

NOTICE OF INTEGRATED RESOURCE PLAN FILING AND PUBLIC MEETINGS

On July 1, 2019, Northern States Power Company, doing business as Xcel Energy, filed its 2020–2034 Upper Midwest Energy Plan, also known as its Integrated Resource Plan or IRP with the Minnesota Public Utilities Commission (the Commission). Xcel Energy is required to file an IRP with the Commission that outlines how it plans to generate electricity for the next 15 years. Xcel Energy is committed to continue delivering clean, reliable energy to customers in the Upper Midwest while also keeping bills low. Xcel Energy’s Upper Midwest Energy Plan outlines how the company plans to reduce carbon emissions by more than 80 percent by 2030. The plan proposes to close all of the company’s coal units in the Upper Midwest a decade ahead of schedule, ensure reliable, affordable energy by extending the use of nuclear energy at the Monticello plant, use cleaner natural gas, and increase wind and solar energy installations. The plan also calls to build on energy efficiency programs and work with customers on new demand response options to help manage energy load at times of high system usage.

The Commission oversees the resource planning process and makes a final determination on Xcel Energy’s plan after input from stakeholders, government agencies, and the public. Now that Xcel Energy has filed its plan, interested stakeholders, members of the public, and state agencies can review the plan and file comments with the Commission. The Commission will then consider input from these groups, and at a public meeting, will approve, change, or reject Xcel Energy’s plan.

In reviewing a proposed resource plan, the Commission evaluates whether the resource options and plans are able to: (1) maintain or improve the adequacy and reliability of service, (2) keep the customers’ bills as low as possible, given regulatory and other constraints, (3) minimize adverse socioeconomic and environmental effects, (4) enhance the utility’s ability to respond to changes affecting its operations, and (5) limit the risk of adverse effects on customers and the utility that the utility cannot control.

PUBLIC MEETINGS

Based on the high level of interest in Xcel Energy’s plan, the Commission has decided to hold public meetings. Administrative Law Judge Jessica Palmer-Denig will hold five public meetings regarding the Xcel Energy’s Upper Midwest Energy Plan. You are invited to attend these public meetings and provide input. You do not need to be represented by an attorney.
