EDITOR'S NOTE

TV Without Sports!

I'm writing this letter as the world crisis has moved to a pandemic status and nationwide cancellations are blanketing us. As we all do our part to create social distancing and help stop the spread of the coronavirus, we extend our heartfelt wishes to all of you that you remain healthy. Now, more than ever, you can turn to TV to keep you informed and entertained. There are plenty of new series, original movies and specials this month to keep you occupied (and indoors). With just about every sports league and live event being postponed, many network schedules (and series' productions) are in flux. We've made some quick changes to the magazine to address this:

- Program listings for ESPN, Golf Channel and networks that carry sports are going to be in flux, so please keep that in mind. None of their schedules were finalized at the time of printing, so we've removed most of the Sports listings. The Sports section will return as soon as play resumes.
- We've added a few more Puzzles to pass the time.

As for what's to look forward to this month on TV ... EPIX introduces the lavish, six-episode drama Belgravia; The Walking Dead introduces the franchise's latest spinoff; Penny Dreadful and Who Wants to Be a Millionaire are back; the Lifetime original on the Clark Sisters is amazing; and much, much more.

Take care and stay healthy!

📺 Earth-Friendly TV

Given the situation and concern with climate change and the use of single-use products, all TV programs should become more responsible by only filming actors using reusable cups, not disposables. They should lead by example. I cringe every time I watch actors carrying a tray of disposable coffee cups. – Marti

📺 Bringing Back A Character From The Dead

Without a doubt, I'd bring back Rayna James, played beautifully by Connie Britton on Nashville! She created a wonderful, charismatic character who lit up every scene she was in. The show wasn't the same without her. What a magnetic performance as a lover, mother, businesswoman and country pop star! – Enid

QUESTION OF THE MONTH:

Who do you want to see on the cover of this magazine?

Email us at dishletters@ntvbmedia.com

📺 Bring Back These TV Shows!

- The show I would love to bring back is Marvel's Agent Carter. I really really miss that show and, worst of all, it ended on a cliffhanger. If I could bring back a second show, it would be Dirk Gently's Holistic Detective Agency. I enjoyed the books, and the show was weird enough to really appeal to me. – Mike

- I would bring back Elementary on CBS. – Whitney

- If I could bring back one TV show, it would be The New Adventures of Old Christine. No question. I've seen some quality comedies in my time, and this is up there with the best of them. It could have been on another 20 years and it wouldn't have been enough for me.

– Karen

- I have a bunch I would bring back: Gotham, American Crime, Bates Motel, Cold Case, Last Comic Standing, Medium, 2 Broke Girls, Third Watch, Everybody Loves Raymond, Jack & Bobby, Touched by an Angel and NYPD Blue. – Patricia

- The TV show I'd like to bring back – easy: The Kids Are Alright. No question. I'm still fuming over the cancellation.

– Elaine

- Battlestar Galactica with the Edward James Olmos/Mary McDonnell cast. The Ron Moore version. – Mary Ann

- The Nightly Show With Larry Wilmore and My So-Called Life. – CZ

- Fawlty Towers. I can't picture it working without John Cleese. Classic British comedy. – Val

📺 Bah Humbug!

After watching FX's so-called version of A Christmas Carol in December, I've come to realize that when someone says they're "reimagining" a beloved classic, what they're really doing is twisting and distorting it so that it's barely recognizable. Shame on you FX for corrupting the Christmas story that so many others have treated with reverence. Whoever dreamed up that garbage deserves to be unmercifully haunted by the ghost of Charles Dickens! – Deirdre

Writer Steven Knight always was forthcoming on his retelling, as he shared with us the following: "What I wanted to do was to not set out to deliberately vandalize what the story is. I know how precious it is to a lot of people. It's precious to me, as well, and it's part of our culture. ... What I wanted to do is to deepen it and give it maybe a resonance ... [to] dig into what's there and find out some of the things that a contemporary audience would be interested in. The main one is, "Why is Scrooge like this?"

Congratulations!

LET'S GO CRAZY: THE GRAMMY SALUTE TO PRINCE

Dearly beloved, we are gathered here today to celebrate this thing called Prince's life – with a spectacular salute to the legendary 38-time Grammy nominee and seven-time Grammy Award-winning singer, songwriter, musician, actor and producer. From his towering achievement with 1984's Purple Rain to his unprecedented influence on music, Let's Go Crazy: The Grammy Salute to Prince (CBS, Tuesday, April 21) will be a memorable evening. The show includes a remarkable collection of artists across genres and generations, including Prince protégée Sheila E., Alicia Keys, Morris Day and the Time, Beck, Foo Fighters, John Legend, Coldplay's Chris Martin, Mavis Staples, St. Vincent, Common, the Revolution, and Earth, Wind & Fire.

MODERN FAMILY

Say Farewell To The Family That Changed TV Families Forever.

By Ryan A. Berenz

The misadventures of the Pritchett-Dunphy-Tucker clan come to a close after 11 seasons, with an hourlong series finale (ABC, Wednesday, April 8) sure to tug at the heartstrings. The groundbreaking sitcom, winner of five consecutive Primetime Emmys for Outstanding Comedy Series (2010-14), broke down stereotypes and made inroads for inclusiveness with its humorous and honest portrayal of 21st-century family dynamics.

Jesse Tyler Ferguson, who plays the Mitch half of the fan favorite Mitch & Cam couple, thought the show's seamless integration of the pair in the family from the start was key to winning over Middle America. "[Mitch and Cam] were at this moment in time when they're bringing home a child and becoming new parents for the first time – it's something that's incredibly relatable to so many people, gay and straight and nonbinary," Ferguson says. "I think it was revolutionary back then, and I don't think it's as revolutionary now, which I think is a great thing."

As hard as it is for fans to say goodbye, it's going to be an emotional farewell for the close-knit cast that's bringing an end to a once-in-a-lifetime experience.

Sofia Vergara found her breakout role in Gloria Delgado-Pritchett, and it turned her into a household name and one of TV's most bankable stars. "I don't think I [am ever] in my lifetime going to be able to get a group of people like this, to be in a show like this with this success," she says. "So it's a very high standard now. I don't think anything is going to be as good or better than Modern Family."

5 Questions

With COYOTE PETERSON Of
Animal Planet's "Brave The Wild" By Taylor Neumann

With over 15 million subscribers, the YouTube channel Brave Wilderness follows Coyote Peterson as he travels around the world and encounters all manner of animals, from creepy and crawly to furry and fierce. Peterson has a new show on Animal Planet, Coyote Peterson: Brave the Wild (Tuesday, March 31 and April 7). "The real thematic that runs through every episode is to introduce people to the weird, bizarre creatures that they possibly didn't know exist," said Peterson. We caught up with him for our "5 Questions."

1 Where did your interest in animals start?

My mom is super into the outdoors. She would actually travel my sister and I across the United States every summer. ... That really opened my eyes to the different creatures, from mammals to reptiles, amphibians, insects, arachnids – everything that was out there, I was getting up close with at a very early age. [From] that stemmed my love for adventure.

