Equipment Usage

To help you use and enjoy your services to the fullest extent, please read the following information about how Buckeye Broadband works with your TV, VCR, or DVR.

Power Outages—Phone Modem (EMTA)

During an electrical outage, your phone modem (known as an eMTA) will lose power unless you have a battery backup, and phone service (including access to 911 and any medical or security monitoring service that uses the phone line) will be unavailable. Battery backup is not automatically provided to all customers, and back-up battery power, maintenance, and replacement are your responsibility. To purchase a back-up/replacement battery, visit www.shop.surfboard.com/shop/batteries/arris-touchstone-modem-gateway-replacement-batteries. Pricing, amount of active and standby time provided by the battery, overall performance, storage, warranty, testing, recycling details, and replacement details can be found in the battery product description. Visit www.buckeyebroadband.com/support for more information on replacement batteries.

Converter Boxes

Buckeye Broadband encrypts all channels and interactive video services. Even if your receiver tunes our cable channels you will need a digital converter that supports a CableCARD™ in order to view these channels.

Some TVs and DVRs support a CableCARD™, allowing the television to directly decode the channels, but all CableCARD™ retail devices will require use of a tuning adaptor to view digital channels transmitted via switched digital technology (which is used by Buckeye). If you purchase a CableCARD™ compliant TV or DVR, call Buckeye to acquire equipment that will allow your new TV to receive the available digital programming.

Buckeye's basic converter will output only one tuned channel at a time. There might be certain features of your TV and VCR that depends on channel tuning (such as recording two or more programs on different channels at the same time, watching one channel while recording another, or using Picture-in-Picture) that you will not be able to use without additional equipment.

You can purchase the necessary equipment at retail outlets, or Buckeye Broadband can provide that equipment subject to additional equipment charges as applicable. Please call us for more information.

Cable converters that have decryption in them are illegal to sell or use unless authorized by the cable company from which you receive service. People who use illegal converters (so called "pirate boxes" or "black boxes"), or who otherwise use our cable services without our authorization, are violating the law and stealing cable service. Federal and state laws prohibit theft of cable, and violators face criminal and civil penalties.

Remote Control

Buckeye converters operate by a hand-held remote control device. A remote will be provided by Buckeye as part of your service. Alternatively, you may purchase your own "universal" remote; or the remote control device that came with your TV, DVD, Blu-ray player, or other device; which may be capable of controlling our converter box. Please note: Buckeye does not recommend or guarantee that any third-party remote control will be fully functional with our converters or other equipment.

Buckeye Employee Identification

All Buckeye Broadband employees and subcontractors operating on our behalf carry identification cards with the person's picture and date of expiration. For your own safety, ask to check the identification before letting anyone into your home.

To provide Services, Buckeye will need to collect data about you including your name; home, email and work addresses; home, cellular and work telephone numbers; social security number; driver's license number; credit, credit card, debit card and bank information; billing and payment information; records of damage and security deposits; records of maintenance and repairs; the Buckeye equipment (e.g., converters and cable modems) installed to provide your service; the televisions, telephones, computers, and other equipment you have connected to Buckeye's equipment or otherwise use to receive service or otherwise use; the location and configuration of the equipment; the programs, services and features to which you subscribe; identifying information for Buckeye's equipment (e.g., a serial number or MAC address of each converter box installed); Buckeye's equipment performance history; subscriber correspondence; records of violations and alleged violations of our terms of service; customer research and satisfaction data; and information available from third parties, such as age, income, other demographic information, and advertiser customer lists. We may remotely check the Buckeye Broadband equipment and the customer equipment for purposes including diagnostics and network security, and we maintain records of the results.

Under federal law, we may collect such personally identifiable information over our cable system without your consent if it is necessary to provide our services to you or to prevent unauthorized access to services or subscriber data. We may collect other information with your consent, which will be used subject to this consent.

We describe below the information that we may collect through our system or other information collections means.

Other information: Our system, in delivering cable services, may automatically log information concerning the use and performance of your Buckeye Broadband Equipment (e.g., programming choices; the date and time of these choices; and information, services, and products ordered from us or our advertisers). This data may be used to allow us to deliver desired information, products, and services to you. Examples:

- If you request Video On Demand programming (VOD), we will need to collect information about your equipment and the particular title ordered to ensure the right VOD content is delivered to the right converter box. If the video ordered has a charge, we need to use your personal information to associate it with your billing account to bill the correct customer the correct amount.
- Our system uses switched digital technology to deliver additional channels and services. To do so, it collects customer tuning choices and information about the equipment used, to ensure that desired channels are delivered upon request. In order to provide the programming, this information is temporarily associated with the customer equipment and account; it will not be once the equipment identification is no longer needed for operations, troubleshooting, and billing purposes, but anonymous information may be preserved and used as described in the next paragraph.
- In addition, Buckeye tracks customer information, in a non-personally identifiable way, about its equipment use and consumption of programming. This information may be combined with other non-personally identifiable information, and the aggregate or anonymous information may be used for business and service purposes, including: to research and determine which programming and commercials are being watched; to assist in determining networks to be delivered via switched digital; to assist in paying for programming; to inform us, advertisers and programmers how many impressions were received; to analyze marketing, purchasing, and advertising patterns; and generally to make programming and advertising more relevant and useful to our customers. Because it is kept anonymous, none of this data will be used to personally identify you.

