2. Regulatory Compliance and Safety — All Products

This chapter describes applicable safety, certification, and compliance requirements and regulations that apply to all Seagate products, HDDs, SSDs, Add-in Cards, and Cloud System Enclosure.

- Agency and Safety Certifications
 - Each HDD and SSD has a product label that includes certifications that apply to that specific device. The following sections provide details of requirements and compliance that may apply to these devices.

2.1 Federal Communications Commissions Notice

2.1.1 FCC Verification

For devices that display the FCC mark, these devices are intended to be contained solely within a personal computer, server, or similar enclosure (not attached as an external device). As such, each device is considered to be a subassembly even when it is individually marketed to the customer. As a subassembly, no Federal Communications Commission verification or certification of the device is required.

Seagate has tested these devices in enclosures as described above to ensure that the total assembly (enclosure, disk drive, motherboard, power supply, and so on.) does comply with the limits for a Class B computing device, pursuant to Subpart J, Part 15 of the FCC rules. Operation with noncertified assemblies is likely to result in interference to radio and television reception.

Radio and television interference. This device generates and uses radio frequency energy and if not installed and used in strict accordance with the manufacturer's instructions, may cause interference to radio and television reception.

This device is designed to provide reasonable protection against such interference in a residential installation. However, there is no guarantee that interference will not occur in a particular installation. If this device does cause interference to radio or television, which can be determined by turning the equipment on and off, users are encouraged to try one or more of the following corrective measures:

- Reorient the receiving antenna.
- Move the device to one side or the other of the radio or TV.
- Move the device farther away from the radio or TV.
- Plug the computer into a different outlet so that the receiver and computer are on different branch outlets.

If necessary, users should consult a dealer or an experienced radio/television technician for additional suggestions. Users may find helpful the following booklet prepared by the Federal Communications Commission: How to Identify and Resolve Radio-Television Interference Problems. This booklet is available from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, DC 20402. Refer to publication number 004-000-00345-4.

Part 15 of the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) Rules and Regulations has established Radio Frequency (RF) emission limits to provide an interference-free radio frequency spectrum. Many electronic devices, including computers, generate RF energy incidental to their intended function and are, therefore, covered by these rules. These rules place computers and related peripheral devices into two classes, A and B, depending upon their intended installation. Class A devices are those that may reasonably be expected to be installed in a business or commercial environment. Class B devices are those that may reasonably be expected to be installed in a residential environment, such as personal computers. The FCC requires devices in both classes to bear a label indicating the interference potential of the device as well as additional operating instructions for the user.

The rating label on the device shows which class (A or B) the equipment falls into. Class B devices have an FCC logo or FCC ID on the label. Class A devices do not have an FCC logo or FCC ID on the label. Once the class of the device is determined, refer to the following corresponding statement.

2.1.2 Class A Equipment

This equipment has been tested and found to comply with the limits for a Class A digital device, pursuant to Part 15 of the FCC Rules. These limits are designed to provide reasonable protection against harmful interference when the equipment is operated in a commercial environment. This equipment generates, uses, and can radiate radio frequency energy and, if not installed and used in accordance with the instructions, may cause harmful interference to radio communications. Operation of this equipment in a residential area is likely to cause harmful interference, in which case the user will be required to correct the interference at personal expense.

2.1.3 Class B Equipment

This equipment has been tested and found to comply with the limits for a Class B digital device, pursuant to Part 15 of the FCC Rules. These limits are designed to provide reasonable protection against harmful interference in a residential installation. This equipment generates, uses, and can radiate radio frequency energy and, if not installed and used in accordance with the instructions, may cause harmful interference to radio communications. However, there is no guarantee that interference will not occur in a particular installation. If this equipment does cause harmful interference to radio or television reception, which can be determined by turning the equipment off and on, the user is encouraged to try to correct the interference by one or more of the following measures:

- Reorient or relocate the receiving antenna.
- Increase the separation between the equipment and receiver.
- Connect the equipment into an outlet on a circuit that is different from that to which the receiver is connected.
- Consult the dealer or an experienced radio or television technician for help.

