NutriBullet Rx[®] recipe guide.

The next level of extraction.

At the time of this book's printing, over 10 million individuals will have joined the NutriBullet[®] Revolution! Whether you've previously owned a NutriBullet[®], or are just starting your journey with our line of products, your purchase of the NutriBullet Rx[®] proves your commitment to health and wellness.

Eating a diet rich in fruits and vegetables has proven to be one of the best steps to take on the path to longevity.

A recent study conducted by the University College of London found a 42% decrease in mortality rates among individuals who ate 7 or more servings of fresh fruits and vegetables a day compared with those who ate less than one daily serving!

While those conclusions are impressive, consuming that much produce is not always easy. Fruits and vegetables generally require lots of preparation and lots of chewing to make it to your digestive system. Many complain about their taste, and many others have digestive disorders that can be agitated when taxed with the breakdown of high-fiber foods. This is where the NutriBullet Rx comes in.

With its 1700 horsepower motor, 7-minute heating cycle, and large vessel sizes, the NutriBullet Rx embodies the next progression in eating for longevity. This newest addition to the NutriBullet family allows you to make the smoothies you know and love with more power than ever before, plus all-new SouperBlasts — puréed vegetable-based soups mixed and heated right in the machine! The power, speed, size, and heating capabilities of the NutriBullet Rx make it easier than ever to maximize your intake of vegetables, fruits, nuts, seeds, and other superfoods!

The Rx Smoothie: The Best of Its Kind

The NutriBullet Rx outperforms any other machine of its kind when it comes to breaking down plant foods, making the Rx Smoothie — the delicious vegetable and fruit-based drink mixed inside the machine—one of the most powerfully nutritious meals available! Extracting a Rx Smoothie in your NutriBullet allows you to quickly prepare and take in a full spectrum of veggies, fruits, and other superfoods in one convenient, smooth, and delicious beverage!

Introducing the SouperBlast

In addition to its incredible extraction powers, the NutriBullet Rx features a 7-Minute Heating Cycle that turns your favorite vegetables, fruits, nuts, seeds, and spices into delicious, piping hot SouperBlasts. SouperBlasts have the taste and texture of puréed soups, but contain the power of extracted nutrition within. Simply add your ingredients to the vent-topped SouperBlast Pitcher and press the n.-Button to activate the Heating Cycle. In seven minutes, you will have a multi-serving batch of a warm and delicious superfood SouperBlast.

Vitality.

While nutrition is a complex field of study, nature gives us much of the information we need to choose our produce according to our personal health requirements. The easiest way to identify the nutrition locked within a given food is by looking at its color.

Our minds and bodies naturally associate different colored foods with different health needs: Have you ever found yourself craving oranges, orange juice, or carrots when you feel a cold coming on? This is due in part to the fact that they contain immune-boosting vitamin C and carotenoids—nutrients that work to fight off infection and illness in the body. Is your system calling for green juices and salads after a night of overindulging? On some level, you know that green foods contain the cleansing and detoxifying nutrients your body needs to regain its balance.

The NutriBullet Rx[®] aims to empower you with an understanding of the nutritional clues provided by nature's color spectrum. When you can recognize the vitamins and minerals associated with specific fruit and vegetable coloration, as well as the bodily systems and functions those nutrients support, you can make informed decisions on how to eat to address your specific health needs.

In the following section, you will find the NutriBullet Rx[®] Nature's Prescription Quiz. This quiz asks an extensive array of health-oriented questions to help you determine the best colors of foods for your system.

IN GENERAL, FOODS CAN BE CATEGORIZED AS FOLLOWS:

Red.
anti-aging

Oranges.
immune-boosting

Yellows. inflammation-regulating

Green.
detoxifying

Blue. brain-boosting

NOTE

While the physical color of recommended foods generally matches their color category, there are a few foods we have included in each category that match the health benefits of the others, but differ in color.

For example, avocado is labeled as a “Blue Brain Boosting” food despite its green color because it contains an exceptional amount of healthy fats that have been shown to support healthy brain function.

For a full list of the categories, their associated benefits, recommended foods, and delicious recipes, consult our color section on page 34.

