His journey in chiropractic began as an adult patient struggling with chronic Lyme, gut inflammation, brain fog, and fatigue. It wasn't until he entered under NetworkSpinal Care that he finally found the resource within himself to heal his health concerns. This achievement was one for which he had almost given up hope!

Today, Dr. Matt has created a whole new energy-rich baseline of health within both his body and his life, fueling his passion to pass this incredible healing wisdom forward to as many people as possible.

Cheshire Wellness offers Network Spinal Care, Classes, Somato Respiratory Integration (SRI), and Stress Relief services.

The Center is dedicated to helping you achieve optimal health through transformational, evidence-based NetworkSpinal chiropractic care; a low force, non-invasive touch that allows your nervous system, your spine and your entire body to function better, heal and stay healthy.

Dr. Tecia and Dr. Matt are dedicated to helping their patients achieve optimal health. When you are hurting, it means you are in a cycle beyond that which you are ready to move, but don't worry-- there is hope. Change is inevitable. What will it take for you to change for the better? Hamblet Electric has been proudly serving the Monadnock region and beyond since 1945.

In 1945, equipped with a genius for mechanics and a minimum of equipment, Fred H. Hamblet began serving the electrical needs of Keene, NH, from his garage. Hamblet brought a heritage of New England ingenuity, a strong work ethic and common sense to his business and the fledgling enterprise became a reliable and respected electrical service business.

Soon, the next generation brought fresh ideas and enthusiasm to the company. Philip “Flip” M. Hamblet, in charge since 1978, learned his business skills from his father and his electrical skills from apprenticeship school and years of field experience. Armed with the same work ethic as his father and a strong desire to take the company to the next level, he worked tirelessly to grow the business from its humble beginnings to a recognized leader for the electrical services in Cheshire County and beyond. On July 1, 1986 Philip became owner and President of the company.

With Christopher “Topher” C. Hamblet now at the helm, Hamblet Electric is under the leadership of its third generation. A graduate of St. Lawrence University, Christopher gained knowledge of the electrical field by working summers throughout his high school and college years. Returning to Keene to work full time for Hamblet Electric in 2004, he successfully completed his apprenticeship program, then earned his Journeyman and Master electrical licenses. He was appointed Executive Vice President of F.H. Hamblet, LLC in 2011, and in 2013, was appointed President of the company. Like his father before him, Christopher brings his work ethic, fresh ideas and the desire to see the Company continue to be a leader in the industry.

Over the past 70 years, Hamblet Electric has expanded on Fred Hamblet’s talents and upgraded their office and warehouse facilities three times. Their present location on Victoria Street, built in 1976, encompasses more than 7,500 square feet. The electricians in their fleet of highly recognizable “Hamblet yellow” vehicles, can be seen serving customers throughout the greater Monadnock region, Vermont and Massachusetts.

Even though Hamblet Electric has grown by leaps and bounds since its inception, solid reasoning and sound principles still form the cornerstones of the business. In addition to these philosophies, one thing remains central to the company’s success: its people. Comprised of a field and office staff with an average of more than 15 years of service, the seasoned team at Hamblet Electric brings experience, a solid work ethic, and a desire to separate itself from the competition to each project they work on. “My staff is the backbone of this company”, states Christopher. “They are, without a doubt, the reason the Company continues to be successful and has been able to weather turbulent economic times and vast changes in upper management. They are what make Hamblet Electric such a solid company”.

Christopher knows the odds aren’t in his favor, saying, “The vast majority of family businesses never make it to the third generation. Being a part of a third-generation business is extremely unique. I couldn’t be prouder of my team and the fact that this company continues to be a leader in the electrical services market and a place where people can work their whole career. I am very much looking forward to what the future brings. We’ll be here for a very long time.”

Residential, Commercial, Industrial and Institutional projects of all sizes encompass their area of expertise. Their mission is to provide the highest quality electrical installations for your project, large or small. Hamblet Electric is eager to meet your electrical needs now and in the future.

Video for Your Website and the World

Since 1983, William Landon Farrell has been producing commercial videos for businesses, organizations and institutions. He specializes in visual content for websites and social media by using professionally narrated video and photography. His four-season aerial images and videos are used by several Realtors®, LEED certified builders, ski areas, resorts and municipalities. As a lifelong outdoorsman, Farrell thoroughly enjoys producing videos and capturing images that require arduous hiking, skiing, snowshoeing and carrying his equipment into mountainous terrain. Additionally, Farrell works as a contract videographer and an FAA licensed drone operator for nationally known companies such as CGI Communications and Drone Base.

Farrell believes that every business and organization should share their story with future and existing customers. With the advent of the internet and mobile devices, professional level video content has evolved as an effective way to communicate, educate and inspire. By projecting tone and body language, video content is often more compelling than still images and/or text on websites and social media platforms. A well-scripted video with good audio usually results in more engagements when viewed on mobile devices.

Farrell blends his skills as an FAA licensed drone operator, videographer, photographer, scriptwriter and film editor by crafting compelling stories. He collaborates carefully with each client by listening, taking notes, building storyboards and producing the videos that help with their media marketing campaign. Whenever required, these same videos can be modified or upgraded while retaining the same URL addresses.

Farrell Video Productions provides complete script writing, storyboard, filming, post production and beyond.