2 What are three things you need to bring every time you go on an excursion?

My hiking boots. If you're going to be out there for hours or days at a time, it's important to make sure that your feet are happy. My whole adventure kit that I carry in my backpack – whether it's knives, or flashlights, or trail cameras – is also incredibly important. ... And my leather cowboy hat has become an iconic image within the realm of the Brave Wilderness universe. So I never embark on the adventure without my lucky hat.

3 Do you have a favorite animal movie you can watch over and over?

My top three favorite movies of all time would be Jaws, Jurassic Park and the first Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles movie from 1990.

4 Tell us about a crazy moment from this season of Brave the Wild.

We did an episode in South America on green anacondas, one of the largest snake species on the planet. I had to enter into the den of what was rumored to be the largest anaconda in the world. Her name is Big Mama. ... I was completely swallowed by the environment, completely alone, holding the camera myself, to find out if she was in her den.

5 Did you have pets growing up?

My mom would oftentimes let me catch and keep turtles or snakes or frogs for a couple of days, and then we would release them back off into the wild. My mom did have a tarantula. Growing up, it was just always this famous thing, that my mom had a tarantula. So [that] probably explains a lot about me.

Recently Renewed Shows

One of TV's longest currently running daytime dramas, NBC's Days of Our Lives, is extending its legacy with a Season 56 renewal. ... The Good Doctor, ABC's most-watched show this season and the No. 1 show on Monday nights, has been picked up for Season 4. ... Attention, shoppers — NBC's Superstore will be back for Season 6. ... Also at NBC, the James Spader-led drama The Blacklist has been renewed for Season 8, while Dick Wolf's three Chicago series — Chicago Fire, Chicago Med and Chicago P.D. — as well as Wolf's Law & Order: Special Victims Unit have all received three-season renewals. ... Jamie and Corinne Foxx will return to FOX for a fourth season of the game show Beat Shazam. ... TBS' animated comedy American Dad! has been renewed for two more seasons; when the next season returns this year, it will include the show's 300th episode.

IN THE WORKS

By Taylor Neumann

UPCOMING AT FOX

Swoosie Kurtz (Mike & Molly) has joined Call Me Kat, the upcoming FOX comedy starring Mayim Bialik as Kat, an unmarried 39-year-old woman who opens a Kat Café in Kentucky. Kurtz will play Kat's mother, Sheila, who expects more from her daughter and takes Kat's relationship status as her own personal failure. The show is executive produced by Bialik and Jim Parsons, her costar on The Big Bang Theory. ... FOX has also given a pilot order to a show about students remaking the 1985 movie ① The Goonies.

The project, which is currently untitled, follows three students in a struggling town who decide to re-create, shot for shot, one of their favorite movies, inspiring the town and serving as a love letter to cinema.

IT'S SHOWTIME

The No. 1 novel of 2018 is heading to Showtime. ② The President Is Missing, based on the book by Bill Clinton and James Patterson, will star David Oyelowo (Selma) as the hapless vice president who unexpectedly becomes president halfway into his term and is thrown into a major crisis. The show will also feature Paul Adelstein (Scandal) as the chief of staff. ... Showtime also gave a straight-to-series order to First Ladies, a drama starring Oscar winner ③ Viola Davis as former first lady Michelle Obama. The show will examine the often world-changing decisions first ladies have made over the years, with Season 1 focusing on Obama, Eleanor Roosevelt and Betty Ford.

ABC PILOTS

John Corbett (Sex and the City) is set as a lead in Rebel, a drama pilot at ABC starring Katey Sagal based on the life of Erin Brockovich. Sagal's Annie "Rebel" Bello works as a legal advocate without a law degree, fighting for the causes she's passionate about. Corbett will play her husband, Grady, who despite his bad reputation tries to be a good guy. ... ④ Odette Annable (House) will star in ABC's pilot thirtysomething(else), a sequel to the 1987-91 series thirtysomething. Annable will play a grownup Janey Steadman, daughter of Hope and Michael (played in the original series by Mel Harris and Ken Olin, reprising their characters in the sequel).

RETURNING TO TV

CBS is plotting a comeback for one of its flagship shows. A CSI: Crime Scene Investigation limited series is in the early stages, in honor of the show's 20th anniversary, with intent to feature the show's original cast members including William Petersen and Jorja Fox. The show began in 2000 and ran for 15 seasons, launched three spinoffs and concluded with a two-hour movie finale in 2015. ... Netflix has given a 10-episode order to White Stork, a political thriller starring ⑤ Tom Hiddleston as James Cooper, whose run for Parliament is interrupted by the discovery of explosive secrets in his past. Hiddleston won a Golden Globe for his role on AMC's The Night Manager and has recently been seen as Loki in the Avengers movies.

YANKED!: Recently Canceled Shows

Hawaii Five-0 finishes a 10-season run on CBS with its series finale April 3. ... It's a shame about Ray. Showtime cut Liev Schreiber's Ray Donovan off after seven seasons. ... Tyler Perry's If Loving You Is Wrong picked a right time to end. The fifth and final season is currently airing on OWN. ... A plan to reboot football drama The Game on The CW got sacked. ... Netflix's The Crown will abdicate its throne after Season 5, likely in 2021. ... Also at Netflix, Jenna Dewan's romantic musical drama Soundtrack got derailed after Season 1, and figure-skating drama Spinning Out was put on ice after only one season. ... Daytime syndicated talk show The Mel Robbins Show couldn't talk its way into getting a renewal for Season 2.

Take Your DISH Outdoors!

By Colleen Skells

The weather is getting warmer, which means that many of us are getting ready to resume the activities we love to do outside. Whether you camp, fish or plan trips in your RV or to your cabin, you can take your TV service with you with DISH Outdoors. Here's how you can get started!

Needed Equipment

You'll need a few items to take your service with you to the great outdoors, including a:

- Mobile dish (take a look at the comparison chart to the right to choose the one that's right for you)
- Compatible DISH receiver
- TV
- Coaxial cable to connect your mobile dish to your DISH receiver
- Video cable, such as HDMI or RCA cables, to connect your DISH receiver to your TV

Cost/How To Order

The cost of a mobile satellite solution varies depending on equipment type. Visit mydish.com/outdoors to see available options and to purchase your desired equipment. You can also give us a call at 1-800-970-9021, and we'll set you up with everything you need!

Setup

Once you have your compatible DISH receiver, you'll need to turn it on, which you can do by visiting mydish.com/myequipment. Log in (or create an account if needed), select "Turn Receivers On/Off" and then follow the onscreen instructions. You can also do this in the MyDISH app. In the app, select "Account," and then scroll down to and select "Equipment." Select "Manage Equipment," and then follow the onscreen instructions. Once you're done using the receiver, follow these instructions to turn it off so you're not charged when you're not using it.

Before you hit the road, visit mydish.com/support/dishoutdoors to get a checklist of everything you'll need to take with you. There, you can also download a lineup card to find channels and orbitals specific to your programming package.

Once you're at your destination, connect your mobile dish, receiver and TV following the instructions included with the mobile dish. When positioning your mobile dish, make sure it has a clear view of the southern sky. Once connected, power on your receiver and TV, and then follow the onscreen setup instructions to start watching TV.

If desired, you can check out the helpful step-by-step videos going over the setup process at mydish.com/support/dishoutdoors.