Take our NutriBullet Rx® Color Quiz and find out what colors you should include in your Rx smoothies and SouperBlasts to suit your specific health needs!

the reds.

anti-aging

Seeing red isn't always a bad thing. In the case of diet and nutrition, red pigmentation often indicates a special blend of vitamins, minerals, and antioxidant nutrients that can help to protect the body from certain stressors associated with aging.

While the phrase "anti-aging" generally brings about images of mythical fountains of youth and magical elixirs, there is concrete evidence supporting the powerful role nutrition can play in slowing, and in some cases, reversing the wear and tear of time on the body.

Consult your quiz results to determine how many additional servings of "red" foods are recommended to incorporate into your Rx Smoothies or SouperBlasts to suit your health needs, and choose from the following list. See the end of this section for recipe ideas.

Top 10

anti-aging reds.

In addition to foods that appear red physically, there are several foods listed in this section that are not necessarily red in color, but provide similar benefits.

01 APPLE

Apples are rich in antioxidant nutrients — specifically flavonoids, which have been shown to neutralize the effects of oxidative stress on the body. Flavonoids are also linked with cardiovascular support, and may help to protect against clogged arteries, regulate blood pressure, and improve circulation.

02 CRANBERRY

Cranberries have long been hailed for their vitamin C content and urinary tract protection, but recent laboratory experiments have linked the small red fruits to increased lifespan. While these findings are not yet conclusive in humans, there's no question that this antioxidant-rich superfood makes an excellent addition to the diet.

03 GOJI BERRIES

Also known and sold as the wolfberry, this antioxidant powerhouse is renowned for slowing the aging process, protecting the brain, and defending the body against disease. The goji berry's vitamin A content boosts immune response and eye health, and helps to prevent heart disease.

04 POMEGRANATE

Pomegranate was one of the first fruits to be deemed a “superfood,” and for good reason: the small seeds of this ancient fruit are filled with polyphenol antioxidants, which have been shown to support the prevention of heart disease and certain cancers.

05 RED BELL PEPPER

Bell peppers are high in antioxidant carotenoids, which are highly regarded for their eye health-supporting and disease-fighting properties. Red bell peppers also contain vitamins A, C, and E, which provide a wide range of free-radical-fighting and immune-boosting benefits.

06 STRAWBERRY

Strawberries rank among the highest antioxidant fruits on the planet, making them excellent protectors against oxidative stress in the body, a condition often associated with aging, heart disease, and the development of cancer cells.

07 TOMATO

This popular fruit is well known for its antioxidant phytonutrient content, particularly its concentration of lycopene. Lycopene has been linked with a variety of health benefits, including protection against UV radiation and certain cancers. Tomatoes are also thought to play a role in heart health, and consumption of them has been linked to lower levels of LDL cholesterol and triglycerides in the blood.

08 ALMONDS

Filled with monounsaturated fats, fiber, and the nutrients biotin and vitamin E, almonds provide a slew of heart protecting and blood sugar-regulating benefits. Additionally, almonds have been shown to be helpful in lowering the risk of weight gain, despite their relatively high caloric content. This may be due to their satiating properties and their stabilizing effect on blood sugar levels.

09 CACAO

Raw cacao ranks among the highest antioxidant foods in the world and is well-regarded for its role in supporting heart health, balancing blood sugar levels, and regulating mood and alertness. In addition to its high concentration of antioxidant flavonoids, cacao also contains magnesium, chromium, iron, manganese, phosphorus, zinc, and copper—minerals that assist in metabolic functioning, muscular contraction, and the transportation of oxygen through the blood stream.

10 GREEN TEA

Loaded with antioxidant polyphenol and catechin compounds, green tea is one of the most healthful drinks on the planet. Regular consumption of green tea has been linked to benefits ranging from cancer prevention to weight loss. Green tea is also known for its neurological benefits, and several studies have found a connection between the polyphenols in green tea and protection against degenerative brain conditions like Parkinson's and Alzheimer's diseases.

the Immune-boosting oranges.

The immune system acts as the first line of defense against harmful invaders like viruses and illness-causing bacteria, and as “damage control” for the entire body — helping to heal and repair infection or disease-induced harm. Immune responses involve a complex array of bodily processes that require nutritional compounds in order to function.

The nutrients commonly found in orange foods have long been associated with immune support. Case in point: oranges. The citrus fruit and its juice are frequently praised for their immune-boosting vitamin C content. However, oranges and vitamin C provide only a small slice of a deliciously varied array of immune-supporting foods.

