Glossary

- CSD (Circuit Switched Data)
  Circuit switching is, in other words, the conventional way of transmitting data. Just like a landline telephone, rates are charged by connection time. Maximum connection speeds are 9.6kbps and 14.4kbps, but are affected by mobile phone and provider specifications.
- GPRS (General Packet Radio Service)
  GPRS is a packet data transmission service for mobile phones based on the GSM standard. When using data communications like WAP, there is no need to keep track of connection time as rates are charged by the amount of data (number of packets) transmitted. The service gives you the feeling of a continual connection without the worries of a dial-up connection. The connection speed varies according to mobile phone and provider specifications as well as crowding on the network.
- WAP (Wireless Application Protocol)
  A generic name for the communication protocol used to access the Internet on small wireless mobile terminals such as mobile phones and PDAs.

Customising Keys

Connecting to a PC

You can use your handset with other digital equipment using USB ports or the Bluetooth wireless technology port. For a PC, an optional PC Link Kit (CE-UC32) and the following system environment is required.

PC Hardware

- Intel®-Pentium® 266MHz or faster
- 64MB of available RAM or above
- 60MB of available hard-disk space or above
- CD-ROM drive
- USB 1.1 or Bluetooth interface

Operating System

Microsoft® Windows® 98+Service Pack 1/98 Second Edition/ME/2000+Service Pack 4/XP+Service Pack 1

GSM/GPRS Modem

The GSM/GPRS modem in your handset enables digital equipment to access the Internet. Connect your handset to your PC through USB or Bluetooth interface.

Handset Manager

"Handset Manager" is the software that enables you to manage the communication between the handset and a PC. Using this software, you can control the transmission of pictures, sounds, music, video clips and "Contacts list" entries.

Modem communication is not possible while communicating with the Handset Manager via USB or Bluetooth interface.

Installing Software

The USB cable is necessary for installing the software.

1. Insert the CD-ROM supplied with PC Link Kit into the PC's CD-ROM drive.
   The CD-ROM screen appears.
   If the CD-ROM screen does not appear, double-click [Launcher.exe] in your CD-ROM.
2. Follow the on-screen instructions to complete the installation of the three programs in order.

- For Windows 2000 Professional and Windows XP, install/uninstall programs after logging on as the Administrator.
- Connect the handset to the USB cable by following the on-screen instructions.

For information on software support, refer to the following site:

http://www.sharp-mobile.com/tm/

It is not recommended that you make or answer calls when using the handset as a GSM/GPRS modem, as the operation may be interrupted.

Uninstalling software

When you change handsets or upgrade software, you have to uninstall software by using the Windows function.

Connecting the Handset

USB Connection

When connecting your handset to a PC, you need to select the connection method "PC link." For information on the PC link, refer to "Setting a PC Link Connection" on page 15-151.

Bluetooth Connection

For using the Bluetooth connection, you need to search other Bluetooth capable devices to establish the connection. Place your phone near the other Bluetooth device. Before connecting, refer to the "Setting Bluetooth Connection" on page 15-150 to make sure if the necessary settings for the connection have been done.

To search available devices

1. At the main menu, select in the following order: "Settings" → "Connectivity" → "Bluetooth."
2. Press ⓘ or ⓖ to highlight "Register devices" and press ◯.
   The handset starts searching for devices within 10 metres and the list of available devices appears.
3. Press ⓘ or ⓖ to select one of the devices you wish to establish the connection with and press ◯.
   You can only select one device for pairing.
4. Enter the device passcode and press ◯.

If the setting for the Bluetooth connection has not been turned on before searching, the handset turns on the setting automatically and starts searching available devices.

To activate available devices

You can activate the paired device.

1. At the main menu, select in the following order: "Settings" → "Connectivity" → "Bluetooth."
2. Press ⊙ or ⊙ to highlight "Activate devices" and press ●.
3. Press ⊙ or ⊙ to highlight the device you wish to activate and press ●.
   To inactivate the device, select it again and press ●.

You can save battery power by turning the Bluetooth function off when not in use. Refer to "To activate the Bluetooth" on page 15-150.

To rename a device

1. At the main menu, select in the following order: "Settings" → "Connectivity" → "Bluetooth" → "Activate devices."
2. Press ⊙ or ⊙ to highlight the device you wish to rename.
3. Press ⊖ [Options].
   The "Options" menu appears.
4. Press ⊙ or ⊙ to highlight "Rename" and press ●.
5. Rename the text and press ●.
   For information on how to enter text, refer to "Entering Text" on page 8-51.