EARTH DAY TURNS 50

By Jeff Pfeiffer

On Wednesday, April 22, 1970, the first Earth Day celebrations took place around the United States. Since then, this annual event that celebrates our planet and brings attention to the threats facing it, and the ways we can protect it, has spread globally, with people and groups celebrating in various ways.

As Earth Day reaches its 50th anniversary on April 22 this year, some TV networks will be celebrating with programming about Earth and its inhabitants, and the importance of preserving them. Here are some highlights.

THE STORY OF PLASTIC

April 22 on Discovery Channel

Grammy nominee and environmental activist Jackson Browne is an executive producer of this film airing in honor of Earth Day. It looks at the man-made crisis of plastic pollution and the effect it has on the health of our planet.

ALASKA ANIMAL RESCUE

April 11 on Nat Geo Wild

This series follows heroes from three renowned Alaskan conservation centers as they respond to animals in need.

AMERICAN EXPERIENCE: "THE MAN WHO TRIED TO FEED THE WORLD"

April 21 on PBS

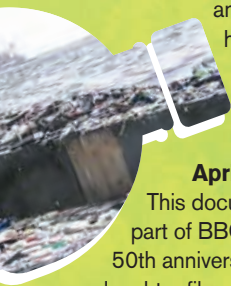

This installment of the docuseries explores the life of 1970 Nobel Peace Prize winner Norman Borlaug, who tried to solve world hunger and led the "Green Revolution."

JUNGLE ANIMAL RESCUE

April 18 on Nat Geo Wild

In India, a team of conservationists and vets work to rescue animals in distress and find a way for the country's people and wildlife to coexist in harmony.

SHE WALKS WITH APES

April 22 on BBC America

This documentary premieres as part of BBC America's Earth Day 50th anniversary schedule. Father-daughter filmmaking team Mark and Caitlin Starowicz tell the story of three women – Jane Goodall, Dian Fossey and Biruté Galdikas – who embarked on lifelong journeys to live with humanity's closest living relatives, the great apes.

Jane Goodall

CLIMATE CHANGE – THE FACTS

April 22 on PBS

Iconic natural historian Sir David Attenborough hosts this hourlong special that examines the startling impact of climate change and poses potential solutions.

EARTH DAY 50TH ANNIVERSARY FILM MARATHON

April 22 on TCM

Turner Classic Movies might seem like a surprising place to find Earth Day content. But it makes sense if you think back to the many films from the past century of moviemaking that show how concern for the natural world is not a new concept.

As an example of that, TCM's primetime lineup of environmental-themed films airing on Earth Day includes two stunning documentary shorts made over 80 years ago – The Plow That Broke the Plains (1936) and The River (1938). Plow is a contemporary account of how certain farming practices exacerbated the Dust Bowl. The River similarly shows how human activity led to catastrophic Mississippi River flooding.

Also in TCM's lineup is the Oscar-winning 1953 documentary The Sea Around Us, based on famed marine biologist Rachel Carson's book; the beautiful 1982 experimental film Koyaanisqatsi, whose title is a Hopi word meaning "life out of balance" and which stunningly contrasts the serenity of nature with humanity's frantic pace; and the Oscar-winning 2006 climate-change documentary An Inconvenient Truth. Check the listings section for more details.

Koyaanisqatsi

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC CHANNELS EARTH DAY 50TH ANNIVERSARY PROGRAMMING

April 22

National Geographic's family of networks – National Geographic Channel (NGC), Nat Geo Wild and Nat Geo Mundo – are airing separate lineups of special programming all day long on Earth Day. Much of it is previously aired programs that are worth revisiting, but the primetime schedule features two standout premieres:

BORN WILD: EARTH DAY LIVE

(simulcast on NGC & Nat Geo Wild)

Produced with ABC News and hosted by Robin Roberts, this hourlong live global telecast (interspersed with prerecorded, "cinematically sweeping" segments) follows correspondents around the world as they witness and celebrate the diversity of baby animals and their families, and the challenges facing their habitats.

JANE GOODALL: THE HOPE

(simulcast on NGC, Nat Geo Wild & Nat Geo Mundo)

Picking up where Nat Geo's award-winning 2017 documentary Jane left off, this two-hour special highlights pioneering primatologist Dr. Jane Goodall's four-decade legacy of advocacy and leadership on behalf of chimpanzees and humanity.

BELGRAVIA

What Goes On Behind Closed Doors In High-Society London?

By Ileana Rudolph

Downton Abbey creator Julian Fellowes returns to American TV with Belgravia, a lavish six-episode series that once again entertainingly chronicles British society in an era of change. Adapted by Fellowes from his bestselling 2016 novel, the action takes place in the 1840s in London's fashionable new Belgravia section, where, for the first time, mansions of wealthy tradesmen and the aristocracy stand cheek by jowl. "It's the extraordinary period of early Victorian England on its way to dominating the world," Fellowes explains in a phone call.

Many Downton tropes can be found: strong matriarchs with sharp minds and matching tongues, young women fighting against family expectations, transgressive class-crossing romances, envious servants, resentful lords, and, of course, sumptuous balls where exquisitely costumed mostly titled men and women flirt and plot.

The series opens with a flashback to 1815 at one such legendary gala: the Duchess of Richmond's Brussels ball, famously interrupted by news that Napoleon was closing in on the city. The alarm drives Gen. Wellington's officers attending the fete off to fight at Quatre Bras while still in their dress uniforms. Though the ensuing Battle of Waterloo results in a British victory, it is a tragic loss involving one of those young soldiers and his "unsuitable" beloved that sets Belgravia's plot in motion.

"This is a story with secrets and lies, love and hate, deceit and intrigue," previews producer Colin Wratten, on set in Scotland in late June. "There's also blackmail and attempted murder," he adds, chatting within a grand, 180-room manor, one of many historic U.K. sites used in the series. Today, the house's glorious country views are hidden as it doubles for a London manse, in which an opulent billiards room is filled with gentlemen in elegant waistcoats debating about how to discipline one of their own class who has behaved indubitably badly.

At the heart of the tale are two families on opposite sides of the social divide who happen to be neighbors in Belgravia. Peregrine and Caroline Bellasis (Tom Wilkinson, John Adams, and Harriet Walter, Downton's Lady Shackleton), a.k.a. Lord and Lady Brockenhurst, are powerful members of society. Their commoner counterparts are James and Anne Trenchard (Philip Glenister, Life on Mars, and Tamsin Greig, Episodes), whose fortune derives from supplying Wellington's army with hard-to-find provisions.

More than proximity binds these disparate characters. Each couple had lost a beloved child many years earlier. The Bellasis' son Edmund (Jeremy Neumark Jones, The Last Post) perished at Quatre Bras and the Trenchards' daughter Sophia (newcomer Emily Reid) died after delivering his baby, secretly given away to save her reputation.

"The Trenchards are harboring this secret, which, if discovered, could endanger their status in society," explains Glenister. Reputation is paramount to the lowborn James, who desperately wants to be accepted by the nobles, while his plainspoken wife doesn't give a toss about hobnobbing with the haughty.

