Introducing Enviroware Products for Your Food Service Needs

Enviroware is made from either polypropylene or polystyrene and a compound called AOC (Active Organic Catalyst). Traditional plastic does not biodegrade because the molecular structures are too complex for micro-organisms to break it down and metabolize it. AOC stimulates these micro-organisms to secrete an enzyme that converts the plastic into organic matter. Enviroware will biodegrade in traditional landfills and will take anywhere from nine months to five years to biodegrade.

What's more, Enviroware will also hold up to heat. Many "green products" have temperature restrictions that limit what you can put in them. Enviroware can withstand temperatures in excess of 250 degrees and it is microwave safe.