Most notably, Vitamin A, the B-vitamins, Vitamin D, Vitamin E, selenium, and zinc contribute directly to the immune response, and are abundant in many of your favorite fruits, vegetables, nuts, seeds, and superfoods.

If your quiz results suggest that you could use an extra few servings of “orange” foods in your diet, check out the following pages for a guide to the top 10 foods for immunity, as well as a list of recipes that are far tastier and healthier than that glass of OJ.

Top 10

immune-boosting oranges.

The “orange” foods included in this section contain exceptional amounts of the aforementioned nutrients. Add them to your Rx Smoothie and SouperBlasts during cold and flu season, or at any time you start to feel under the weather.

01 CAMU CAMU

Native to the Amazon region, camu camu contains one of nature’s highest concentrations of vitamin C. Perhaps the most well-known immunity-boosting nutrient, vitamin C has antioxidant, antibacterial, and antiviral properties. Including camu-camu in your daily regimen, especially during cold and flu season, can help your body build its defenses against harmful invaders.

02 CARROT

Carrots are highly regarded for their beta-carotene content, an antioxidant carotenoid that the body converts into vitamin A. Vitamin A has been found to play a role in protecting the body against infection, and also supports vision, bone, and skin health.

03 ORANGE

Oranges have long been hailed as the go-to immune-boosting fruit, and for good reason. This juicy citrus is filled with vitamin C, as well as fiber, folate, vitamin B1, and potassium. They also taste delicious, making them an easy choice for immune-boosting Rx Smoothie!

04 ORANGE BELL PEPPER

Much like carrots, orange bell peppers are loaded with carotenoids—specifically, alpha carotene, beta-carotene, lutein, and lycopene, among others—all of which have immune, heart, and vision-supporting properties. Bell peppers also contain vitamin C, which can help protect the body against infection.

05 RED LENTILS

Lentils contain a wealth of nutrients, including vitamin B6, zinc, and iron—all of which play an important role in immune support. Vitamin B6 and zinc, in particular, help the body manufacture white blood cells—an integral part of the immune response.

06 SWEET POTATO

Nutritionally similar to carrots, sweet potatoes contain a wealth of beta-carotene and vitamin A, which work together to fight oxidative stress in the body that often results from infection or disease. Sweet potatoes also contain several other beneficial antioxidant nutrients. It is advisable that you pair sweet potatoes with a small amount of healthful plant-based fats—roughly 3-5 grams—to maximize your body’s absorption of beta-carotene.

07 BRAZIL NUT

This large tree nut is one of nature's best sources of selenium—a nutrient which helps produce proteins that prompt the immune response. Just one Brazil nut contains the daily requirement of selenium; including just one per day in your Rx Smoothie or SouperBlast can help prepare your body for battle against the many invaders it encounters on a daily basis.

08 CAULIFLOWER

Cauliflower makes an excellent immune boosting food due to its many antioxidants, including glutathione, which fights harmful bacteria in the body to protect against infection. Cauliflower also contains folate — a B-vitamin necessary for the production of invader-fighting white blood cells. Enjoy raw in a Rx smoothie or SouperBlast to enjoy the many health benefits this veggie provides.

09 GARLIC

This pungent little plant is known for its immune-boosting prowess. Home to hundreds of sulfuric compounds, garlic has been studied for its antibacterial and antiviral qualities, and has been used as remedy for infections ranging from gangrene to the common cold throughout the course of history. It certainly packs a punch of flavor, but adding a clove or two of raw garlic to your SouperBlasts might be the secret to warding off those sniffles come cold and flu season.

10 ONION

Much like garlic, onion contains sulfuric compounds that have proven to be helpful in fighting infection. Onions also contain prebiotic compounds, which feed the good bacteria in your gut that ease digestion.

the inflammation -soothing yellows.

If you've ever enjoyed a delicious bowl of Indian curry, you are most likely familiar with turmeric — the spice that gives traditional curry its glowing yellow color. Turmeric is one of nature's most potent anti-inflammatory foods due to its concentrated content of the phenol curcumin, and it is not the only yellow-hued food to assist in the body's regulation of inflammation.

Studies show that consuming foods rich in yellow flavonoids and dark yellow carotenoids can help calm persistent inflammation in the body — a condition considered a major driver of many modern day diseases, including diabetes, cancer, heart disease, arthritis, and dementia.

