Royal Festival Hall concert on December 6

RICHIE HAVENS, one of the big successes of the recent Isle of Wight Festival, is to star in his own London concert.

The show, at the Royal Festival Hall on December 6, will feature Havens and the group which backed him at the Isle of Wight. There will be no supporting acts.

Determined

Jo Lustig, who is organising the concert, told the MM: "I was originally going to put the Pentangle on at the Festival Hall, but we decided to do the Royal Albert Hall on October 4 as the start of their tour.

"I was so knocked out with Richie at the Isle of Wight that I was determined to get him. I saw his manager Bert Block at once and we finalised the date.

Appearances

"Richie will probably also do some other appearances, possibly TV and concerts, in Britain around the same time."

A new Havens album may be released to coincide with the visit.

RAY CHARLES, WHO STARTS A NEW

BRITISH TOUR ON SEPTEMBER 26

THE BUSINESS tycoon swivelled in his office chair and fingered a Braille edition of Dr Tom Dooley: My Story. The scene was a business building owned by him on Washington Boulevard in Los Angeles, its second floor taken up by his recording studio and numerous other ventures (RPM Enterprises), the rest profitably rented out. As I was shown into his handsome, conservatively decorated office, he picked up a phone to talk briefly with Joe Adams, his suave ex-actor major domo, then leaned back in the chair. For the next hour or two Ray Charles - now 37, greying a little around the temples, and at relative peace with the world - rapped about life, race and the career that has brought him, among other comforts, an annual income well into the seven-figure bracket and a couple of private planes, one a jet.

Having recently read the galley proofs of a book due out soon, The Sound of Soul, by a sensitive black writer named Phyl Garland, I wondered what would Garland's assessment of the early Charles as "a young man in his 20s ... whose voice sounded indescribably old." be his reaction to Miss himself and with society. He is as far from Uncle Tommery as from militan-cy. When the subject of protest songs came up, he said, "it's sort of fashion-able now. I will not do a song just because it's the in thing to do." But he quickly added that he had recorded, a few years ago, two tunes that might be classified in the protest category. (But what, some militants may say, has he protested for us tately?)

The raging turmoil of the pre-cure Charles soon gave way to a calmer person-ality. After all the years of naked anguish he seemed to have come to terms with himself and with society.

Choice

CHOICE His present conservatism in the choice of material carries over into his atti-tude towards freakout elec-trime sounds. "I played electric piano long before li was popular — remember "What'd I Say' in 1959? — but not all these things ound good to me. The say has a nice sound when the mylifier is set right, but you saw my show at the Coconut Grove — nobody in my bund plays one. I haven't tried electric say mysell. Reasons

"One of the key reasons I'm still around is that we try to have a show that's as well rounded as possible, with something for the fan whether his bag be soul, country and western, modern jazz or what have you."

Ray Charles, multi-mil-tionaire, knows the fine print in every contract he signs, knows better than some of his own engineers how to run his own recording equipment and his airplanes. R^{ADIO} One deejay Kenny Everett last Saturday played snatches of the Beatles new album, "Abbey Road"--three weeks before the official release date on Septem-ber 26.

own words, indulging in a little "juggery-pokery. "I hummed over a backing track and played a doubled up version of one of the tracks, 'Maxwell's Silver Ham-mer,' " he said.

Delicious

Kenny describes the album as "delicious." "Maxwell's Silver Hammer" is his particular favourite, "It will be-come a standard," he says. "It's a groovy thing that identifies the very first time you play it. It's delightful."

On the other hand, Kenny's verdict on "I Want You (She's So Heavy)" which John sings is "very average." Of Ringo Star's "Octopuese Garden," Kenny says: "I think they've tried to do a 'Yellow Submarine 'here, but it's not half as effective."

Kenny regards George Harrison's "Here Comes The Sun" as "the best thing he's ever done." The track titled "Because" he regards as "pure harmony," and "very beautiful."

Another winner

"You Never Give Me Your Money " is the start of a medley including the tilles "Sun King," "Mean Mr. Mustard," "Poly-thene Pam," "She Came Through The Bathroom Window" and "Golden Shumbers," "Each track lasts from 45 seconds to about a minute," says Keny. "The 'Bathroom Window' and 'Maxwell's Silver Hammer' titles were written about seven or eight months ago by Paul," adds Kenny, " Carry That Weight' is a blues," says Kenny, "and I don't like blues." But his overall verdict on "Abbus Road" is another winner

RETURN OF THE ARCH LOONER

- A PRODIGAL son has returned to the fold and although it was not possible to provide a fatted calf to celebrate, Zoot Money was proferred several cans of the finest ale this week on being reunited with Britain and the MM.
- Once the cheery, rotund leader of the rocking Big Roll Band, was rarely absent from the group circuit or the Raver.

