Synchronizing Information

Some applications on your mobile phone give you access to the same personal information that you can add, view, and edit on your computer. When you add, change, or delete your information in any of these applications on the web, the updated information also appears on your mobile phone.

This is made possible through over-the-air data synchronization. The process occurs in the background and does not interfere when you are using your mobile phone. When your phone is synchronizing, a data synchronization icon will be shown in the notification bar.

Managing Your Accounts

You can synchronize contacts, email, and other information on your mobile phone with multiple Google accounts, Microsoft Exchange ActiveSync accounts, or other kinds of accounts, depending on the applications installed on your mobile phone.

For example, you can start by adding your personal Google account, so your personal email, contacts, and calendar are always available. Then you can add an Exchange ActiveSync account from work, so you can read your work email and have your work contacts handy. You can even add multiple Google accounts and other accounts.

Adding an Account

When you add an account, Contacts compares any new contacts that you synchronize to your mobile phone with your existing contacts and attempts to merge duplicates into a single entry in Contacts. This does not merge that data for the accounts themselves; it just presents it as a single contact.

1. Touch  > Settings > Accounts & sync. The screen displays your current synchronization settings and a list of your current accounts.

Note: To add some accounts, you may need to obtain details from an IT support representative about the service to which the account connects. For example, you may need to know the account's domain or server address.

2. Touch Add account.
3. Touch the kind of account to add.
4. Follow the onscreen steps to enter the required and optional information about the account. Most accounts require a username and password, but the details depend on the kind of account and the configuration of the service to which you are connecting.

5. Configure the account. Depending on the kind of account, you may be asked to configure what kind of data you want to sync to the mobile phone, name the account, and other details. When you are finished, the account is added to the list in the Accounts & Sync settings screen.

Depending on how you configured the account, email, contacts, and other information start syncing to your mobile phone.

Removing an Account

You can remove an account to delete it and all information associated with it from your mobile phone, including email, contacts, settings, and so on. You cannot remove some accounts, such as the first account you signed into on the mobile phone, if you attempt to remove certain accounts, all the personal information associated with it will be deleted.

1. On the Accounts & sync settings screen, touch the account to delete.
2. Touch Remove account.
3. Confirm that you want to remove the account.