"The main arc of the show," notes Fellowes, "is the relationship between the unsinkable Anne and Caroline, who may be a snob, but not a fool." When Anne first encounters Lady Brockenhurst at a social function to which she's rarely invited, "she sees a woman broken by the same grief of losing a child," Greig says. "Because of her compassion, she cannot keep her long-held secret. That's the catalyst when everything falls apart."

In a Dickensian flourish, into this web of deceit and simmering scandal arrives a charming, enterprising vicar's son named Charles Pope (newcomer Jack Bardoe), who's in London to finance his cotton business. Surprising to many, both James and Caroline become investors in his firm and supporters of his introduction into society. The popularity of this new fellow leaves the presumptive heirs of both families befuddled and perturbed.

The Trenchards' surviving offspring Oliver (Richard Goulding, Brexit) already feels dismissed by James. "Unlike his self-made father, he has no instinct for business," Goulding explains. Though, like James, his dissatisfied wife Susan (Alice Eve, Bombshell) "craves a place in high society," he adds, "Oliver only wants to run the family's country estate, hunt, fish and — [though they're childless so far] — raise a family." His jealousy about this perceived new rival leads to shameful decisions.

Joining Oliver's growing dismay: Peregrine's heir John Bellasis (Adam James), an indolent, womanizing schemer. He's keeping an eye on the interloper's warm relationship with his aunt and with his own reluctant fiancée, the independent-minded Maria Grey (Ella Purnell, Sweetbitter). All this while John is seducing Susan, who has an agenda of her own. "She may seem manipulative," says Eve, "but her husband keeps calling her barren, and in the end, she wants what a woman wants ... a child." However she can get one.

There's another element that likens Belgravia to Downton Abbey, Fellowes offers. "It's a grownup entertainment, but one that viewers will be able to watch with their grandmother and their daughter and all can enjoy it." So settle back, pour a cup of Earl Grey tea and indulge in some delicious British diversion.

Meet Some Of The Cast Of EPIX's Lavish Six-Part Series

The Trenchard Family

Tamsin Greig (left) as Anne Trenchard and

Alice Eve (right) as her daughter-in-law Susan Trenchard

Tamsin Greig said within a week of filming she was already under the care of an osteopath due to the corsets “because the costumes, which are so beautiful and many of them handmade for the show, are utterly authentic and detailed to the period. There’s no way to get the silhouette of the 1840s except by wearing a corset that would’ve been worn. ... What’s interesting is that from the flashback scenes in 1815 it’s a different corset because it’s an empire line, so you just need to see the top-up goods and the waist is looser. As you go through that century into the Industrial Revolution ... the women are getting more and more and more constrained.”

Philip Glenister as James Trenchard

British star Philip Glenister is no stranger to period pieces, he tells: “I’ve learned that I tend to do a costume drama once every 10 years. I remember doing Vanity Fair in about 1998, and then Cranford was around 2007 and then Belgravia was 2019. So I won’t be doing a costume drama presumably for another 10 years, I’m guessing.” You’ll also recognize Glenister for his work on Life on Mars.

Richard Goulding as James and Anne Trenchard’s son Oliver Trenchard

Richard Goulding (The Windsors) stars as the Trenchards’ only son, who is married to Susan (above), a woman who is not interested in being constrained by the family she’s married into or the rules of society.

The Bellasis Family

Tom Wilkinson as
Peregrine Bellasis
(Lord Brockenhurst)
and Harriet Walter as
Caroline Bellasis
(Lady Brockenhurst)

The Bellasises are aristocrats with a great sense of superiority. "People who love Downton Abbey, I think there's a lot of the same comedy of manners and social observation," tells executive producer Gareth Neame. "There's a mystery at the heart of it. It's a story about this couple and how they deal with the big tragedy in their lives and the repercussions of all of that."

On The Outskirts

Ella Purnell as Lady Maria Grey

Ella Purnell laughs as she shares, "There's a joke in my family that I'm going to make a career out of playing other people's younger selves. I played the younger Keira [Knightley], I've played the younger Angelina [Jolie] and more recently, the young Margot Robbie." In Belgravia, she stars as Lady Maria Grey, an eligible young woman whose mother is gunning to see matched with a family of prominence.

Belgravia

London's Belgravia almost serves as its own character in the series. At the end of the Napoleonic Wars, there was a period of tremendous prosperity for Britain. At that time, it was determined to turn a portion of land on the edge of London into a city for the most wealthy. This area attracted both old money and new fortunes, and remains among the most elite areas to live in greater London today.

PENNY DREADFUL: CITY OF ANGELS

Daniel Zovatto and Nathan Lane

John Logan Has Crafted A “Spiritual Descendant” Of His Original Dark Showtime Drama. By Jeff Pfeiffer

John Logan's (Skyfall) 2014-16 Showtime series Penny Dreadful was a delightfully dark tribute to the “penny dreadfuls” of its title – the cheap 19th-century fiction publications that dealt with often lurid subject matter. Befitting that, Logan's original series was set in Victorian-era London and featured iconic literary creations of that time, from Frankenstein and his monster to Dracula.

After Logan completed what he planned for Penny Dreadful, Showtime told him they wanted to work with him again if he had another idea. Eventually, an idea did come to Logan for a story that, while far removed from the time and place of the first series, was closely related enough in terms of subject matter and presentation that it could be considered a “spiritual descendant” of the original.

That idea has blossomed into Penny Dreadful: City of Angels. With all-new characters and storylines, this series leaves London's Gothic Victorian darkness for sunny 1938 Los Angeles.

Logan's latest creation again boasts a strong ensemble cast, including Nathan Lane, Natalie Dormer, Daniel Zovatto, Adriana Barraza and Rory Kinnear, the only returning cast member from the original.

Like its predecessor, City of Angels is set during an era that featured plenty of what by then was known as “pulp fiction”

– cheap magazines with sensationalistic stories like detective yarns and horror tales. This series incorporates similar themes in its own plotline that begins when a grisly murder shocks L.A. The investigation leads into an epic story that reflects the city's history while also introducing a supernatural aspect.

“The more I thought about this idea,” Logan explains, “the more I thought it could fit under the rubric of Penny Dreadful, [and that] the sort of melodramatic and pulpy plot elements that also fed the first series could feed this series.”

While the supernatural in City of Angels isn't linked to characters as famous as Dracula, it is intriguing. It comes from Mexican-American folklore in the form of Santa Muerte, a personification of death usually portrayed as a skeletal woman in a robe, a figure familiar to anyone who has seen a Day of the Dead celebration.

“As much as [City of Angels] is its own beast with its own DNA,” Logan continues, “the same creative vision [of Penny Dreadful] is behind it. ... To carry that positive energy forward in this show was gratifying for me.”

The actors were also grateful to work with Logan. “The writing is extraordinarily brilliant,” raves Lane, who plays a detective investigating the murder. “It's [like] Raymond Chandler meets Rod Serling, and it's such a refreshing take on the detective genre.”

THE WALKING DEAD: WORLD BEYOND

Meet The First Generation Of Children Raised In This Postapocalyptic World.

By Barb Oates

POSTPONED
DUE TO COVID-19

It appears that while Daryl, Carol and the rest of our favorite survivors from The Walking Dead have been warring with Alpha and the Whisperers, a much more progressive community exists not all that far from them. The juggernaut series expands its universe this month with the debut of The Walking Dead: World Beyond, which follows the first generation raised in this postapocalyptic world who have grown up in Nebraska with far better comforts, somewhat naive to the world outside their guarded walls.