To fight inflammation, it is equally as important to avoid foods in the diet that foster the condition as it is to eat foods that fight it. Fast food, fried food, processed foods, refined grains, sugar-laden desserts and soda, and alcohol all promote a cascade of reactions in the body that ultimately signal trouble.

If you scored high for yellow, your body is most likely engaged in some type of inflammatory response. To soothe your inner fire, avoid the aforementioned foods, and incorporate the "Top 10 Yellows" detailed in this section into your Rx Smoothie or SouperBlast.

Top 10

inflammation- soothing yellows.

THE FOODS LISTED IN THIS SECTION CAN BE CONSIDERED ANTI-INFLAMMATORY FOR THE FOLLOWING REASONS:

- They contain phenolic compounds and enzymes that help blunt the inflammatory response.
- They contain antioxidants that scavenge free radicals in the body, preventing them from causing further damage.
- They lower the levels of certain enzymes in the body known to cause inflammation.

01 GINGER

Known for its anti-nausea effects, ginger is also a powerful anti-inflammatory food due to its suppression of compounds known to signal the inflammatory response. There is some evidence that ginger may also help reduce pain caused by osteoarthritis (OA), but results are not yet conclusive.

02 GOLDEN BEETS

Many of the betalains found in beets function both as antioxidants and anti-inflammatory molecules. While the yellow variety is less potent than its red cousin, it's still a great (and less messy!) addition to your Rx Smoothie.

03 PINEAPPLE

Pineapples contain the enzyme bromelain. Bromelain has been shown in several studies to reduce inflammation associated with arthritis, sinusitis, tendonitis, sprains, and other inflammatory conditions.

04 RAINIER CHERRIES

These sweet yellow-red cherries are bursting with polyphenolic compounds known to reduce inflammation and oxidation in the body. Specifically, numerous clinical studies have found cherries to be especially helpful in relieving the muscular damage and inflammation that follow vigorous exercise.

05 SAFFRON

Though saffron is known primarily as one of the world's most expensive flavor-enhancing spices, it has been used for centuries in Asia as a medicinal plant. Its antioxidant and scavenging properties help the body fight against pro-inflammatory cytokine proteins and various free radicals.

06 TURMERIC

Turmeric is one of the most celebrated anti-inflammatory foods due its high concentrations of the compound curcumin, which gives the root its intense yellow color. Curcumin has been found to reduce the levels of two enzymes in the body that cause inflammation, and has proven especially effective in soothing arthritic symptoms.

07 VIRGIN OLIVE OIL

Olive oil is rich in Vitamin E, a powerful antioxidant shown to spur anti-inflammatory activity in tissues. Additionally, studies have revealed that a compound in the oil prevents the body from releasing two pro-inflammatory enzymes: COX-1 and COX-2, which can cause pain in the body when produced in excess.

08 YELLOW CHILI PEPPER

Chili peppers are rich in capsaicin, a chemical used in topical creams to reduce pain and inflammation. Adding a small piece or two into your Rx Smoothie or SouperBlast can help to heal your insides as well! Just use caution with your serving size...a little bit of this potent pepper goes a long way!

09 FLAX SEEDS

Flax seeds are a rich source of ALA Omega-3 fatty acids, which have been shown to significantly reduce the concentration of pro-inflammatory compounds in the blood. The benefits of flax seed are only available to the body in powdered form, making the NutriBullet Rx® the perfect tool for enjoying this healthful food!

10 KIWI

Though its flesh is green, kiwi earns its spot on the list of "Top 10 Yellows" due to its inflammation-reducing properties. Like pineapple, kiwi contains a beneficial protein-digesting enzyme that boosts the body's ability to fight inflammation. It is also bursting with vitamin C.

the Detoxifying greens.

Detoxification is a natural bodily process and most organ systems have developed their own methods of self-cleansing. However, in our modern era, our exposure to environmental, chemical, dietary, and even emotional toxins is greater than ever before and most bodies could do with a little external assistance.

If the concept of “detoxing” terrifies you, have no fear! Our methods of detoxification do not involve forgoing all food in favor of overpriced green elixirs or soaking in an Epson salt bath for the larger portion of the day. If your quiz results skewed green, all we suggest is that you toss some of the green cleansing foods detailed in this section into your Rx Smoothies and SouperBlasts in addition to your baseline leafy greens.

