

Apple Distinguished Schools: Centers of Leadership and Educational Excellence

2021–2024 Overview

Designing the Future Together

We believe Apple Distinguished Schools are some of the most innovative schools in the world. They demonstrate Apple’s vision for learning with technology—using Apple products to connect students to the world, fuel creativity, deepen collaboration, and make learning personal.

The Apple Distinguished School program supports forward-thinking education leaders and their communities who are using Apple technology to make positive change in their schools. They take an innovative approach toward learning and teaching. They are highly motivated thought leaders who see what’s possible for the future of education and are invested in achieving the vision.

What makes your school eligible

Established one-to-one program

A one-to-one iPad or Mac schoolwide program for students and educators has been in place for more than two academic years at the school. All students and educators use Apple devices as their primary learning or teaching device.

Innovative use of the Apple platform

Students and educators deeply integrate Apple apps, educational apps from the App Store, books from Apple Books, and other digital resources into the curriculum to create new opportunities for learning.

Faculty proficiency with iPad or Mac

Leadership and educators are highly proficient in the use of Apple products. For K–12 schools, 75 percent of leadership and educators in the school must be recognized as an Apple Teacher. For higher education faculty, Apple Teacher recognition is recommended. To learn more about becoming an Apple Teacher, visit apple.com/education/apple-teacher.

Documented success

Established, ongoing investigative practices use a variety of data, including existing measures or site-based studies, to measure the progress, success, and next steps of the school's technology program. Multiple measures of success are used to inform instruction and professional learning.

What makes your school stand out

Vision

As a leader, you set the vision that captures your school's aspirations for learning with technology and use it to guide your school.

Learning

Students and educators in your school use Apple technology to design and engage in innovative learning that's connected, collaborative, creative, and personal.

Success

A practice of data-informed reflection informs learning and teaching and progress toward your school's vision.

“Being a member of the Apple Distinguished School community has been transformational for us. The opportunities for our faculty and students to collaborate and share inspires and challenges us. Each day we are more empowered to tell our story to the world.”

Joe Rodia, Head of School, Chesterbrook Academy Preschool and Elementary, Pennsylvania

"The process provided our school with an opportunity to reflect on our renaissance mindset. It helped craft opportunities to connect, reflect, and celebrate both student and teacher success."

Damien Moses, Principal, Edward W. Bok Academy,
Lake Wales, Florida

More about becoming an Apple Distinguished School

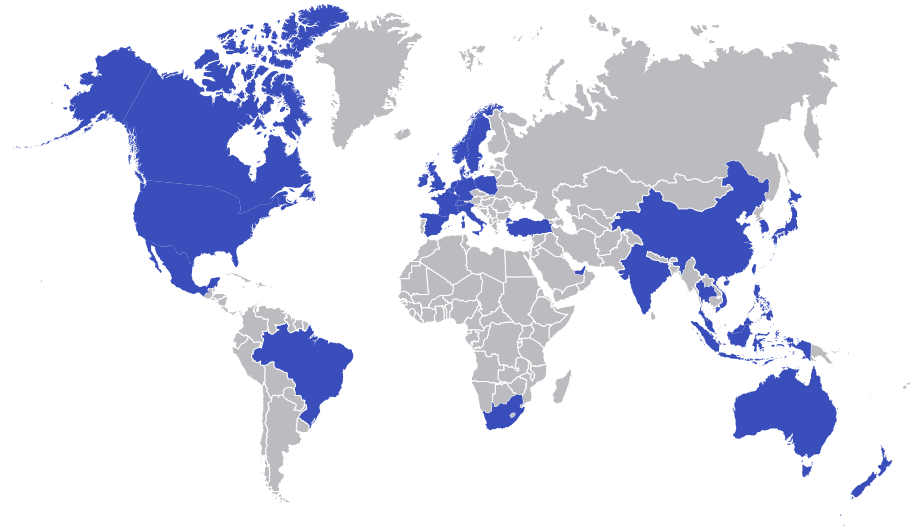

The Apple Distinguished Schools program is by invitation only for accredited public and private schools that meet the program qualification and eligibility requirements. Recognition is for three years, with an opportunity to be invited to continue in the program.

Contact your local Apple education representative at 1-800-800-2775 for program details, requirements, eligible countries, and deadlines. Apple reviews all requests to ensure that schools meet the current program qualifications.

“Leadership teams should highlight what makes their school unique. Focus on what you are doing well, and how that has improved teaching and learning in your school. Include a number of people in the brainstorming process to share their experiences.”

Dr. Jeana Lietz, Principal, Oak Lawn Community High School, Illinois