Two sisters, Hope (a mischief) and Iris (the brains), played by Alexa Mansour and Aliyah Royale, set out with a handful of friends to brave this dangerous, zombie-filled world, ultimately heading east in search of their father. They are pursued by both those who wish to protect them and those who wish to harm them, and we're told that in the end some will become heroes and some will become villains. Here Mansour gives us some insights on the new series.

Who is Hope and where do we start with her?

Alexa Mansour: I don't want to call her the degenerate of the family, but that's definitely the way that she sees herself. She doesn't really care about rules. She's living life on her own terms ... taking it day by day ... even if it means getting in trouble and being looked at as the spawn of Satan by her peers.

Where does that attitude come from?

She lost her mom, and her dad's not really around right now. So, for her, it's, "What's the point?" She knows what's going on in the outside world. She's well aware that there's no cure.

So, for her, it's just being realistic: "I'm not going to keep pretending that everything's fine like everyone else is."

Tell us about this place where your character has been living.

Inside the walls we have food, we have water, we have dorms, school, education, jobs. It's this little world that we've created inside the world – a shelter from everything. ... There's also training inside this community – they train you for the outside world even though they never plan on taking you out. ... It's trying to make life as normal as possible for those who are in there. So those are considered the lucky ones.

What was Hope's first experience like encountering a walker?

Hope has this revelation: "I have to do this and I have to do it for myself." And let me tell you, that walker that she encountered, I mean, it's like she doesn't go halfway – that guy was massive. I'm talking like 7 feet tall, massive.

And how was it for you encountering your first walker?

I was so nervous. I'm not even going to lie. ... So, I'm on set from 3pm until 7am, and I'm the first scene and last scene. In the last scene of the day, we're fighting this walker. So, I've been waiting around in my trailer for 12 hours knowing that I have this massive scene. It just made everything so much crazier because I hadn't slept, and I have to go fight this walker who was three times my height. I have to essentially do a few stunts that I didn't really know that I was going to do. I mean, it really just pushed me out of my comfort zone in every way possible.

WORLD ON FIRE

Families Endure As The Flames Of War Engulf Europe. By Ryan A. Berenz

"The world has averted its eyes to the buildup of German troops along the German-Polish border and Hitler's threat to take Danzig by force," Nancy Campbell (Helen Hunt), American Radio International journalist, reports from Warsaw in late summer 1939. "The Poles have bicycles. The Germans have tanks."

The warning falls on deaf ears, and the most destructive conflict in human history is about to begin.

World on Fire, a seven-part Masterpiece miniseries, dramatizes the interwoven relationships of ordinary people in Europe who become embroiled in an unimaginable global calamity. Joining Hunt in the ensemble cast are Sean Bean as a British veteran of the Great War, Jonah Hauer-King as a translator working in Warsaw, Julia Brown as a factory worker moonlighting as a torch singer, Brian J. Smith as an American doctor in Paris, and Lesley Manville as a British fascist sympathizer.

Series writer Peter Bowker based several of the characters on actual people. Hunt's character is an amalgam of American journalist/historian William Shirer and British reporter Clare Hollingworth. "[Hollingworth] literally was the woman who saw the Nazi tanks gathered on the Polish border," Bowker says. "When she told the British embassy this, the British, being the British, said, 'Well, the Germans wouldn't do that. They're good sports. They're gentlemen. That's not how you fight a war.' So she wasn't listened to."

Bowker based Brown's Lois Bennett character on his grandmother, who was in a musical duo during the war. Coincidentally, Brown's own grandmother was a jazz singer during that era. "She used to sing these songs to me when I was younger, so getting the role was a strange personal full circle," Brown says. "It was easy to draw on family stories and play the humanity of it and the characters by the stories that we'd been told growing up."

BAPTISTE A New Mystery

"The Missing" Anthology Series Gets A Six-Part Spinoff.

By Diane Snyder

French detective Julien Baptiste has been MIA since Starz last aired The Missing in 2017. Now, having survived a brain tumor, the unrelenting retired cop (Tchéky Karyo) is front and center in the search for another missing person in PBS' six-episode Masterpiece Mystery! spinoff. While visiting Amsterdam, Baptiste is pulled into the case of a vanished prostitute (Anna Próchniak) at the behest of the city's police chief (Barbara Sarafian), his former girlfriend. Before long, he's swept into what executive producer Susanne Simpson calls "the seedy underground world of Amsterdam's red-light district," where dangerous people lurk. Shot in Europe, Baptiste, like its predecessor, is filled with twists and characters carrying boatloads of secrets. "What's great about the show," says Jack Williams, who created the series with brother Harry, "is that the way the case begins is nothing like where we end up."

True Story

THE CLARK SISTERS: FIRST LADIES OF GOSPEL

A Trailblazing Biopic Of Five Amazing Women And Their Inspiring Songs. By Barb Oates

The Clark Sisters: First Ladies of Gospel
Lifetime, Saturday, April 11

It was a Saturday morning in Pasadena earlier this year, where a room full of TV critics had been gathering for 12 days straight at the semiannual Television Critics Association Press Tour, when our spirits were uplifted. Five relatively unknown ladies took the stage, along with their executive producer Queen Latifah, and ultimately left the room speechless with their angelic voices. These ladies are the stars of Lifetime's original film The Clark Sisters: First Ladies of Gospel, a captivating film about the trailblazing family of gospel singers who became the highest-selling female gospel group in history.

The film begins in 1963 Detroit and introduces us to the sisters' abusive father and their musically gifted mother Dr. Mattie Moss Clark (played by When They See Us Emmy nominee Aunjanue Ellis). Dr. Clark believed her girls were better than the Jackson 5 and tirelessly taught them how to sing like they knew God. But the Clark sisters' story – that of Twinkie (Christina Bell, a gospel vocalist), Karen (Kierra Sheard, who portrays her own mother), Dorinda (Sheléa Frazier, a singer and pianist), Denise (Raven Goodwin, Glee) and Jacky (Angela Birchett, a self-described "Broadway girl") – is one of faith, love and sisterhood, amid their humble beginnings and their mother's overbearing demands.

"There's a beautiful, wonderful rich history that the Clark Sisters have

WHERE ARE THEY NOW?

Jacky Clark Chisholm (71)

A stepsister to the other four ladies, she's a nurse, author and performing artist.

Denise "Niecy" Clark Bradford (66)

She's a devoted mother, pastor and doctoral candidate.

Elbernita "Twinkie" Clark Terrell (65)

The music genius is a member of the Hammond Organ Hall of Fame and has composed hundreds of songs.

Dorinda Clark-Cole (62)

She's the Elect Lady of the Churches of God in Christ, and preaches and sings gospel around the world.