2.1.4 Laser Products

Devices that display the CE mark comply with the European Union (EU) requirements specified in the Electromagnetic Compatibility Directive (2014/ 30/ EU) put into force on 20 April 2016. Testing is performed to the levels specified by the product standards for Information Technology Equipment (ITE).

Emission levels for these devices are defined by EN55032:2012, Class B, and the immunity levels are defined by EN 55024.

These Seagate devices also meet the requirements of The Low Voltage Directive (LVD) 2014/35/ EU.

Seagate devices are tested in representative end-user systems. Although CE-marked Seagate devices comply with all relevant regulatory requirements and standards for the devices, Seagate cannot guarantee that all system-level products into which the devices are installed comply with all regulatory requirements and standards applicable to the system-level products. These devices are designed for operation inside a properly designed system (for example, enclosure designed for the device), with properly shielded I/O cable (if necessary) and terminators on all unused I/O ports. Computer manufacturers and system integrators should confirm EMC compliance and provide CE marking for the system-level products.

For compliance with the RoHS "Recast" Directive 2011/65/EU (RoHS 2) as amended by Directive (EU) 2015/863

Section 2.9.1.1 Restriction of Hazardous Substances in Electrical and Electronic Equipment.

2.1.4.1 Laser Safety Certification and Classification

This product might contain a laser internal to a fiber optic (FO) transceiver for connection to a Fibre Channel communications port.

In the USA, the FO transceiver is certified as a Class 1 laser product conforming to the requirements contained in the Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) regulation 21 CFR, Subchapter J. A label on the FO transceiver housing indicates the certification.

Outside the USA, the FO transceiver is certified as a Class 1 laser product conforming to the requirements contained in IEC 60825-1 and EN 60825-1.

All Seagate HDD and SSDs are certified to meet the requirements of UL/cUL 60950-1, EN 60950-1, and may also include, IEC 62368, UL 62368, and EN 62368.

2.1.4.3 Laser product label

An optional label or its equivalent might be located on the surface of a supplied laser device.

This optional label indicates that the product is classified as a CLASS 1 LASER PRODUCT. This label may appear on a laser device installed in your product.

2.1.5 Modifications

The FCC requires the user to be notified that any changes or modifications made to this device that are not expressly approved by Seagate may void the user's authority to operate the equipment.

2.1.6 Cables

Connections to this device must be made with shielded cables with metallic RFI/EMI connector hoods in order to maintain compliance with FCC Rules and Regulations.

2.1.7 Regulatory Model Number

For the purpose of regulatory compliance certifications and identification, your product has been assigned a unique Regulatory Model Number (RMN). The RMN can be found on the product nameplate label, along with all required approval markings and information. When requesting compliance information for this product, always refer to this RMN. The RMN should not be confused with the marketing name or model number of the product.

2.1.7.1 Regulatory Compliance Label Location

The Regulatory Compliance label is located on top or side of the chassis. <G250: Deemed OK as-is. G275: added "or side."

2.1.8 Declaration of Conformity for Products Marked with the FCC Logo, USA Only

This device complies with Part 15 of the FCC Rules. Operation is subject to the following two conditions: (1) this device may not cause harmful interference, and (2) this device must accept any interference received, including interference that may cause undesired operation.

7. EU ErP (Ecodesign in Europe) Regulations for All Products (Lot 9)

7.1 What is Lot 9

ErP is DIRECTIVE 2009/125/EC OF THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND OF THE COUNCIL of 21 October 2009 establishing a framework for the setting of ecodesign requirements for energy-related products.

- ErP requires “implementing measures” to be created for each product category.
- ErP is a CE mark regulation, and the CE mark on a product indicates compliance with the appropriate implementing measure for the ErP regulation.

The CE mark is a requirement for shipment into the EU. Lot 9 is the implementing legislation for server and storage products for the ErP Directive.

- The requirements in Lot 9 begin on March 1, 2020 for all products sold in the EU from that date forward.