ZOOT: ' out of the Raver, on to the front '

BY CHRIS WELCH

Many consider this hand, with its attendant light show, to be the finest of its kind. Unfortunately the change was too quick for the public to cope. Old Money fans were disappointed. The Underground couldn't accept them. Eventually Dantalian's Charlot collapsed. Zool Joined the Animais and went to America. His old colleagues fanned out around the scene. Colin Allen had a long stint with John Mayall, and Johnny Almond re-cently joined the new Mayali hand, Paul Wil-liams has worked with Alan Price and Jugger-naul. Andy Somers has gone into acting.

moving shoes from his audience seemed to be-long to some distant age. Now Zoot has returned from the States and plans to form a new band which will get back to some of the fun and good music of the old days. He performed a brief tap dance on a copy of the MM when we met for the first time in over a year this week. He looked extremely well --slimmer and with long hair. In conversation he was quieter and more together than in Big Roll days, but with more direction and authority than in his Dantalian's Chariot period. What had Zoot been up 10⁷

Was it worth the trip? Vas it worth the trip? Yeah, because every ex-perience you have goes into the end product. Initially it was good for me to be part of some-thing that was abead of me. I rented a beauti-ful house to stay in and just wrote music and practised. I learnt a few lessons in the States I should have gone there a long time ago." Why did Eric and Zoni

Although it was a good band it became obvious Eric wanted to get more into acting. It was all down to roaring about the desert on motor cycles.

We swallowed the band at Christmas and from then on 1 have been re-cording on my own. 1 finally decided what 1 wanled to de — form my own band at home. Now it's full speed abead. Tim auditioning musicians and rehears-ing. Fd like to find at keyboard player and ar-ranger so that 1 can

And of beer drained and ready for replacement

Choked

I. was a bit choked that my 'transitional' period band never quite made it, because they were good musicians and we really meant what we were doing. But Tm all set for a new career — 1 hope.
I suppose the Big Roll Band was a success be-cause our approach was unconscious. Perhaps I was a bit rash to change it so quickly. There was a time when I planned to enlarge the band and make it into a show on Dantalian's Chariot.
The majority of Big Roll fans came along to set eventually I decided on Dantalian's Chariot.
The majority of Big Roll fans came along to see us and said it was good, but II wasn't what they wanted. No body could pat it down, because. It was a good hand, But I didn't realise that J sold the hand and make performed to be a biggie, grain a solid the band and manunicements and talk mg to the audience.
Yes, it's time for me to be a biggie, grinned Zoot, with a fiash of hin old spirit. 'My aim now is to get out of the From, page.

Music Business Weekly A MESSAGE FROM THE EDITOR

FOR many years, MELODY MAKER entire industry to our readers with has been acknowledged as Britain's most authoritative and expert music paper. Now the same organisation is launching MUSIC BUSINESS WEEK-LY, and we intend to make this new publication, aimed at the entire music industry, equally as accurate and respected.

There has for some time been an urgent need for a professional, wellproduced newspaper reflecting the entire music industry in this country. We intend MBW to be that paper.

It is intended to serve its readers faithfully and in a businesslike manner, yet also retaining the right to fair _ comment on the important issues in the music world.

We intend to be wide ranging and accurate and above all, to bring the developments, views and news of the speed and expertise.

To do this, we need the support of the industry. We need this support in two ways. First we need subscriptions to the paper. This is of paramount importance and a special prepaid coupon for this purpose can be found on the opposite page.

Secondly, we need co-operation. We need people to tell us their stories, to give us their news. We will endeavour to publish as much news as possible on every aspect of the industry.

We look forward to the co-operation of the music industry and to a long and fruitful association.

Help us make MUSIC BUSINESS WEEKLY the sort of paper YOU want.

MADE A VF MAN VERY HAPPY

THERE MUST be easier ways of earning a crust than running a jazz club, but it's been my chosen way of keeping the wolf from the door these past ten years.

The beast may have left a few claw-marks on some of the lower panels, but we've made it. Those straight-jackets that were produced when we dared to back our hunch that there was an audience for the best in jazz in comfortable sur-roundings haven't been used on us yet.