To delete a device

To delete a paired device from the list, perform the following operation.

1. At the main menu, select in the following order: "Settings" → "Connectivity" → "Bluetooth" → "Activate devices."
2. Press ⊙ or ⊙ to highlight the device you wish to delete from the list.
3. Press ⊖ [Options].
   The "Options" menu appears.
4. Press ⊙ or ⊙ to highlight "Delete" and press ●.
   The device is deleted.

Troubleshooting

Symptom	Check Points
The handset does not turn on.	● Is the battery pack properly inserted? (page 3-13) ● Is the battery empty? If the alert sounds and you are unable to turn on the power, charge the battery. (page 3-15) ● Did you press ⏻ and hold for at least two seconds to turn on the handset? (page 3-17)
The battery will not charge.	● Is the battery pack properly inserted? (page 3-13) ● Is the handset properly attached to the battery charger? (page 3-15) ● Is the AC charger terminal dirty? (Clean the terminal with a cotton swab.) ● Did you check the battery indicator was animating while charging the battery? ● Did a blackout occur while charging the battery? ● If you have tried all of the above and the battery does not charge, replace the battery. If it still does not charge, there may be a problem with the handset or AC charger. Contact your service provider for maintenance.

Symptom	Check Points
Even when charged, the phone functions stop working.	Is the SIM card inserted correctly? (page 3-15)
Calls cannot be made or received.	● Is there a message “SIM Card Error” on the display? (If the message is displayed when turning on the handset, the SIM card is not supported or is damaged. Contact your service provider.) ● Has any call barring option been set? (page 15-155) ● Has the “Fixed dialling No.” been turned on? (page 15-156) ● Is the handset currently performing data communication? (page 16-164) ● Are you using a prepaid SIM card? (Check the remaining balance.)

Symptom	Check Points
Calls are interrupted or cut off.	● Are you in a location where the signal is poor? (Check the indicator and see if the service is out of range. Move to a location where the radio signal is strong enough to make a call.) ● Is the battery empty? (page 3-16) ● Are there any magnetised objects such as health necklaces on or around you? (Around such objects, the handset terminates the call. Keep the handset away from such objects.)
Keys do not operate.	● Is the power turned on? (page 3-17) ● Has the "Handset Lock" been turned on? (page 15-154)
The other party's voice is too loud or distorted.	Adjust the earpiece volume. (page 15-145)
The ring tone does not sound.	● Has the ring volume been set to "Silent?" (page 15-136) ● Has the "Silent" or "In car" mode been enabled? (page 15-136)

Symptom	Check Points
The PIN code or PIN2 code is rejected.	● Did you enter the correct code (four to eight digits)? (page 3-21) ● Have you made three unsuccessful attempts at entering the code? (After 3 attempts, the protection lock prevents handset operation.) ● If you cannot remember the correct PIN code, contact your service provider.
The SIM card is locked.	If supported, try entering the PUK code (eight digits) provided by your service provider. (If the attempt is successful, enter the new PIN code and confirm that your handset is operational again. Otherwise, contact your dealer.)
The display is difficult to read.	● Try adjusting the backlight brightness for the display. (page 15-130). ● If the external display is difficult to read, try adjusting the backlight contrast. (page 15-134)
The network service cannot be accessed.	● Confirm whether your account has been registered. (Contact your service provider to confirm whether your account has been registered.) ● Are you in a location where you can receive the service?

Symptom	Check Points
The MMS message service cannot be accessed.	Does your service provider support the MMS message service? Contact your service provider to confirm whether they support the service and that the correct settings for the MMS message service have been performed on your handset.
The E-mail service cannot be accessed.	Have you made the necessary settings for the E-mail service? (page 15-160) If you still cannot get access after checking the settings, contact your service provider to identify the problem.
No “Contacts list” entry is displayed.	● Which memory did you select when you entered the entries? Confirm whether “Handset,” “SIM” or “SIM+Handset” was selected. (page 9-55) ● Have you set the “View Groups” setting correctly? (page 9-63)

Symptom	Check Points
The handset cannot be connected to a PC.	● In case of resource conflicts of modem driver, please reinstall the driver to resolve this problem. (page 16-164) ● The handset is required at the time of installing USB or modem driver. (page 16-164) ● The current driver installed on the PC is applicable only to the handset used at the time of installation. ● When you use another handset, you must uninstall existing USB and modem driver, then reinstall USB and Modem driver again. (page 16-165)