To view Lot 9 Regulation details visit here:

<https://eur-lex.europa.eu/legal-content/EN/TXT/PDF/?uri=CELEX:32019R0424&from=EN>

7.2 Lot 9 Scope

7.2.1 Lot 9 Scope for HDDs and SSDs

All Seagate HDD, SSD drives, and Add-in Cards.

7.2.2 Lot 9 Scope for Systems

All Seagate online data storage products with greater than 3 drives and up to 400 drives.

- ‘data storage product’ means a fully-functional storage system that supplies data storage services to clients and devices attached directly or through a network. Components and subsystems that are an integral part of the data storage product architecture (e.g., to provide internal communications between controllers and disks) are considered to be part of the data storage product.
- Drives includes hard disk drives and solid state drives.

Based on the definition of data storage product, this includes the back end switches and routers.

- This does not include the front end switches.
- This does not impact FRUs except for the PSU efficiency requirement

8. Safety and Disposal Instructions—Systems

8.1 Safety precautions

For your protection, observe the following safety precautions when setting up your equipment:

- Follow all cautions and instructions marked on the equipment.
- Install the system in accordance with the local safety codes and regulations at the facility site. Follow all cautions and instructions marked on the equipment.
- Follow directions in the product's installation documentation to avoid injury when lifting and moving enclosures.
- Do not operate Seagate products without the covers in place. Failure to take this precaution might result in personal injury and system damage.
- Do not block or cover the openings of your Seagate product. Never place it near a radiator or heat register. Failure to follow these guidelines can cause overheating and affect the reliability of your product.
- Seagate products are designed to work with power systems having a grounded neutral (grounded return for DC-powered products). To reduce the risk of electric shock, do not plug these products into any other type of power system. Contact your facilities manager or a qualified electrician if you are not sure what type of power is supplied to your building.
- DC power supplies (if equipped) are ITE Listed Accessories, and therefore allow for conversion from AC powered systems to DC powered systems in the field. These accessories are applicable to Seagate 2U12, 2U24, and 4U56 enclosures. (compliance model DBB). and high-density RealStor 4U56 enclosures (compliance model DBU)< G250: Remove high-density?
- Install Surge Protective Devices (SPDs) at the AC inputs of the network equipment.
- Ensure that the voltage and frequency of your power source match the voltage and frequency inscribed on the equipment's electrical rating label.
- Not all power cords have the same current ratings. Household extension cords do not have overload protection and are not meant for use with computer systems. Do not use household extension cords with your Seagate product.
- Never push objects of any kind through openings in the equipment. Dangerous voltages might be present. Conductive foreign objects could produce a short circuit that could cause fire, electric shock, or damage to your equipment.
- Do not make mechanical or electrical modifications to the product. The manufacturer is not responsible for the safety or regulatory compliance of a modified product.
- Batteries might explode if mishandled or incorrectly replaced. See the service manual for proper handling and replacement instructions. Do not dispose of the battery in fire. Do not disassemble it or attempt to recharge it.
- For products with a Standby power switch, the power cord serves as the primary disconnect device for the system. Be sure to plug the power cord into a grounded power outlet that is nearby the system and is readily accessible. Do not connect the power cord when the power supply has been removed from the system chassis.
- The design of the electrical distribution system must take into consideration the total ground leakage current from all power supplies in all enclosures. Note that each power supply in each enclosure has a ground leakage current of 1.0mA maximum at 60 Hz, 264 volts. The rack may require labeling with "HIGH LEAKAGE CURRENT. Ground (earth) connection is essential before connecting a supply."

This product complies with regulatory requirements for safety and EMC as documented in the online document repository of hardware documentation at: seagate.com/support-home.

