Playing for the First Time

Answering the questionnaire

When you play for the first time, some questions will be presented to you. Be honest when answering the questions – think about how you would really respond. Your answers determine which Pokémon you will be on your adventure.

Name Pokémon

After the questions, you will be asked to name your partner Pokémon. Enter a name that you think is the best. Once done, choose END. Once you awake in the game, you will be asked to enter your name. Do the same thing you did for your partner.

Entering names

+ Control Pad	Move cursor	R Button	Move cursor right
A Button	Select a letter	START	Move cursor to END
B Button	Delete a letter	SELECT	Not used
L Button	Move cursor left	OVR / INS	Overwrite a letter or insert one

Continuing the Game

When you play after you save the game, the Main Menu (to the right) will be displayed. Choose a command and select with the A Button.

CONTINUE

You can resume the game from the spot where you last saved. Your play time and the number of your adventures will also be displayed.

DELETE SAVE DATA

Your save data will be deleted. Your ADVENTURE LOG will still remain; however, the rest of your data will be cleared and you will have to start from the beginning.

ADVENTURE LOG

You can check your rescue team's achievements. You can also check the Moves you have learned, and the number of Pokémon that have joined your team.

FRIEND RESCUE, TRADE ITEMS and WONDER MAIL

Using the Game Boy Advance Game Link™ cable, or by entering passwords, you can interact with your friends (see page 36). These features expand the adventures possible to you.

How to Stop Playing

Even if you are on an adventure in a dungeon, you can quicksave your game. Save your adventure whenever you want, and proceed at your own pace!

How to Save

You can save the game using your bed in your Rescue Team Base. Walk to the bed, and when you are asked if you would like to save, select YES. You can start the game from here next time you play.

Saving while on an Adventure

Open the menu, select OTHERS, and then QUICKSAVE OR GIVE UP. If you choose QUICKSAVE, you can stop playing the game even if you are in a dungeon. However, once you resume a quicksaved adventure, the quicksave data will be deleted. Choosing GIVE UP will return you to your base in the same way as being defeated during an adventure.

When you are Defeated on an Adventure

If your HP hits 0 in a dungeon, you are defeated and you will be brought back to your base. If you are defeated in a dungeon, you will lose all of your money, and some of your items as well. However, you do not lose any experience points (Exp. Points). As you proceed further in the story, you will be able to ask your friends to come and try to rescue you. When you are asked if you would like to call for a rescue, select YES. You will now be AWAITING RESCUE (see page 36).

Even if you are defeated, try again! Never give up!

NOTE! There can only be one adventure save file.

Game Flow

Before you know it, you will form a rescue team with your partner Pokémon and set off on dungeon adventures without delay.

Get the Rescue Team Starter Set!

When you form your rescue team, a Starter Set will be delivered to your mailbox. In it, you will find a Rescue Team Badge, a Toolbox in which you can keep items you find in dungeons, and a copy of Pokémon News.

Check the Mailbox

The mailbox in front of the Rescue Team Base will get new issues of Pokémon News as well as rescue requests. Check the mailbox frequently.

Get ready!

Once your preparations are complete, you can set off on an adventure. Before you go to a dungeon, you can go to Pokémon Square and buy and sell items, store and take items, and train your team at the Makuhita Dojo.

• DEFAULT

• GIVE UP

Give up in a dungeon and return to your base.

While in a dungeon on a mission, there are many “enemy” Pokémon that will attack you. Rescue as many Pokémon in trouble as possible by mastering the ways of battling.

Turn-based battles!

The battles in dungeons use a turn-based system. When your Pokémon moves one step, all enemies on the floor do the same. When you attack once, the enemies attack once. Each time this happens, it's called a “turn”. If you don't make any actions, the enemy Pokémon will do nothing as well. Make sure you don't rush yourself, you have time to think the battles through carefully.

Take advantage of your Moves in battle

You can get more Exp. Points when you defeat an enemy using Moves instead of regular attacks. Once you set a Move, you can use it by simply pressing the L and A Buttons together.

GROUND

Check the ground you are standing on. If you find an item, you can pick it up or eat it. You can also exchange it with one of yours, or throw it at an enemy.

Check Pokémon type

Pokémon and Moves have their own types. There are matchup advantages and disadvantages. For example, Water type has an advantage against Fire type. Pay attention to type, and use the right Move against the right enemy.

Status changes

If you are affected by a status change (such as Paralysis, Poison or Burn) by an enemy Pokémon's attack, restore yourself using Seeds or Berries. You can also be restored by moving to the next floor.

Utilise items

Gravelerocks are very useful in battles. If you throw it at an enemy Pokémon that is far away, it can do significant damage to them before you get close. There are many items you can throw. If you set an item, you can throw it easily by pressing the L and R Buttons (see page 19).

How to Check the Dungeon Map

- White dot Your location
- Yellow dot Team member's location
- Red dot Enemy Pokémon's location
- Blue dot Item location
- Blue square Stairs location

Dungeons change every time

Every time you enter a dungeon, the layout changes. The way the rooms are connected and the location of the stairs change every time you go into a dungeon – even the same one.