Green foods contain chlorophyll, a pigment responsible for their green color and a critical component of the photosynthetic process. Chlorophyll has been shown to neutralize free radicals and eliminate toxins like heavy metals, pesticides, and industrial pollutants from the body, making it an essential addition to the diet in our increasingly toxic environment.

Despite a survey showing that 28% of Americans “fear the [way they] look,” green juices and smoothies have never been more popular. If you believe in the power of green as strongly as we do, the NutriBullet Rx® is your ideal tool, helping you maximize your intake of leafy greens and cruciferous veggies without spending a fortune at the juice bar or smoothie shop. Choose from a wide array of delicious and satisfying Rx Smoothie and SouperBlast recipes and kiss those toxins goodbye! We promise you won’t miss them.

Consult your quiz results to determine how many additional servings of “green” foods are recommended to incorporate into your Rx Smoothie or SouperBlasts to suit your health needs and choose from the following list. See the end of this section for recipe ideas.

Top 10

Detoxifying greens.

The foods listed in this section can be considered detoxifying for the following reasons:

- They contain certain molecules that bind carcinogens and other internal toxins together to prepare for excretion.
- They provide critical nutrients for the liver's natural detoxification pathways.
- They contain phytochemicals such as Indole-3-Carbinol (I3C), which appear to have anti-carcinogenic and anti-cancer properties.
- They promote acid/alkaline balance that can lead to more effective elimination of toxins from the body.

01 ARTICHOKE

The liver detoxifies the body by filtering the blood, producing bile, and breaking down toxins and waste. Artichokes have been shown in human studies to increase the production of bile, which helps to eliminate toxins in the body by flushing them out through the colon.

02 BROCCOLI

A member of the brassica family, broccoli is rich in sulfur-containing compounds known as glucosinates. Human studies show that glucosinate-containing compounds may trigger detoxifying enzyme systems in the body. Increasing consumption of glucosinates may help to fuel this process.

03 BRUSSELS SPROUTS

Like broccoli, Brussels sprouts are also a member of the brassica family, and are also rich in sulfur-containing glucosinates. Brussels sprouts contain compounds shown to be helpful in both Phase 1 and Phase 2 of the detoxification process, supplying ample antioxidant support during the former, and liver support during the latter.

04 CILANTRO AND PARSLEY

Proving that great things come in small packages, these herbs are known for their heavy-metal chelating capabilities—meaning they help bind metal ions for easier elimination from the body

05 CHLORELLA

This single-celled algae has been shown to bind heavy metals such as mercury and other toxic pollutants together to escort them out of vital tissues. Chlorella is noted for its large amounts of chlorophyll, which is why one tiny scoop will make your entire Rx Smoothie glow green!

06 GREEN TEA

Green tea is rich in antioxidants known as catechins. These have shown to boost liver function and help reduce fat storage in the liver.

07 KALE

Kale is one of the top detoxifying greens for a number of reasons: it contains ample antioxidants, which neutralize toxic free radical compounds in the body; it is highly fibrous and improves bowel regularity, which facilitates elimination of bulk and toxins from the colon; and, as a member of the brassica family, it is filled with compounds known to support healthy liver functioning.

08 RED BEETS & THEIR GREENS

Beets are not green, you're correct, but they are hugely helpful when it comes to detoxification. The deep red root and its leafy tops contain betalins—compounds with powerful antioxidant properties that also support Phase 2 Detoxification in the liver.

09 WHEATGRASS

Wheatgrass contains multiple enzymes, minerals, and vitamins, as well as our beloved chlorophyll that aid the body's natural ability to cleanse itself. While the mechanism isn't exactly known, it is believed that since the chlorophyll molecule is similar in structure to hemoglobin, it helps boost blood flow which aids in general detoxification.

10 LEMONS

Though yellow in color, lemons rightly deserve their place among the "Top-10 Greens" with their detoxifying properties. Lemon juice helps to balance pH levels in body and, like artichokes, stimulates the production of bile from the liver, which helps to bind and remove toxins from the body.

The blues.

brain empowering

Getting the blues never seemed so smart! Foods that are physically blue or purple in color contain a wealth of antioxidant nutrients that benefit the brain and central nervous system. In particular, anthocyanin—the antioxidant pigment that gives these foods their indigo shades—has been linked to maintaining long-term brain health, extending the sharpness of memory and overall cognitive functioning that tend to decline with age.