Karen Clark Sheard (59)

She oversees a powerful women's ministry and still performs today. Karen's daughter Kierra stars in the film as her mother. "It was a huge honor and I was just completely shocked that I even had the opportunity," Kierra said. "I didn't take it as, 'It's my mom, and I know I got the role.' I auditioned, and to have had her in my ears, it became more of a personal thing learning her story and what she's done as a trailblazer for gospel artists, gospel music ... it has blown me away."

with their family, with their friends – in gospel and out of gospel – as well as with their audience," says Latifah, who executive produced along with Missy Elliott and Mary J. Blige. "People are so endeared to them and have followed them so long, that [they will] probably take the music a little bit more personally until they really get to hear the story of how it all came to be, which these ladies bring to light amazingly well."

The Clark sisters' journey to international fame is filled with drama, rejection, betrayal and, at times, rivalry and heartache. In the end, however, it's their inspirational words and voices (along with these extraordinary actors' performances) that will stick with you forever.

Seeking Justice

KIM KARDASHIAN WEST: THE JUSTICE PROJECT

Reality Star Tackles Real-Life Issue Of Justice Gone Wrong.

By Meredith Ennis

She knows you think she's just doing it for the publicity. And she doesn't care. Kim Kardashian West knows that her fame will attract attention to her newest passion, and if that attention results in greater awareness or more involvement in the project, it's a good thing. But make no mistake, she's not doing this for the publicity; she's doing it because she believes in the need for criminal justice reform.

In this two-hour documentary, businesswoman, reality star and, currently, law student Kardashian West allows an inside look at her efforts to secure freedom for four Americans she feels have been wrongly served by the justice system.

"I partnered with Oxygen to do the documentary because there are millions of people impacted by this broken justice system, and I wanted to put faces to these numbers and statistics," she says. "There are a lot of people who deserve a second chance, but many do not have the resources to make it happen. I want to help elevate these cases to a national level to effect change, and this documentary is an honest depiction of me learning about the system and helping bring tangible results to justice reform."

Kardashian West got involved in advocacy after hearing the story of Alice Marie Johnson, a great-grandmother serving a life-plus-25-year sentence as a first-time, nonviolent offender. After Kardashian West met with President Trump, Johnson was granted clemency in 2018.

Kardashian West travels to prisons, speaks to the inmates' families and friends, lobbies public officials, and consults with lawyers as well as her own legal team to develop strategies to facilitate the release of the individuals introduced in the film. Now this is reality TV worthy of some attention.

BROKE Awkward Fun

“NCIS” Star Pauley Perrette Delivers The Laughs In This Riches-To-Rags Comedy. By Kate Hahn

Pauley Perrette with Antonio Corbo (left), Natasha Leggero, Jaime Camil and Izzy Diaz

After 15 years in the NCIS lab, Pauley Perrette was ready to laugh. “I wanted to do a comedy. Either that or retire,” says the actress, who played the CBS procedural’s Abby Sciuto until 2018. Thankfully, she chose the former. As Broke’s Jackie, she’s a struggling single mom whose idea of a morning time-saver is blowtorching oatmeal for son Sammy (Antonio Corbo). When her estranged sister, Elizabeth (Natasha Leggero), and brother-in-law, Javier (Jaime Camil), go from riches to rags, Jackie reluctantly lets them crash, along with Javier’s assistant (Izzy Diaz) and a dog. Here, Perrette invites us in.

What caused the rift between Jackie and her sister?

Pauley Perrette: Their dad’s in prison, and mom died. Elizabeth married a rich guy and disappeared. So Jackie’s pissed – she could have used their help raising a child. When they show up, there’s a lot of history. Not all of it’s good.

What’s the major conflict?

Mostly it’s cultural. Jackie wouldn’t know a Louis Vuitton suitcase. Elizabeth and Javier are cocktails and caviar. But Javier’s not the arrogant-jerk rich guy. He’s lived in a bubble and is naive. His father’s cut him off. Every character is played a little differently than [you’d expect].

Jackie’s a bartender, and so were you. How else are you alike?

She’s also a mechanic and a tool freak. I’m kind of a tool freak. I’m from Alabama, so they raised us like that – and my dad didn’t have any boys, so me and my sister are like dudes.

Did you really consider retiring?

I was going to drink beer with my three dogs and watch television. [Laughs] My family, friends and pastor didn’t think it was the best idea. I didn’t even want to play a mom, but now Antonio is the center of my universe. He brightens my life!

WHO WANTS TO BE A MILLIONAIRE

Jimmy Kimmel Set To Host Special Round Of Famed Game Show.

By Barb Oates

We’ve sure seen our fair share of hosts when it comes to America’s most successful game show Who Wants to Be a Millionaire. We started with Regis Philbin in 1999. Then there was Meredith Vieira, Cedric the Entertainer, Terry Crews and The Bachelor’s Chris Harrison. So who do you get to help celebrate the 20th anniversary of the famed game show? ABC picked it right with Jimmy Kimmel serving as host of the eight-episode special run of Millionaire. Kimmel will have plenty of fun as he welcomes celebrity contestants to the hot seat to play for the charity of their choice. For those needing a refresher, contestants must answer 14 multiple-choice questions that get progressively harder to win the million dollars. At presstime we didn’t know what all the lifelines would be (ask the audience, phone a friend, three wise men, etc.), but we did confirm that celebrities are allowed to invite a guest (a relative, an expert, really anyone they want) to help them answer questions. Expect some fun pairings with that. In addition, the new Millionaire will also introduce a live, play-along app where viewers can compete to win the same amount of money that celebrities are playing for on the show. We’d like to phone a friend to play!

THE BAKER AND THE BEAUTY

A New Update On “Notting Hill.” By Taylor Neumann

Rom-com fans, the perfect show is waiting for you on ABC. The Baker and the Beauty is a modern-day fairy tale based off of a popular Israeli show and follows – you guessed it – a baker and a beautiful woman as they meet and fall in love. It’s Notting Hill, but in Miami!

Daniel (Victor Rasuk) is a baker at his family’s Cuban bakery, cooking up Latin specialties along with the rest of his family, including his mother and father (Lisa Vidal and Carlos Gómez), aspiring DJ brother (David Del Rio), and young sister (the charming Belissa Escobedo). When a date with his girlfriend goes horribly wrong, he ends up spending the night out on the town with Noa Hamilton (Nathalie Kelley), a famous actress going through her own breakup. From the very first moment they meet – in the bathroom! – it’s clear that the two are meant to be together.

Despite the series’ title, Noa Hamilton isn’t simply “the beauty.” “What I love about Noa is that she’s so much more than just a beautiful face,” said Kelley. “You are going to see in this series that she’s a brilliant businesswoman, very savvy. She’s a philanthropist and humanitarian. ... She’s really an aspirational female character, and it’s a credit to ABC for letting us write her in such a way because this is an important time for young women to really reconsider notions of beauty and what makes somebody beautiful.”

The show is filmed in Puerto Rico, standing in for Miami, with an all-Latino cast. “One of the things that is most attractive about the show is we’ve never really seen what a Latin – specifically Cuban – family dynamic looks like,” said Kelley. Creator Dean Georgaris also cites My Big Fat Greek Wedding as an inspiration: At its core, this romantic story is really about family.