Watch the weather carefully

Dungeons are affected by weather, such as CLEAR, CLOUDY, RAINY, SANDSTORM and SNOW. Depending on a Pokémon's type, some will take damage while some attacks are actually raised by the weather.

Restoring HP in a dungeon

Even though your HP is decreased from enemy attacks, it is restored little by little as you walk around in a dungeon. If you want your HP to recover quicker, press and hold the A and B Buttons at the same time. Since this causes turns to proceed while standing still, your HP will restore very quickly. Be careful, if you do this, your Belly decreases and enemy Pokémon will also gather around you.

Items

Items are indispensable when you're on a rescue mission. Make sure you understand completely what effect each item has.

You can find items in many places

Items can be obtained many ways, such as picking them up in a dungeon, buying them at shops, and having them given to you by a client after a successful mission. Since items have varying effects, use them carefully.

Check the effect of items

Have you found an item that you don't know how to use? If so, check the INFO of the item under the ITEMS command. This way, you can use items efficiently.

These are some of the items that you can use in the game:

- Apple A food item that somewhat fills the Pokémon's Belly.

Pelipper Post Office

Pokémon in charge: Pelipper

You can receive SOS Mails from other players and leave on a friend rescue from here. Also, you can send A-OK Mails or send and receive Thank-You Mails here. Check the bulletin board in front of the Post Office where you can find rescue jobs (see page 36).

Introduction to the Pokémon World

This is a world in which only Pokémon live. There are so many places to see — such as the Thunderwave Cave or Mt. Thunder.

The Pokémon World

This time around, your adventures will take place in various dungeons located throughout this Pokémon world. In the dungeons, the terrain, enemies and items you find will change every time you enter them — even if it's the same dungeon. Take great care when you go on a rescue job, you never know what you'll find!

Friend Areas

Friend Areas are important places where your Pokémon friends can live. Without Friend Areas, Pokémon cannot become your friends. You can buy Friend Areas at the Wigglytuff Club in Pokémon Square.

Using the Game Boy Advance Game Link cable

The Game Boy Advance Game Link cable enables you to expand your enjoyment even further. The following is an introduction on how to use it.

This game is not compatible with other Pokémon versions for the Game Boy™ or Game Boy Advance.

Please also remember that you cannot link up with friends that are playing in another language.

The flow of friend rescues

1. Waiting for a friend rescue

Select GET HELP under the FRIEND RESCUE command on the Main Menu, then choose SEND SOS MAIL. Next, select GAME LINK CABLE. Connect the cable following the instructions on the screen, then press the A Button to begin communication.

If you use passwords, just let the other player know the password displayed on the screen.

2. Going on a friend rescue

Select GO RESCUE under the FRIEND RESCUE command on the Main Menu, then choose RECEIVE SOS MAIL. Next, select GAME LINK CABLE and resume the game by selecting CONTINUE on the Main Menu. Once you start the game, go to the Pelipper Post Office and talk to the Pelipper on the left.

Select LEAVE FOR RESCUE to go on the friend rescue mission. When you reach the Rescue Spot and select RESCUE, the rescue will be completed. You will then automatically return to the Pelipper Post Office. Talk to the Pelipper on the left and send an A-OK Mail.

When you send an A-OK Mail, you can send a Pokémon you've befriended to your friend as a helper Pokémon.

- The Pokémon will not disappear from your game if you send it as a helper Pokémon.
- You can also receive SOS Mails at the Pelipper Post Office.

3. Waiting for a friend rescue

When the player who left on a friend rescue mission succeeds, they will send you an A-OK Mail. Once they have done this, select GET HELP under the FRIEND RESCUE command on the Main Menu, then choose RECEIVE A-OK MAIL. Next, select GAME LINK CABLE and choose REVIVE TEAM after you receive the A-OK Mail. Now you can resume the game from the spot where you were defeated in the dungeon.

There is also a chance that your friend sent you a helper Pokémon along with the A-OK Mail. If so, you can resume your adventure with the helper Pokémon.

Thank-You Mail

The player who was revived can send a Thank-You Mail to the player who rescued them. To do this, select GET HELP under the FRIEND RESCUE command on the Main Menu. Then select SEND THANK-YOU MAIL and choose GAME LINK CABLE. You can do the same thing by talking to the Pelipper on the right at the Pelipper Post Office and choosing SEND THANK-YOU MAIL. If you want, you can attach an item to the Thank-You Mail. After selecting the method of sending the mail, choose SEND ITEM, then choose the item you want to attach.

If you have no items at Kangaskhan Storage, you cannot send one.

Trade Items

Using the Game Link cable, you can trade your items in Kangaskhan Storage with other players. Make use of this feature to help you on your adventures.

Wonder Mail

When you receive Wonder Mail, you will get the same rescue job as the friend who sent it. Something good may happen if you clear this rescue mission...

Passwords enable you to do the same!

If you aren't able to link up with a friend (for example, if your friend has the Blue Rescue Team version), you can use passwords to send and receive mail for friend rescue missions. Simply choose the PASSWORD command when you are asked how you would like to send or receive mail (see page 10 for how to input passwords).

You cannot send helper Pokémon when you use passwords.