Anthocyanins are also known for supporting circulation in the body. A brain cannot function in the absence of nutrients and oxygen, so a consistent blood flow is integral to its health.

In addition to anthocyanin-rich blue fruits and vegetables, foods rich in DHA omega-3 fatty acids have proven effective in improving and maintaining brain health. The gray matter tissue present in our brains is largely comprised of DHA fatty acids, a substance the body cannot produce on its own. To receive the building blocks of this gray matter, our body must rely on food sources. Absent or decaying “gray matter” has been associated with dementia and Alzheimer’s Disease, so including a hefty dose of Omega-3 fatty acids in the diet could be beneficial for aging brains.

Consult your quiz results to determine how many additional servings of “blue/purple” foods are recommended to incorporate into your Rx Smoothies or SouperBlasts to suit your health needs and choose from the following list. See the end of this section for recipe ideas.

Top 10

Brain-empowering blues.

01 BLACK BEANS

These popular legumes are often praised for their protein and fiber content, but what separates this variety from other beans is their rich anthocyanin content. Anthocyanin antioxidants supply a wide variety of health benefits, but they've come to recent attention for their protective effect on the brain. Though much is still being researched about anthocyanin pigments, studies suggest that they may help the brain recover from trauma and help protect against age-related brain degeneration.

02 BLACKBERRIES

Another anthocyanin-rich fruit, blackberries also contain healthful fiber and vitamin C. A 2009 Tufts University study found that anthocyanin-rich pigments potentially increase signaling between neurons in the brain, which could help to prevent inflammation in the brain.

03 BLUEBERRIES

Blueberries have become the poster child for the neurological benefits of anthocyanin pigments, and for good reason. Studies show that even short-term inclusion of blueberries in the diet can improve memory function in aging brains. Blueberries have also shown to have preventative effects against destructive brain processes leading to Parkinson's disease and Alzheimer's disease in several laboratory studies.

04 EGGPLANT

Like many of the foods in this section, the skin of the eggplant contains anthocyanin pigments. Specifically, the globe eggplant contains the anthocyanin nasunin, which has proven especially effective in protecting the brain's fatty tissues. Cooked eggplant makes a delicious addition to any SouperBlast.

05 PLUMS

While plums come in a variety of colors, those with the darkest skin and flesh are typically highest in anthocyanin antioxidants. However, all varieties provide a wealth of beneficial nutrients, and can be incorporated into Rx Smoothies and SouperBlasts alike!

06 PURPLE CABBAGE

In addition to its brain-protecting anthocyanin pigments, cabbage also contains sulfuric compounds known to assist in anti-inflammatory and detoxifying processes within the body. To reap the maximum benefits from this superfood, enjoy raw in Rx Smoothies or SouperBlasts, or cook for less than 5 minutes.

07 PURPLE GRAPES

Like the other darkly colored foods on this list, dark purple grapes contain anthocyanin pigments shown to extend brain health with age. Additionally, grapes contain resveratrol, an antioxidant variant linked to anti-aging benefits. Generally speaking, the darker the skin and flesh of the grape, the more antioxidant-rich it will be, so look out for dark blue-black varieties like the Concord or Ribier grape.

08 AVOCADO

Avocados contain the highest concentration of healthy fats among all fruits, compounds that are essential to healthy brain development. Among these fats are Omega-3 fatty acids, which have been found play a role in reducing harmful inflammation that can impair brain and other bodily functions. In addition to their healthy fats, avocados contain vitamin E, protein, and fiber.

09 FLAX SEEDS

These seeds contain a high proportion of brain-boosting omega-3 fatty acids—over 100% of the recommended daily intake in just one 2-tbsp serving! To reap the benefits of these healthy fats, as well as the remaining nutrients locked within these somewhat slippery seeds, it is best to extract flax seeds in the NutriBullet Rx® prior to consuming.

10 WALNUTS

These brain-shaped nuts are powerful sources of omega-3 fatty acids, which have been shown to help improve brain health and memory. In addition to their brain-boosting prowess, walnuts also contain gamma-tocopherol, an especially heart-healthy form of vitamin E.

