WELCOME

Thank you for choosing a cellular phone from Maxon Telecom, Korea's second-largest IT company and a manufacturer with more than two decades of experience in the electronic communication industry.

Your new communication device represents the cutting edge technology of the 21st century, featuring 64k brilliant color display, enhanced messaging service (EMS), polyphonic ring tones and stunning games along with extensive Organizer and Phonebook properties.

Uplink to the Mobile Internet facilitated with WAP and GPRS data connection.

The phone size has always been a Maxon focus point, and the MX-C99 have very modest exterior dimensions and will fit into any shirt pocket or purse.

40 different ring signals, SMS alert signals, and wallpapers along with renamed profiles and caller groups facilitates a high degree of personalization.

You have acquired a phone and a communications companion that will enable you to stay tuned wherever you go.

ABOUT THIS USER GUIDE

This user guide is written only for the MX-C99 cellular handsets. The contents of the user guide follow the same order as the phone menu system goes. Please note that some optional functions may not be shared by all models.

Don't remove the charger by pulling its cable.

IMPORTANT BATTERY INFORMATION

- Don't keep a battery near a fire and attempt to disassemble it.
Use only the battery approved by manufacturer.
- Never touch battery contactors with any metallic object, which lead to battery short circuiting especially when carrying a battery in a pocket.
 - Possible to cause burns due to blasting and hot temperature.
- Don't drop a battery and apply any physical shock to the battery.
 - Malfunction and fire are feasible.
- Please keep a battery out of children's reach and in a dry and cool area.
- Charge a battery and keep it in a room temperature.
 - Extreme temperature prevents full charging and affects battery capacity in a negative way.
- Since a battery is an expendable product, the battery operating time decreases through frequently repeated charge and discharge.
 - A new battery to be purchased when the operating time is reduced halfway.
- Keep the contactors of battery clean and dry.
- Plug out a charger in order to protect the phone when a lightning strikes.