To deliver and route telephone calls, our service may automatically log information concerning the numbers its customers call and from which numbers they receive calls; the service features and functions used; the frequency of such use, and other CPNI as described herein.

Data that Buckeye collects from its customers is maintained and used as otherwise described herein as well as for the purpose of customer communication (e.g., to make sure customers receive the requested services; to make sure they are being billed properly; to send relevant account and service information; to maintain or improve the quality of the Buckeye's equipment and services; to answer questions from subscribers (e.g., for troubleshooting); to ensure compliance with relevant law and contractual provisions; to market services and other products that that may be of interest to a customer; and for tax, compliance, and accounting purposes).

With respect to CPNI, Buckeye uses information from furnishing phone services to provide customers with information about communications-related products or services within the same category of services to which you already subscribe. In addition, we may from time to time use such CPNI to provide information about communications-related products or services outside of the category of service to which you already subscribe (e.g., data services), subject to the customer's right to restrict use of CPNI for these purposes.

To exercise your right to restrict use, please notify us in writing at our main office or call 419-724-9800 (NW Ohio/SE Michigan) or 419-627-0800 (Erie County). Include your name, account number, telephone number and address on any written request. If you do not notify us within 30 days of this notification that you wish to restrict our use of your CPNI, it is assumed that you approve using CPNI for this purpose.

Buckeye will not use CPNI without customer permission to provide information or marketing as to services that the FCC classifies as non-communications-related (including video services), or that are offered by third parties or joint ventures in which we participate. However, service representatives may request specific customer permission to use CPNI for the purpose of providing an offer as to video or other services. If such permission is granted, Buckeye will use or disclose the CPNI only for the duration of that telephone call, conversation, or other communication and only to offer additional services.

Permission or denial of permission to use CPNI remains valid until such time as phone services are discontinued or we receive notice changing the customer election on this issue.

2. Disclosure of Personally Identifiable Information and CPNI

Under the Communications Act, Buckeye may disclose personally identifiable information without your prior written or electronic consent only if: (1) disclosure is necessary to provide the customer services or conduct a legitimate business related to those services; (2) disclosure is required by law; or (3) for mailing lists, subject to the conditions described below. We may also disclose personally identifiable information and CPNI with customer consent.

Pursuant to providing services, Buckeye discloses personally identifiable information to third parties as necessary to provide customer services, including: our employees; related legal entities; agents; strategic partners offering products or services jointly or on our behalf; vendors acting under our direction, including repair and installation subcontractors; sales representatives; accountants; billing and collection services; consumer and market research firms; credit reporting agencies; and authorized representatives of governmental bodies. We also disclose the information to advertisers and vendors in order to carry out transactions at customer request.

To improve audience analysis, Buckeye may provide data that does not include personally identifiable subscriber information to third parties who combine it with other information. This anonymous data helps program networks and cable operators decide which programs, channels, and advertising to carry. Buckeye may also use such anonymous information to distribute targeted advertising without disclosing any personally identifiable information to the advertisers. These advertisements may invite customer interaction or transactional follow-up.

Unless you object, Buckeye may disclose limited personally identifiable information (as described below) for non-cable-related purposes, such as direct marketing. Such disclosures are limited to the following "mailing list information": customer name, address and the services being provided (e.g., premium channels such as HBO, or tiers of service). In addition, we may add commercially available information that is available from third parties, such as your age, income, and other demographic or marketing information; or from advertisers to whom you have provided this information. Personally identifiable mailing list information does not include the extent of your viewing or use of a particular service; the nature of any transaction you make over the cable system; or any information that constitutes CPNI.

We may disclose or sell such mailing list information from time to time. If you wish to be removed from our mailing list, please notify us in writing at our main office, which will be noted on your cable bill; or by sending an email to askus@buckeyebroadband.com. Please include your name and address on any such request.

We must disclose certain personally identifiable information and CPNI for phone service customers to 911 services; and to the customer, or upon express customer authorization to a designee. We also disclose limited personal information to telephone companies to ensure appropriate call routing. A party called via a toll-free number may identify the origin telephone number using a telephone network technology called Automatic Number Identification (ANI), but FCC rules prohibit parties that receive calls on toll-free numbers from distributing these telephone numbers.