- 1 TBSP LEMON JUICE
- ½ TSP SALT PEPPER
TO TASTE
- 1 TBSP PARSLEY
FRESH, CHOPPED
TO GARNISH

- 1 Heat oil in a large soup pot over medium heat. Add onions and garlic and sauté until lightly browned, about 3 minutes. Add eggplant and thyme, stirring occasionally until the eggplant is partially cooked, about 3 minutes. Add the peppers, zucchini, and squash and cook for another 5 minutes. Stir in tomatoes, beans, tomato paste, vegetable stock, lemon juice, and salt and cover with a lid. Simmer for 5 minutes.
- 2 Remove the mixture from the heat and ALLOW TO COOL TO ROOM TEMPERATURE, ABOUT 30 MINUTES TO AN HOUR. To accelerate this process, transfer the pot to the refrigerator for 10-20 minutes.
- 3 Once cooled, add ⅓ of the mixture to the SouperBlast Pitcher. Transfer the remaining ⅔ to a microwave-safe dish or the stove top to reheat and stir in once the pureed soup has heated through.

* Cooled to room temperature for at least 30 minutes, if making it fresh!

2 NORI SHEETS
FINELY CHOPPED

1 TSP SALT

4 CUPS VEGETABLE
OR CHICKEN
BROTH*

2 TBSP TOMATO PASTE

2 TBSP LEMON JUICE

1 Prepare the cashew base by draining the soaked cashews and adding them to the SouperBlast Pitcher. Add the arrowroot flour, broth, and Worcestershire sauce and extract until smooth, about 90 seconds.

2 In a large pot, heat coconut oil over medium heat. Add onions and carrots and cook until tender, about 5 minutes. Add mushrooms and celery and cook until the mushrooms are cooked through, but firm, to mimic the texture of clams. Add the chopped new potatoes, nori, salt, and remaining vegetable/chicken broth and cover to bring to a boil, then reduce to simmer over low heat for 10-15 minutes until potatoes are cooked through.

3 Slowly add the cashew cream base into the pot and simmer 5-8 minutes, stirring occasionally until desired thickness is achieved. Finally, stir in tomato paste and lemon juice, stir until fully combined, then remove from heat and serve.

* Cooled to room temperature for at least 30 minutes, if making it fresh!

“Cream” of Mushroom.

2 TBSP OF WATER SAUTÉ

1 CUP ALMOND MILK

1 TSP SALT

FRESHLY GROUND PEPPER TO TASTE

GARNISH PARSLEY & PAPRIKA CHOPPED FRESH

- 2 Add the minced garlic, thyme, and sage, and cook for an additional 2 minutes. Add sliced mushrooms and cook for 5 more minutes, stirring continuously until cooked through.
- 3 Allow the pot mixture to cool to room temperature, at least 30 minutes. You can accelerate this process by transferring to the refrigerator for 10-20 minutes.
- 4 Empty $\frac{3}{5}$ of the pot's ingredients to the SouperBlast Pitcher. Add cashews, almond milk, and vegetable stock and extract on the 7-minute heated cycle until smooth and warm.
- 5 While the soup extracts reheat the remaining mushroom/onion mixture over medium heat, adding liquid if necessary.
- 6 Pour the extracted soup into bowls and top with a scoop of the solid mushroom mixture.

- 1 Add onions and 2 tbsp vegetable stock to a pot over medium-high heat. Cook the onions in the liquid until translucent, about 5 minutes, stirring continuously and adding small amounts of vegetable stock as necessary to prevent sticking.

* Cooled to room temperature for at least 30 minutes, if making it fresh!

“Cream” of broccoli.

FRESH, CHOPPED
- 2½ TBSP TARRAGON LEAVES
FRESH, CHOPPED
- 2 TBSP PARSLEY
FRESH, CHOPPED
- SALT & PEPPER TO TASTE

- 1 Heat the olive oil in a large heavy-bottomed soup pot over medium heat. Add the shallots, leek, and a pinch of salt and sauté, stirring until translucent and tender—about 5 minutes. Add the parsnips and cauliflower, and another pinch of salt. Partially cover the pot and cook for another 5-10 minutes, removing the lid periodically to stir the vegetables. When parsnips and cauliflower are cooked through but still firm, add the stock, bay leaf, thyme, tarragon, and parsley. Bring to a boil, then reduce to a simmer for 45 minutes, or until the vegetables are very soft and the soup is fragrant.
- 2 Remove the soup from the heat, remove the bay leaf, and transfer to the refrigerator until it has cooled completely — about 3 hours. Once cool, add all ingredients to the SouperBlast Pitcher and extract on the 7-minute Heated Cycle.