THE BACHELOR PRESENTS: LISTEN TO YOUR HEART Reality

A New Musical Version Of ABC’s Hit Reality Show. By Taylor Neumann

ABC is expanding its ever-popular Bachelor franchise with a new addition: The Bachelor Presents: Listen to Your Heart uses music as the impetus for couples to fall in love. Twenty single men and women will live together and go on musical-themed dates. Next, they sing popular songs individually and – as the show progresses – as couples, making their way through challenges and live performances judged by big names in the music business. The couples must prove their loyalty and love for each other in order to be the last duo standing. Blending bits of American Idol and, yes, The Bachelor, this new iteration may not be the best way to find love, but it’s sure to be addicting spring television.

THE WINDERMERE CHILDREN

The Children Of The Holocaust Learn How To Live Again.
By Taylor Neumann

After the Nazis were defeated in 1945, there were hundreds of children who survived the devastating conditions of the concentration camps. What happened to them once the war ended? PBS' new biographical film The Windermere Children answers that question, following a group of children and teenagers who are brought to an estate in England for four months and rehabilitated with the help of volunteer therapists. They have to learn how to exist in a new, less hostile environment, where food is readily available and there is a bedroom for everyone. They learn English, play soccer and ride bikes, attempting to reclaim their lives from the terrors they still dream about at night.

As the children arrive at Windermere, they also have to adjust to being on their own without their families. They await news of their loved ones from the Red Cross, which will bring updates on whether their parents and siblings survived the Holocaust. Even more important than food and new clothes are the bonds that the children make with their fellow refugees. These friendships keep them going as they learn to adapt to a strange world that still has prejudices against them, lasting for a lifetime.

The film is a reenactment of factual events and real-life people, with a stunning cast including Thomas Kretschmann (The Pianist) as the psychologist in charge of the project, Romola Garai (The Hour) as an art therapist and Iain Glen (Game of Thrones) as the physical education teacher. The young actors — who primarily speak Hebrew — are just as compelling as the adults. Unfortunately, the film feels as timely as ever, hinting at the xenophobia that brewed in England despite its position on the Allied side of the war. The Windermere Children shows how, with a little bit of help, people can — despite vast trauma — begin again.

KILLING EVE

BBC America and AMC, Sundays beginning April 26

Last we saw investigator Eve Polastri (Sandra Oh), she was facedown in a Roman ruin, shot by psychopathic assassin Villanelle (Jodie Comer). Spoiler alert: Eve survives, and the mutual obsession continues. "We start Season 3 with Villanelle believing Eve to be dead and Eve trying to convince herself that she wishes Villanelle was, too," says exec producer Sally Woodward Gentle. The demented and fizzy season will appear as if all is fine until a shocking and personal death sets the ladies on a collision course yet again. The journey back to each other will cost both of them friends, family and allegiances ... and perhaps a share of their souls.

WHAT WE DO IN THE SHADOWS

Close The Shades! A New Dawn Rises For FX's Hilarious House Of Horrors. By Ryan A. Berenz

In a scene from What We Do in the Shadows Season 2, vampires Nandor (Kayvan Novak), Nadja (Natasia Demetriou), Laszlo (Matt Berry) and Colin Robinson (Mark Proksch) are excited to attend their neighbor's Superb Owl party, only to discover there's no owl and the party is just watching a football game. Colin makes the best of it, draining all the energy from the room by toggling through and explaining the television's custom picture mode settings.

The comedy about centuries-old vampires living together in present-day Staten Island is back, presenting a new world of challenges and changes for the undead denizens.

A main story arc involves human Guillermo (Harvey Guillén), who desperately wants to become a vampire but discovers he has Van Helsing vampire-hunter ancestry. "Guillermo gets to do a lot of action stuff," Guillén says. "It's a conflict for Guillermo to want something and be good at something else. So it's a nice crossroad."

Nadja and husband Laszlo find their romance rekindled after Nadja's reincarnated ex-lover, Gregor, met with an unfortunate motorcycle accident in the Season 1 finale. "Nadja and Laszlo are in a very good place," Demetriou says. "They're very, very in love and so a little more sexually active than ever."

The couple will literally play beautiful music together. "There's a music episode, and there's an extra room that was built for us in the house," Berry says. "It's revealed that they've written songs for hundreds of years, so you'll get to hear them."

Also in store, Haley Joel Osment guest-stars as Topher, a prospective human familiar for Laszlo and Nadja, and the vampires will encounter ghosts, witches, a zombie and guest star Mark Hamill in a role yet to be revealed.

What We Do in the Shadows
FX,
Wednesdays
beginning
April 15

LIAR SundanceTV, Wednesdays beginning April 8

The psychological thriller returns for a six-part second season picking up three weeks after the series left off, where damning evidence now proves that the coy doctor – Andrew Earham (Ioan Gruffudd, Fantastic Four) – sexually assaulted 19 women. When Andrew’s body is found in the Kent marshes, one of his more recent victims, Laura Nielson (Joanne Froggatt, Downton Abbey), can’t help but feel relieved by the news of his death. But the community is rocked when the case quickly becomes a murder investigation.

THE REAL HOUSEWIVES OF NEW YORK CITY

Bravo, Thursdays beginning April 2

Of the many variations in the Housewives franchise, this one is a favorite. Season 12 (yes, they’ve been at this nonsense since 2008) will see the crazy continue. Here’s what we’ve been told to expect: Luann’s off probation and trying to reclaim her old life, only to realize that bad habits die hard. Sonja’s fashion collection is rocking, but she is faced with one of the hardest decisions she has ever had to make. Ramona and Sonja step in to help Dorinda deal with what they perceive to be anger issues, creating some all-time high tensions. And, Tinsley Mortimer brings a new outspoken wife into this season – Leah McSweeney, a female entrepreneur, cultural provocateur and mother of 12-year-old Kiki. Leah famously launched the streetwear brand Married to the Mob.

MAN WITH A PLAN

CBS, Thursdays beginning April 2

There’s much in store for hapless dad of three Adam Burns (Matt LeBlanc) in the sitcom’s fourth season: teaching his daughter to drive, teaching his son to date, salvaging his 20th anniversary with wife Andi (Liza Snyder) and trying couples’ therapy with his brother! “Watching Matt and Kevin Nealon play off each other,” says exec producer Jeff Filgo, “was a blast.”

HOW TO GET AWAY WITH MURDER

ABC, Thursdays beginning April 2

Will Annalise Keating (Viola Davis) and her law students/ accomplices ace the title lesson after six seasons of killings, coverups and other shady deeds? In the drama’s final six episodes, “Some will get away with it and some won’t,” says creator Peter Nowalk. As the FBI and Annalise’s enemies close in, the group must decide “whether or not to come clean, to make deals, to turn on each other,” he says. On the subject of her funeral scene and the real vs. fantasy vs. fake-out debate, “Annalise does die, I will say,” he teases. “I’ll also add, we all die.”

CRITIC PICK OF THE MONTH

Make It A Movie Night!

A film that seemed tailor-made for awards consideration in 2019 came up a bit short when nominations were announced, but a lack of awards does not make it any less worthy of viewing. Strong performances by Michael B. Jordan and Jamie Foxx are featured in this topical and gut-wrenching film that is based on a true story. Despite being a touch on the long side, it is a truly worthwhile endeavor.

It's my pick of the month.

Paul Hall is a nationally syndicated film critic and member of the Broadcast Film Critics Association (BFCA).