Goofs

We've learned a few pools and had a lot of leasons, made a few pools and had a lot of hughs on the way. I suppose that's the way. I suppose that's the way. I suppose that's the way. I've weight that in either Peter King nor I had been in the Catering Corps. The main lesson we have learned is that if just isn't possible to main-tain a club like ours on a strict jazz policy. It'd be nice if it could be done. But it can't. So we've reached the stage where good singers and good pop groups — yes, sir, there are such things — must have a place in our thinking. But jazz is always predominant.

The two weeks that classi-cal guitarist John Wil-liams played in the Club were a revelation. Benny Green has des-cribed the Club as "a secret society for the propagation of good music." That's a good line. Wish I'd thought of it. But that's how I see the future.

Easier

There's so much good music around now in all fields — yes, sir, even in the world of pop — that we want to be associated with it all, whether it's Sonny Rollins, the Who, John Williams, Blood, Sweat and Tears, Clarke Roland, John Surman, Ravi Shankar, Thad Jones, Mel Lewis, With two rooms, it's been easier to put our money where our mouth is in this respect. The Old Place was such a mar-vellous platform for the younger lads that we felt we had to offer in the Upstairs Room, it's early days yet, but the signs are that Jazz up there — and good, young British jazz at that — will be a permanent fixture every night.

night. Pre always hankered after a good off-Broadway or Beyond The Fringe-type review in the Club, We got pretty close to it with Scaffold, who 1 think are very funny. All right, sir, we all have our problems.

But this is something that's always in our minds and the recent charity night with people like John Neville and Patrick Wymark slumming with your jazzmen was a great success.

success. Before you start mutter-ing things about "sell-ing out" and getting back down to some hard listening to the Big Sunflower LP, 1 can assure you that jazz will always be the backbone of the Club's bookings. Remember sir, 1 work here and sometimes feel 1 live here.

Cast

Budie was cast ten years ago – did you hear the one about the flop show where the cast was died? – and despite rumours, and despite rumours, and despite and hear castellad owing to technical difficulties.
We'll still be here. We've foved having you all in the Club over the past even if you did whistle along with Coleman Howkins – and we look forward to having you again as the bishop said to the actress.
You've all mude an old man very happy.

So you want to run a iazz club?

Success

Ours?

FOR a vital, impatient hustling art form like jazz, ten years can be a lifetime. Ten years, for example, separate Coleman Hawkins' "Body And Soul " from Miles Davis' " Birth Of The Cool." Ten years further on in 1959, Ornette Coleman comes out of the West carrying his plastic alto to stun critics and musicians alike with his New York debut. Now, in 1969, Ornette Coleman, to all except the most prejudiced ears, is as much. part of the heritage of jazz as Miles and Hawkins. The arguments have subsided. Schönberg should have had it so easy.

But, as Pete readily ad-mits, the move was not en-tirely altrustic. FOCUS ON FOLK

CLANCY fans may be in for surprise when they hear the next offerings on record from the group.

With the addition of brother Bobby and the Furey Brothers, Finbar and Eddie, the sound has become, according to Tom Clancy, "fat, more Clancy, "fat, m of a pop sound."

The biays, plus the Fureys, were in London recently for a few days recording, under the supervision of Teo Macerc, their Ameri-can producer. They cot two albums, one for Christmas and one of

THE ISLE of Wight Musical Festival fizzled Musical restival nzzled out like the proverbial damp squib. Why? Be-cause of the short-sightedness of the or-ganisers who chose to plan the Festival to suit plan the Festival to suit Bob Dylan. Dylan wrote half a dozen good songs, many years ago, sang them in a con-temptuous manner, and be-came a cuit. His one re-maining quality is his con-tempt. He reminded us of that last. Sunday — ROBERT SCHOFILED, Ashton-under-Lyme, Lanes.

Sad

Arrived for arthbuling on tables Apart from myself I'm sure the local residents did not take kindly to this being apired into their homes and also there were many young children present. I hardly think this is the correct way to introduce them to freedom — IENNIFER LOCH, Maiden-head, Berks.

Sour

DYLAN'S performance at the laie of Wight was reasonable but what left a sour tasts in my mouth was the way his performance was ended. Was he booked to play one other hours? If lake anome other hours? If lake anome upper by the crewd why wasn't this announced — T. KELLEHER, Hayes, Middle-ter.