8.2 Sicherheitsvorkehrungen

Treffen Sie zu Ihrem eigenen Schutz bei der Installation des Geräts die folgenden Sicherheitsvorkehrungen:

- Befolgen Sie alle am Gerät angebrachten Warnhinweise und Anweisungen.
- Installieren Sie das System gemäß den am Unternehmensstandort geltenden örtlichen Sicherheitsnormen und -vorschriften. Befolgen Sie alle am Gerät angebrachten Warnhinweise und Anweisungen.
- Befolgen Sie die Anweisungen in der Installationsdokumentation des Produkts, um Verletzungen beim Anheben und Bewegen von Gehäusen zu vermeiden.
- Seagate Geräte dürfen nicht ohne Abdeckungen in Betrieb genommen werden. Nichtbeachtung dieses Warnhinweises kann Verletzungen oder Geräteschaden zur Folge haben.
- Geräteöffnungen Ihres Seagate-Produkts dürfen nicht blockiert oder abgedeckt werden. Seagate Geräte sollten niemals in der Nähe von Heizkörpern oder Heißluftklappen aufgestellt werden. Die Nichtbeachtung dieser Richtlinien kann Überhitzung verursachen und die Zuverlässigkeit Ihres Geräts beeinträchtigen.
- Seagate Geräte sind für Stromversorgungssysteme mit einem geerdeten neutralen Leiter ausgelegt (geerdeter Rückleiter bei gleichstrombetriebenen Geräten). Um die Gefahr von Stromschlägen zu vermeiden, schließen Sie das Gerät niemals an andere Stromversorgungssysteme an. Wenden Sie sich an Ihren Gebäudetechniker oder einen qualifizierten Elektriker, wenn Sie sich nicht sicher sind, mit welcher Stromart Ihr Gebäude versorgt wird.
- Wechselstromversorgungen (falls vorhanden) sind nach IEC gelistete Zubehörteile und ermöglichen daher die Umwandlung von gleichstrombetriebenen Systemen in wechselstrombetriebene Systeme im Außendienst. Diese Zubehörteile sind für Seagate 2U12-, 2U24- und 4U56-Gehäuse geeignet.
- Installieren Sie Überspannungsschutzgeräte an den Wechselstromeingängen der Netzwerkgeräte.
- Überprüfen Sie, ob die Spannung und die Frequenz der Stromquelle mit den auf dem Etikett des Geräts angegebenen elektrischen Nennwerten übereinstimmen.
- Die Netzkabel haben nicht immer die gleichen Nennstromstärken. Haushaltsübliche Verlängerungskabel haben keinen Überlastschutz und sind nicht zur Verwendung mit Computersystemen vorgesehen. Verwenden Sie bei Ihrem Seagate Produkt keine Haushalts-Verlängerungskabel.
- Führen Sie niemals Fremdobjekte in Öffnungen am Gerät ein. Es können gefährliche Spannungen anliegen. Leitfähige Fremdobjekte können einen Kurzschluss verursachen, der einen Brand, Stromschlag oder Geräteschaden herbeiführen kann.
- Nehmen Sie keine elektrischen oder mechanischen Änderungen an den Geräten vor. Der Hersteller ist für die Sicherheit oder die Einhaltung der rechtlichen Vorschriften von modifizierten Produkten nicht haftbar.
- Bei Produkten mit einem Standby-Netzschalter dient das Netzkabel als primäre Trennvorrichtung für das System. Stellen Sie sicher, dass das Stromkabel an eine geerdete Steckdose in der Nähe des Systems mit unbehindertem Zugang angeschlossen ist. Schließen Sie das Stromkabel nicht an, wenn die Stromversorgung vom Systemgehäuse entfernt wurde.
- Beim Design des elektrischen Verteilungssystems muss der gesamte Erdableitstrom aller Netzteile in allen Gehäusen berücksichtigt werden. Beachten Sie, dass jede Stromversorgung in jedem Gehäuse bei 60 Hz und 264 Volt einen Erdableitstrom von maximal 1,0 mA hat. Das Rack muss möglicherweise folgendermaßen gekennzeichnet werden: "HOHER LECKSTROM. Erdung ist vor dem Anschließen einer Stromversorgung erforderlich.

Dieses Produkt entspricht den EMC- und Sicherheitsanforderungen wie in den Online-Dokument-Datenbanken für Hardware von Seagate dargelegt: seagate.com/support-home.

8.3 Rack-mount safety instructions

NOTE

See also the related rack-mount bracket kit instructions provided with your enclosure product.