Just Mercy

(Drama) Based on a true story, this powerful legal drama follows Harvard grad Bryan Stevenson, who heads to Alabama to defend the wrongly convicted. His first case is that of Walter McMillian, whose 1987 death sentence he tries tirelessly to overturn amid racism and corruption. Michael B. Jordan, Jamie Foxx, Brie Larson (PG-13, 2:17) Premieres April 14

Richard Jewell

(Biography) You can't judge a kook by his cover. That's the lesson of Richard Jewell, the true story of the security guard who pointed cops to a suspicious package at the 1996 Olympics – a package that later exploded. Jewell was first hailed as a hero, but later interrogated as a suspect. Paul Walter Hauser, Sam Rockwell, Kathy Bates (R, 2:11)

Bombshell

(Drama) Ripped from the headlines and featuring a tour de force of Hollywood talent, this riveting drama tells the story of the women at FOX News (Charlize Theron plays Megyn Kelly and Nicole Kidman plays Gretchen Carlson) who exposed CEO Roger Ailes for sexual harassment. Also stars Margot Robbie (R, 1:49)

Star Wars: The Rise of Skywalker

(Action) The final chapter in the Skywalker Saga is set just one year after the events of The Last Jedi and finds Rey and Kylo Ren in an epic clash of unresolved business. Daisy Ridley, Adam Driver, Oscar Isaac (PG-13, 2:22)

Black Christmas

(Horror) Winter break at Hawthorne College takes on a not so silent tone as the sisters of a sorority stand up to those who would make it a not so jolly Christmas as part of an underground college conspiracy. Imogen Poots, Brittany O'Grady, Lily Donoghue, Aleyse Shannon (PG-13, 1:32)

Charlie's Angels

(Action) A new generation of female agents is working for the Townsend Agency as the iconic television franchise gets a refreshed look and cast. Kristen Stewart, Naomi Scott, Ella Balinska, Elizabeth Banks (PG-13, 1:58)

The Grudge

(Horror) From the producer of Don't Breathe and Evil Dead comes this horrifying and twisted version of a house that no one should ever enter. Andrea Riseborough, Demián Bichir, John Cho (R, 1:34)

Make It A Movie Night!

Jumanji: The Next Level

(Comedy) This follow-up to 2017's Welcome to the Jungle sees the gang all back together trying to rescue one of their own. This time, however, the game has changed and is more dangerous than ever. Tons of stars pack this fun adventure comedy. Dwayne Johnson, Jack Black, Kevin Hart (PG-13, 2:03)

© 2019 Lionsgate.

Knives Out

(Dramedy) A star-studded cast is featured in this delightful whodunit. Mystery writer Harlan Thrombey has been killed, but who caused his ultimate demise and which of his eclectic family members stand to benefit? Daniel Craig, Chris Evans, Ana de Armas (PG-13, 2:10)

© 2019 Twentieth Century Fox.

Spies in Disguise

(Animated Comedy) In this animated film, the world's best spy is turned into a pigeon, leaving him to rely on his nerdy scientist pal to save the world – and return him to his human state. Voices of Will Smith, Tom Holland, Rachel Brosnahan (PG, 1:42)

Puzzle Page

Over the years, some popular TV series have had openings that featured narration to help set up the show. These words have become well-known in their own right. From the snippets of introductory narration, can you name the series that featured them in their openings? – Jeff Pfeiffer

1. "There is a fifth dimension beyond that which is known to man."

2. "The thrill of victory ... and the agony of defeat ..."

3. "In 1972, a crack commando unit was sent to prison by a military court for a crime they didn't commit."

4. "This is my boss, Jonathan Hart – a self-made millionaire."

5. "There is nothing wrong with your television set."

6. "Theorizing that one could time travel within his own lifetime, Dr. Sam Beckett ..."

7. "Name: Richard Kimble. Profession: Doctor of Medicine. Destination: Death Row, State Prison."

8. "Can two divorced men share an apartment without driving each other crazy?"

9. "In the criminal justice system, the people are represented by two separate yet equally important groups."

10. "Once upon a time, there were three little girls who went to the police academy."

Reboots, remakes and revivals of classic TV shows are all the rage these days. But some shows have not gotten around to being rebooted (yet). Here is a list of former TV series – some of which have been rebooted or revived, some of which haven't. Circle the titles that have had reboots or revivals (note, some shows have had more than one reboot, and some of the reboots may no longer be airing). – Jeff Pfeiffer

ACROSS & DOWN By Donna Pettman

DIRECTIONS

Rearrange the letters in each group to form a word. Place the words into the diagram so that the same words read both across and down. (The first word across is the same as the first word down and so on.) The letter groups are not necessarily placed next to the row of the diagram in which they go.

Dishing With Julia Child

PBS, 10pm [NEW SERIES!]

In 1963, Julia Child and The French Chef began teaching the nation how to cook well, eat well and drink well. In this new series, some of today's top chefs share insightful, funny and personal thoughts about the first lady of cooking. In the episode "The Whole Fish Story," Jose Andres and Eric Ripert are amazed by Child's hands-on treatment of a whole fish, how much information she conveys in the show and her ability to work without any retakes. And in "The Good Loaf," Vivian Howard, Marcus Samuelsson, Carla Hall and Sara Moulton follow Child's breadmaking recipes for classic pain de mie and a raisin bread.

SATURDAY, APRIL 4

The Outsiders

AMC, 3pm [CATCH A CLASSIC!]

Francis Ford Coppola directed this beloved 1983 coming-of-age drama based on S.E. Hinton's novel. Not only is the film worth viewing for its compelling story and production, but also for its amazing cast of then-up-and-coming stars who would become household names – C. Thomas Howell, Matt Dillon, Tom Cruise, Patrick Swayze, Ralph Macchio, Diane Lane and Emilio Estevez. The Outsiders also helped kick off the '80s "Brat Pack" genre of movies, but we won't hold that against it.

Homeland

Showtime, 9pm [SERIES FINALE!]

It's been almost a decade that Claire Danes has played CIA agent Carrie Mathison. When we asked Danes if there would be any happy endings for her character, she shared: "It depends on how you look at it." Fingers crossed the Emmy-winning series leaves us with a hopeful future.

Belgravia

EPIX, 9pm

The depths of Stephen's (James Fleet) problems are revealed, causing John (Adam James) to set his manipulative sights on Charles (Jack Bardo) and Caroline (Harriet Walter) as a way to make money; Susan (Alice Eve) isn't shy about exploiting the Trenchards' new social circle.

Penny Dreadful: City of Angels

Showtime, 10:10pm [NEW SERIES!]

John Logan (Skyfall) created this series described as a "spiritual descendant" of his 2014-16 Showtime drama Penny Dreadful. Where that series was set in Victorian-era London, this one takes place in late 1930s Los Angeles and is a new story – an equally dark mystery combining elements of detective fiction, Mexican-American folklore and L.A.'s real-life history. The strong ensemble cast includes Nathan Lane, Natalie Dormer, Daniel Zovatto, Adriana Barraza and Rory Kinnear, who is the only returning cast member from the original series (in a different role).

MONDAY, APRIL 27

Star of the Month: Jane Russell

TCM, beginning at 8pm
