomes loose, stop using the cable at once. Otherwise, electric shock, short-circuit, or fire may occur.
- | Do not use the charger in a dusty or damp environment. Keep the power cord away from excessive heat or flame.
- | Use only the AC-power supply defined in the specifications of the charger. Improper power voltage or current can cause fire or malfunction of the charger.
- | During charging, do not touch the plug, power cord or the charger itself with wet skin. Otherwise, electric shock could occur.

- l If liquid leaks into the charger, remove the plug of the charger from the socket immediately. Otherwise, overheating, fire or other malfunction may occur.
- l The Travel Adaptor for this phone meets UL 1310 safety requirements. Please adhere to the safety instructions per UL guidelines.

n Certification Information (SAR)

THIS DEVICE MEETS THE CANADIAN AND UNITED STATES GOVERNMENTS' REQUIREMENTS FOR EXPOSURE TO RADIO FREQUENCY ELECTROMAGNETIC FIELD.

Your mobile phone is a low-power radio transmitter and receiver. When it is turned on, it emits low levels of radio frequency energy ("RF") (also known as radio waves or radio frequency fields).

Governments around the world have adopted comprehensive international safety guidelines, developed by scientific organizations, like ICNIRP (International Commission on Non-Ionizing Radiation Protection) and IEEE (Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers Inc.), through periodic and thorough evaluation of scientific studies. These guidelines establish permitted levels of radio wave exposure for the general population. The levels include a safety margin designed to assure the safety of all persons, regardless of age and health, and to account for any variations in measurements.

Specific Absorption Rate (SAR) is the unit of measurement for the amount of radio frequency energy absorbed by the body when using a mobile phone. The SAR value is determined at the highest certified power level in laboratory conditions, but the actual SAR level of the mobile phone while operating can be well below the value. This is because the mobile phone is designed to use the minimum power required to reach the network.

All models of Huawei's mobile phones are designed to meet radio frequency exposure guidelines. Before a phone model is available for sale to the public, it must be tested and certified by the FCC that it does not exceed the limit established by the government-adopted requirement for RF exposure. The tests are performed in positions and locations (that is, at the ear and worn on the body) as required by the FCC for each model. For body worn operation, this phone has been tested and meets FCC RF exposure guidelines when the handset is positioned a minimum of 15 mm from the body with an accessory that contains no metal part. Use of other accessories may not ensure compliance with FCC RF exposure guidelines.

The SAR limit adopted for this particular device by the USA and Canada is 1.6 watts/kilogram (W/kg) averaged over one gram of tissue. The highest SAR value reported to the FCC and IC for this device type when tested for use at the ear is 1.378 W/kg, and when properly worn on the body is 0.821 W/kg.

n FCC Statement

This device complies with Part 15 of the FCC Rules. Operation is subject to the following two conditions: (1) this device may not cause harmful interference, and (2) this device must accept any interference received, including interference that may cause undesired operation.

Warning: Changes or modifications made to this equipment not expressly approved by HUAWEI may void the FCC authorization for the user to operate this equipment.

n Proposition 65 Compliance Statement

WARNING: This product contains chemicals known to the State of California to cause cancer and birth defects or other reproductive harm. Wash hands after handling.