- Elevated operating ambient
 - If installed in a closed or multi-unit rack assembly, the operating ambient temperature of the rack environment may be greater than room ambient. Therefore, consider installing the equipment in an environment compatible with the maximum ambient temperature (TMA) specified by the manufacturer.
- Reduced air flow
 - When installing the equipment in a rack, ensure that the amount of air flow required for safe operation of the equipment is not compromised.
- Mechanical loading
 - When mounting the equipment in the rack, be careful that a hazardous condition is not achieved due to uneven mechanical loading.
- Circuit overloading
 - Consider the connection of the equipment to the supply circuit and the effect that overloading of the circuits might have on overcurrent protection and supply wiring. Appropriate consideration of equipment nameplate ratings should be used when addressing this concern.
- Reliable grounding
 - Maintain reliable grounding of rack-mounted equipment. Give particular attention to supply connections other than direct connections to the branch circuit (e.g., use of power strings).

8.4 Taiwan Battery Recycling Notice

The Taiwan EPA requires dry battery manufacturing or importing firms in accordance with Article 15 of the Waste Disposal Act to indicate the recovery marks on the batteries used in sales, giveaway, or promotion. Contact a qualified Taiwanese recycler for proper battery disposal.

8.5 California perchlorate material notice

This product may contain a coin cell battery which requires special handling when recycled or disposed of in the State of California.

Perchlorate material special handling may apply - see: <http://www.dtsc.ca.gov/hazardouswaste/perchlorate>

8.6 Power cords

The power cord set must meet the requirements for use in the country where the product was purchased. If the product is to be used in another country, purchase a power cord that is approved for use in that country.

The power cord must be rated for the product and for the voltage and current marked on the product electrical ratings label. The voltage and current rating of the cord should be greater than the voltage and current rating marked on the product. In addition, the diameter of the wire must be a minimum of 1.00 mm² or 18 AWG, and the length of the cord must be between 1.8 m (6 ft) and 3.6 m (12 ft). If you have questions about the type of power cord to use, contact an authorized service provider.

- Consider the following when using power cords:
- Route power cords so that they will not be walked on and cannot be pinched by items placed upon or against them. Pay particular attention to the plug, electrical outlet, and the point where the cords exit from the product.
- For units with multiple power sources, all power cords must be disconnected before servicing the unit.
- Do not use bifurcated power cords ("Y" leads).

8.7 Japanese power cord notice

同梱された電源コードは、他の製品では使用出来ません。

8.8 Electrostatic discharge

NOTE Guidance for preventing electrostatic discharge (ESD) is also provided in the installation and replacement instructions for your Seagate product model(s).

To prevent damage to the system, be aware of the precautions you need to follow when setting up the system or handling parts. A discharge of static electricity from a finger or other conductor may damage system boards or other static-sensitive devices. This type of damage may cause a catastrophic failure or latent defect that reduces the life expectancy of the device.

8.9 Preventing electrostatic damage

To prevent electrostatic damage, observe the following precautions:

- Avoid hand contact by transporting and storing products in static-safe containers.
- Keep electrostatic-sensitive parts in their containers until they arrive at static-free workstations.
- Place parts in a static-protected area before removing them from their containers.
- Avoid touching pins, leads, or circuitry.
- Always be properly grounded when touching a static-sensitive component or assembly, see "Grounding methods" (page 17).

8.10 Grounding methods

Ensure proper grounding using available methods. Use one or more of the following methods when handling or installing electrostatic-sensitive parts:

- Use a wrist strap connected by a ground cord to a grounded workstation or computer chassis. Wrist straps are flexible straps with a minimum of 1 megohm (± 10 percent) resistance in the ground cords. To provide proper ground, wear the strap snug against the skin.
- Use heel straps, toe straps, or boot straps at standing workstations. Wear the straps on both feet when standing on conductive floors or dissipating floor mats.
- Use conductive field service tools.
- Use a portable field service kit with a folding static-dissipating work mat.

If you do not have any of the suggested equipment for proper grounding, have an authorized reseller install the part.

NOTE

For more information on static electricity, or assistance with product installation, contact your authorized reseller.