* Cooled to room temperature for at least 30 minutes, if making it fresh!

GARNISH DICED CHIVES
(OPTIONAL)

1 Soak cashews in filtered water overnight or for at least 4 hours; drain liquid.

2 Cook potato either by baking it in the oven at 350°F for about 45 minutes until fork tender or by peeling, cutting into cubes and steaming in a steamer basket. Allow potato to cool and remove skin.

3 Roast garlic by peeling the outer papery layer away from an entire head, cutting the top end of the head to expose the tips of all cloves, and roasting at 400 degrees for 30-35 minutes; you can also purchase pre-roasted garlic cloves.

4 Combine all ingredients in the SouperBlast Pitcher, top with the Vent Top Lid and set to the 7-Minute heating mode. Divide among serving bowls and top with optional tempeh bacon bits!

* Cooled to room temperature for at least 30 minutes, if making it fresh!

TEMPEH BACON

1 PACKAGE TEMPEH
(8 OZ, CUT INTO
THIN STRIPS TO MIMIC THE SHAPE OF BACON)

¼ CUP SOY SAUCE

¼ - ½ TSP LIQUID SMOKE

2 TBSP MAPLE SYRUP

1 TBSP APPLE CIDER VINEGAR

1 In medium bowl, mix together the soy sauce, liquid smoke, vinegar, and maple syrup. Marinate sliced tempeh in the liquid mixture for at least 4 hours.

2 When ready to prepare, preheat oven to 325°F. Remove tempeh slices from liquid, pat excess liquid away with a clean towel, and place on a baking sheet lined with parchment paper. Bake for 20-25 minutes, flipping the pieces over half way through cooking time. ALLOW TO COOL SLIGHTLY BEFORE CHOP INTO SMALL BACON-BIT SIZED PIECES (if desired for soup). Refrigerate leftovers in a tightly sealed container for up to 4 days.

Nut butters.

There's something so comforting about the silky, savory-sweet taste of nut butter. From Classic Peanut to exotic Tropical Spice macadamia, the recipes in this section provide ideas to quickly and easily extract your own decadent concoctions for a fraction of the cost of retail varieties. Consult our list below, or experiment to create your own mixtures using 3 cups of nuts, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup of liquid, and $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon of salt. Happy spreading!

Classic old-fashioned peanut butter.

SERVES: 8 (2 TBS PER SERVING)

- 3 CUPS PEANUTS
ROASTED
SHELLS REMOVED
- ¼ CUP PEANUT
OR GRAPESEED OIL
- ½ TSP SEA SALT

- 1 Add all ingredients to the NutriBullet Rx® Short Cup and extract for 30 seconds. Carefully remove the blade and stir ingredients to make sure the nuts reach the blade evenly. Repeat until the nuts form a smooth, even texture. This will take 3-6 rounds of extracting, removing the blade, and stirring.

Honey roasted peanut.

SERVES: 8 (2 TBS PER SERVING)

- 3 CUPS PEANUTS
RAW SHELLS REMOVED
- ¼ CUP HONEY
- ¼ TSP KOSHER SALT

- 1 Preheat oven to 325°F. Line a baking sheet with parchment paper.
- 2 In a large bowl, heat the honey in the microwave for 15-20 seconds until it reaches a liquid consistency. Add the peanuts and stir to coat.
- 3 Pour the honey-coated peanuts over the parchment-lined baking sheet in a flat layer. Roast for a total of 25 minutes, removing the sheet from the oven and turning the nuts over every five minutes to ensure an even roast.

- 4 Remove roasted peanuts from the oven and ALLOW TO COOL TO ROOM TEMPERATURE, AT LEAST 30 MINUTES. You can accelerate this process by transferring to the refrigerator for 10-20 minutes.
- 5 Once cool, add all ingredients to the NutriBullet Rx® Short Cup and extract for 30 seconds. Carefully remove the blade and stir ingredients to make sure the nuts reach the blade evenly. Repeat until the nuts form a smooth, even texture. This will take 3-6 rounds of extracting, removing the blade, and stirring.
